

Cordon Sees No Recession In Business

PORTLAND (AP) — Sen. Guy Cordon had some optimistic words Thursday for the Oregon and Washington Land Title Associations holding a joint meeting here.

Cordon said he sees no business recession ahead. He predicted that employment will continue high because of consumer demand from an increasing population.

Government spending also will continue to have its effect and, although taxes are high, this money goes back into the economy, the senator said. He pointed out that even foreign aid money brings the benefits of foreign purchases in this country.

Cordon predicted that Congress will provide the money needed to install generators at McNary Dam. He said that is the sort of project where "Uncle gets a run for his money, because the money is paid back."

Library Start Aim of Project

A project aimed at creating committees throughout the state to form small local libraries was adopted by the board of directors of the Oregon Library Association at the first meeting of their fiscal year this week.

Board members expressed hope that this action would eventually lead to strong centralized libraries throughout Oregon.

McNary Pool Rise Forces Road Closure

The new highway between Umatilla, Ore., and Wallula, Wash., will be closed Saturday for at least a month because of the danger the road is being undermined, the Oregon Highway Department said Wednesday.

W. C. Williams, assistant state highway engineer, said there was danger the pool of water rising behind McNary Dam was washing away some fills in the road, which was relocated recently because of the dam.

He said the pool was being raised to 340 feet above sea level, and it would take another month to reach that point. After that level is reached, any needed repairs will be made and the road reopened, he said.

Alternate routes are available for travel in that section of Eastern Oregon and Washington, Williams said.

2 Teenagers Admit Theft Of Salem Car

A car stolen from Stanley E. Parton, 1150 Spruce St., sometime early Thursday morning was recovered later in the morning in Yoncalla, Douglas County, and a pair of Seattle juveniles—a boy, 16, and a girl, 15—admitted taking it.

The pair told police they stole Parton's car after abandoning another car they had stolen in Portland in the 600 block of Spruce Street. It had run out of gas. When the juveniles were apprehended by police they were driving a Cadillac taken from Yoncalla where they had left the Parton car.
