Oriental's Choice Toothsome Spareribs Go Well With Of Duo Told Subtle Spices of Oriental Lands At Sorority

By MAXINE BUREN

Statesman Woman's Editor The orientals make a lot of pork-often spareribs. The richness of the pork blends well with the pungent seasonings of the Chinese and Japanese. If you are buying spareribs, check on the amount of meat on the bones. Sometimes they are a bit too spare to be a bargain but by careful selection, you can get ribs with a reasonable amount of meat.

The classic of all sparerib recipe is this Chinese affair, just as popular in American kitchens as in oriental, but with a few

CHINESE SWEET AND SOUR RIBS

4 to 5 pounds meaty ribs 2 tablespoons soy sauce 1 cup sugar

1 cup vinegar

1 green pepper 1 tablespoon preserved ginger 1/2 cup pineapple chunks 14 cup slices sweet pickles

1/2 cup water or pineapple 1 tablespoon cornstarch Brush ribs lightly with soy sauce and roast in a moderate oven for 11/4 to 11/2 hours or until well browned and crisp. Turn once in cooking. Cut ribs apart, serve on platter with sauce. In a saucepan, heat sugar, vinegar, liquid, soy sauce, green pepper, cut in strips. Bring to a boil, add cornstarch mixed with a little water. Cook while stirring, until thick and transparent. Two minutes before serving, add ginger, pineapple and pickles and spoon over ribs. Serve with separate dishes of soy sauce and hot mustard.

The Javanese have their recipe too:

JAVANESE SKEWERED PORK 11/2 to 2 pounds lean pork 6 chopped Brazil nuts 2 tablespoons coriander seeds 8 onions, grated

2 tablespoons brown sugar

2 cloves garlic 1 tablespoon salt 1 hot red pepper 3 tablespoons lemon juice 4 tablespoons soy sauce

Black pepper Cut pork into 114 inch cubes. Mix seasonings in a bowl. pounding to a smooth paste. Blend with other ingredients and rub mixture over meat cubes, allowing to become well saturated. Thread meat on six skewers, broil under a flame, turning to brown all sides and basting with olive oil or butter. The spareribs are a favored meat in these United States, too, and take kindly to a spicy barbecue sauce something like

> BARBECUED SPARERIBS 2 tablespoons Worcestershire

4 pounds spareribs 1 cup sliced onion 1 cup catsup or chill sauce

I cup water

2 teaspoon salt

12 cup vinegar 14 cup brown sugar 2 teaspoons dry mustard

Cut spareribs in serving-sized pieces, cutting off surplus fat. Brown in heavy skillet, draining off fat. Combine other ingredients and pour over the ribs. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 134 hours. Baste sauce over ribs two
