Mothers to March On Thursday Night In Polio Campaign

The March of Dimes, working toward Marion County's share of the nationwide $75 million goal, will feature a Mother's March Thursday night in the Salem area.

Last year the mothers raised $7,005 toward fighting polio, but the county's share is greatly increased this year and chairmen hope to exceed this figure.

Snyder said that since the newspaper accounts explaining a deficiency in enrollment in the adult education class of Basic Reading and Writing, the class has been the subject of many calls by interested applicants.

The board has been invited to cause they would be "persecuted," the Richmond School Parent-Teacher Association meeting next Monday evening. They were also invited to attend the Pope Pius Has Feb. 11 meeting of the high school P-TA by Prof. Cecil Monk, president of that association. Monk visited the Tuesday meeting on behalf of the high school P-TA group and members interested in the driver education program. The board approved an $888 installation cost of two soft ice cream and two milk shake dispensers for the South Salem High School. They had pre-viously considered installation of three each of these machines, but the estimated cost of $1,014 brought about the decision that four would be sufficient. These machines are financed by sales.
