YWCA Preview

By MRS. CARLETON GREIDER

Our long-awaited dream of a new YWCA building is on the brink of being a reality. Only a few days from now we will bid farewell to the crews who are tiling, plumbing and wiring and take over the premises ourselves.

Since the building belongs to the good hearted people of Salem, being built by their generous donations of time and money, and since it is to be dedicated to the Christian purposes of the whole community, we felt you might like a glimpse behind the scenes.

There are exciting plans under way in every YW group. Some of these are planning greatly expanded programs, some are tackling work projects, and others are raising money for interior finishing.

Week by week, this column will report on our activities and their relation to the past and future as we move forward toward our formal dedication date, April 25.

In opening this weekly column I would like to bid the whole town and valley to lift its eyes up State Street and behold what we have built together, by our faith.

Church Rites Unite Couple Saturday

MT. ANGEL—Like a forerunner of spring was the gay daffodil setting for the wedding Saturday morning, January 30 of Miss Marcine Buchholz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Buchholz and Lawrence Bochsler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bochsler.

The Rev. Clement Frank officiated at the 10 o'clock nuptial high mass and read the double ring ceremony. Altar boys were Tommy and Jerry Bochsler, cousin and nephew of the groom. Miss Helen Keber played the organ and St. Mary's choir sang the mass and Eugene Ray of Portland was soloist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of ivory satin, the Chantilly lace panels in the skirt extending into the full court train. The long-sleeved satin bodice was fashioned with Victorian collar and lace yoke outlined with a double row of seed pearls. A three-quarter length veil of illusion fell from a crown of pleated net and seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid with yellow throat.

Miss Pauline Buchholz was her sister's maid of honor and another sister, Miss Grace Buchholz, and Miss Mary Anne Beyer were bridesmaids. They wore pink waltz length dresses of taffeta with bouffant overskirts of pleated nylon net and boleros of lace and net. They wore half hats and carried cascade bouquets of pink and white carnations centered with pink camellias.

The mother of the bride wore a navy dressmaker suit, white hat and black accessories, while the groom's mother was attired in a suit of silver faille with black velvet trim, white hat and matching accessories. They both wore garlands of orchids.

Attend the Groom
Norbert Bochsler was best man for his brother and groomsmen were Kenneth and Carl Buchholz, brothers of the bride. Ushers were Alfred and Raymond Bochsler, brothers of the groom.
