NOTICE

Office Space Wanted

The State of Oregon, acting by and through the Department of Finance and Administration, hereby solicits sealed proposals for the leasing of approximately 15,000 square feet of office space in the City of Salem to be occupied by the State Department of Veterans' Affairs.

Parties interested in submitting a proposal may secure a statement of specifications and a suggested floor layout from the Director of the Department of Veterans' Affairs, 303 State Library Building, Salem, Oregon.

The State of Oregon reserves the right to reject any or all proposals.

Sealed proposals must be received by the Department of Finance and Administration, 313 Capitol Building, Salem, Oregon, not later than 3:00 p.m., March 3, 1954.

Segrist Held For Trial For Vagrancy

Police continued their investigation Friday into the case of Walter Bernie Segrist, in whose possession, police said, was found nearly $1,000 worth of merchandise following his arrest Thursday.

The only charges filed against Segrist are failure to appear for sentencing, vagrancy and carrying a concealed weapon. He pleaded guilty Friday in municipal court to the charge of failure to appear for sentencing and was fined $15.

He pleaded innocent to the vagrancy charge, trial was set for March 12 and bail set at $250. He is to appear on the concealed weapon charge later in Marion County District Court. Police said they found a large knife and a pellet gun in Segrist's car.

Police said a variety of merchandise, including women's hosiery, dolls, wrist watches, two auto tires and other articles were found in Segrist's auto and apartment. Segrist is unemployed and lived alone at 680 N. Liberty St.

A hold order was placed against Segrist by Portland police. He has been out on bail awaiting action on a shoplifting charge in that city. Portland authorities said. Representatives from several large Portland stores came to Salem Friday in an attempt to identify some of the large stock of merchandise, which Segrist has told officers he bought.

Space Sought For Veterans' Affairs Office

The Department of Veterans' Affairs, presently operating from three different buildings in Salem, is seeking bids to provide space to house the agency in one building, Director H. C. Saalfeld said Friday.

Saalfeld said bidders are being asked to submit proposals for 15,000 square feet of office space for lease within the city of Salem.

The department's headquarters are in the State Library building, its home and farm loan operations and educational aid division are on the fourth floor of the state capitol, and the bonus division is down town in space above Bishop's Men's store.

Bidders have until March 3 to submit their proposals to the Department of Finance and Administration, which handles such bids. Plans and specifications and a suggested floor layout are available from the veterans' department headquarters in the State Library building.

Scout Troop To Mark Boy Scout Week

Boy Scout Troop and Explorer Post 13 of the First Methodist Church will celebrate Boy Scout week with a court of honor and public program Monday evening.

The occasion will follow a fund raising dinner at 6:30 at the church. Speaker for the meeting is James R. Kern, local Scout executive. A movie, "Scouting at Philmont" will be the chief entertainment along with a tumbling act by the boys from Leslie Junior High School.

Dog Owners Get Warning Of Deadline

Ervin Ward, county dog control officer, Friday again urged dog owners to buy licenses now to avoid the last minute rush when the new licenses are required at the end of February.

Ward pointed out that a license is often the only way the owner of a lost dog can be traced and for that reason should be considered a necessity by dog owners. A dog without a license running loose is considered a stray animal and can be destroyed, or, if its owner can be located, the owner is subject to court action.

License fees in Marion County are $1 for males and spayed females and $2 for females. A penalty is added after the March 1 deadline. All dogs must have licenses as soon as they become six months of age.

Elderly Man Found Dead

Bert Dixon, 79, who lived alone in his court apartment at 1311 Edgewater St., was found dead Thursday morning. Death is thought to have occurred sometime the night before.

Born in Phillips County, Kan., Nov. 13, 1874, he had lived in the Salem area for about 17 years. He was a member of the Christian Church.

Dixon is survived by five sons, Calvin and David Dixon, both of Drain, Ore., F. H. Dixon, Los Angeles, Calif., A. H. Dixon, Seattle, and Deyo Dixon, Burlington, Kan. Funeral services will be announced later by the Howell-Edwards Co.

Coupon Strip Practice Hit On Sanitation

The practice of "coupon stripping," which has been reported to the state agriculture department from various areas, is not in keeping with the sanitation provisions of the Oregon or federal food laws, department officials said Friday.

The department is urging that stores which are engaging in this practice restrict it to articles outside of the food field.

Coupon stripping, protested by the agriculture department, consists of opening cans or packages of food—shortening or breakfast food for example—and removing coupons which entitle the holder to what amounts to a discount.

Officials said they have received reports that some packages of food were opened and the coupons removed before the items were placed on sale.

This action, department officials said, is not in line with good sanitary practices and exposes such products to contamination.

Officials said they have no quarrel with stores which permit the purchaser to remove the coupon before leaving the store. Stores which post signs that purchasers must remove the coupons on the spot to take advantage of the cash discount are not infringing upon the food sanitation law, officials said.

2 More Suits Entered for Bridge Issue

Two more complaints were filed Friday with the Marion County clerk's office by persons owning property in the vicinity of Front and Marion Streets and seeking judgments against the State Highway Commission for alleged damage by the Marion Street bridge approach.

The two complaints seek total damages of $43,000. Plaintiffs in the suits filed Friday are Dorothy and Averill Reaney seeking $25,000 and Claire Edward Weaver seeking $18,000. The grade approach to the bridge has already resulted in six complaints filed against the highway commission. A six month statute of limitation for filing against the state in this matter concludes today.

Farm Union Health Group Session Set

A no-host luncheon and election of officers will feature the annual meeting of the Farmers Union Health Association to be held Monday, Feb. 8, at the Salem Women's Clubhouse.

The meeting will start at 10 a. m. in charge.

The health association operates a prepaid medical plan in the Salem area.

Lamar Tooze To Address City Chamber

A pre-Lincoln Day program for Salem Chamber of Commerce Monday will feature a talk on Abraham Lincoln by Lamar Tooze, Portland attorney.

He will appear before the chamber at a Marion Hotel luncheon. Tooze, a brigadier general in the Army Reserve, commands the 104th Infantry. An active Republican, he was elected a delegate to the last two national conventions.

The speaker will be introduced by Seward P. Reese, dean of law at Willamette University. Tooze will be accompanied by his wife and daughter at the local luncheon. The chamber audience also will hear a brief talk on the American Heart Association fund raising program, to be given by T. Eugene Kokko of the Toastmasters.

Kenneth C. Potts, vice president, will preside at the luncheon in the absence of President William H. Hammond who will be attending a chamber executives' regional meeting in Portland Monday.

Adult Classes Enrolled 569

Creation and repairs of clothes and furniture appears to be a prime interest of students in the adult education classes with 30 each in classes of instruction for upholstery and tailoring and 17 in dressmaking.

George D. Porter, director of the program, explained that the current winter term, which began Jan. 4, has an enrollment of 569.

Other current favorites within the program are drawing and sketching, with 19 pupils; jewelry making, 18, and IBM control panel wiring, 18.

Within the Trades and Industry classes interests are noted in study of inside wiring with 19 enrolled; carpenters, 17; estimating, 15; plumbers, 11; high school lunch food preparation class, 40, and two classes in practical nursing totalling 37.

A varied assortment of instruction exists in the adult program and additional information may be gotten by calling the office at 3-4171.
