Long Stay in Hospital for Hunt Victim

Statesman News Service
MONMOUTH—Chuck Hamar, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hamar of The Dalles, will remain in Salem Memorial Hospital another month, with his left leg in traction, according to a report by his aunt, Mrs. Mervin Sauer of Monmouth. Chuck has been hospitalized there since October following an accidental shooting. With two other boys, Edgar Hadley and Charles Snider, both of Independence, he went out to shoot pheasants, stopping about five miles south of Monmouth. The boys were all removing their guns from the car when one shot-gun discharged, shooting Chuck in the left leg. A segment of the big bone in his upper left leg was completely shot away. All three boys were students at Central High School. Chuck was making his home with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hamar at Monmouth. Mrs. Sauer says that the leg bone is rebuilding itself, and while not yet strong enough to support his weight, it is believed that he will in time recover entirely.

Mountain Roads Get New Signs

Statesman News Service
MEHAMA—New road signs are being erected on all mountain roads in this area by the fire warden. The sign naming and numbering each road are put up to facilitate fire fighting crews. Most mountains and ridges in this region are interlaced with logging roads, so the signs will be welcomed by individuals as well as forestry personnel. Most of these signs are placed on private roads but give directions to well known landmarks such as House Mountain. Roads branching from the main road are numbered and named such as 1 west and 2 west.

Woodburn Garden Enthusiasts Hear Mrs. George Timm

Statesman News Service
WOODBURN—A talk on "The Care of Cut Flowers," by Mrs. George Timm and a film on Hawaii shown by George Timm, comprised the program of the Woodburn Garden Club meeting held at Woodburn library club rooms Tuesday evening. Mrs. Ray Glatt was program planner. Members brought arrangements of greenery for display and Frank Covey auctioneered plants contributed by those attending. "Spring Chores in the Garden" was the roll call response. Mrs. Howard Leighty, Mrs. J. C. Kelly and Mrs. Harold Ingram served on the refreshment committee.

Assembly of God Parsonage Started

Statesman News Service
STAYTON—First spadeful of dirt was turned by A. S. Watters, a charter member of the Assembly of God Church for the beginning of a new parsonage on property recently purchased on West Locust Street. Watters donated the ground on which the present church stands and assisted to build the church on Sixth street, as well as having been secretary of the church for several years.

Prince Likes Fire Engines

SANDRINGHAM, England (INS)—Prince Charles, sturdy young heir to the British throne, is just like any other kid—he's crazy about fire engines. Almost daily the 5-year-old Charles takes his young sister Princess Anne to the fire station on the Royal estate to play make-believe dashes to four-alarm outbreaks. Wearing one of the firemen's helmets he handles the driving wheel energetically, clanging the bell with the enthusiasm of a regular "smoke-eater."

SNAIL FIND

STANTON, Mo. (INS)—A new species of blind cave snails—estimated to be some 40 million years old—have been found in an underground stream at the historic Meramec Caverns here. The discovery by Dr. J. P. E. Morrison, associate curator of mollusks, United States National Museum, Washington, D. C., provides additional proof that the Appalachian and Ozark region have had the same geological history in general, as far back as the development of the limestone cave systems.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sign in a used car dealer's place on Van Ness Ave.: "Come on in, browse around. Kick the tires."

LOST COLONY

MANTED, N. C. (INS)—The "symphonic drama" of the Lost Colony will be given at the Waterside Theatre on Roanoke Island from June 26 through Sept.

5. The drama tells in free verse, music, and dance the story of Sir Walter Raleigh's attempts to plant an English colony in the wilderness.

WRIGHT LICENSE

SANTA ANA, Calif. (INS)—An international flying license signed in 1924 by Orville Wright, inventor of the airplane, is the prized possession of John Martin of Santa Ana, Martin, who started a flying field in Santa Ana in 1920, said that he obtained the license at a time when Wright was chairman of the National Aeronautics Association of USA, Inc.

The Look of Tomorrow is in every '54 Buick Today. With completely new "you-over" styling—inspired by the dramatic design of the dramatic sweep-back windshield.

Take it Easy
you don't have to prove a thing!

Let's be sensible about this subject of horsepower.

An all-American tackle doesn't go around tackling people in everyday life.

A world-record sprinter doesn't have to demonstrate his prowess on city sidewalks.

The better you are, the less you have to prove it.

And that's how it is with a Buick Century.

Of course it's a spectacular performer—a car with instantly responsive action.

It has to be, for this one combines a high-compression 200-horsepower V8 engine with a nimble weight of only 3866 pounds as it comes off the assembly line.

That's a power-to-weight ratio that chalks up a new record—a ratio that no other Buick has ever reached before.

It can spin your wheels on a dry pavement if you give it the gun, but why waste rubber?

If some show-off wants to get the jump on you at a traffic light, why not let him have fun? He isn't kidding anyone but himself, when the name on your car is CENTURY.

The real pride of owning such a car is simply this: You know so well what it can do that you never have to prove it.

That lets you enjoy the tireless ease of its gait in ordinary driving, when only a fraction of its eager power is working. It gives you a quick reserve for breasting a hill—and the happy knowledge that there's still more to come in a sudden emergency.

Sure, this is more power than most people really have to have. But you can hardly call it extravagant, when you are buying more horsepower per dollar in a CENTURY than you get in any other car in America.
