

Turner, Jones Scrap Tonight

Gil After Revenge For Previous Loss

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Gil Turner, who insists he only has eyes for Kid Gavilan, fights Bobby Jones here Wednesday night for the right to meet Joey Giardello.

If that sounds as clear as the mud in your eye, that's the way it's meant to sound. This nationally televised return match between Turner and Jones of Oakland, Calif., has more ramifications than football's "sucker shift."

Let's start this story of intrigue at the beginning. You see, last March 24, Jones, a 3-1 underdog, won a split decision over Turner. Almost everyone at ringside agreed Jones won on one judge, apparently watching through one eye, called it a draw.

Promoter Herman Taylor said the crowd—there were about 1,200 customers—clamored for a return bout. So, after much dickering over money and weights, the promoter obliged. An unestimated throng, plus the CBS TV audience can sit in on the encore starting at 7 p.m. (PST) Wednesday night.

Turner's manager George Katz, insists his boy has completed the cycle of welterweight to middleweight and back to welterweight. Katz is angling, so he says, for a Turner-Carmine Basilio fight, the winner to meet Gavilan for the 147-pound crown. Meanwhile, he keeps Turner at 151 pounds or more and campaigns against middleweights.

Giardello Next—Maybe
Should the 23-year-old Turner reverse the last Jones verdict, promoter Taylor says he'll face Giardello in an outdoor park show this summer. Giardello is listed as the next challenger for Carl (Bobo) Olson's 160-pound title and holds one decision over Turner. Katz says nothing about Giardello's name is mentioned. After all, Turner's a welterweight, remember.

The 29-year-old Jones, father of four, seems to have the most at stake in this scheduled 10-round battle. Another win over Turner is supposed to earn him the Giardello shot. If he's licked, the Jones boy will drift back into the obscurity he emerged from with his triumph here a month ago. If Jones can fight anything like he did in his last meeting with Philadelphia Gil, he should repeat.

They'll Do It Every Time

Viking Teams Notch Wins

Hauk Tossers Belt Lebanon

LEBANON (Special)—The highflying Salem High Vikings crashed to their fifth straight victory of the campaign Tuesday afternoon as they smothered the error-plagued Lebanon Warriors 18-4 in district action. It was the No. 3 district win for Coach Harold Hauk's Vikings.

Salem belted out 11 hits in the abbreviated six-inning mix to the five given Lebanon by pitchers Jack Loy and Gary Smith—and the winners were helped by 11 enemy miscues. The Viks got off to a fast start with four runs in the first inning and put the clinches on with a seven-run blast in the fourth that saw six hits paraded over the premises and ten men going to bat. Two more Salem tallies came in the fifth and five more in the sixth and last frame.

Big blows in the big fourth were doubles by Don Pigsley and Jack Loy. The four Lebanon runs were yielded by Loy in his five innings of work and Smith then came in for the sixth and fanned the side. Loy picked up two doubles and a single and knocked in three runs and Tom Pickens belted in four with a double and single. Fred Bolton and Twink Pederson were other Salem hitting leaders.

Salem plays host to Mt. Angel Wednesday, 3:45, at Water Park.

Action at Las Vegas Thursday . . . Snead Biggest Threat In Tourney of Champs

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Sam Snead arrived on the scene of the $35,000 tournament of champions early Tuesday, took a long nap and then headed for the Desert Inn Country Club for a practice round of golf.

The West Virginia star for the second straight year is favored to win the $10,000 top money for the 72-hole event which starts Thursday, but the picture is very different this time.

Sam is fresh from a notable victory, registered in a playoff for the epic Masters with the redoubtable Ben Hogan. And even more to the point, Samuel Jackson Snead is not suffering from the miseries of an aching hand.

"Feel pretty good," said Snead to host professional Howard Capps, who dreamed up this tournament as an event restricted to winners of a major open tournament during the previous 12 months.

Included from the 1953 field is Al Besselink, the longshot winner of the tournament and regarded as just as much an outsider this year. Besselink's winning score was 280.

Rated close to Snead is Lloyd Mangrum, who finished in a tie for third. Mangrum toured the 7,102-yard desert course in 67 Monday. Snead arrived on the scene of the $35,000 tournament of champions early Tuesday, took a long nap and then headed for the Desert Inn Country Club for a practice round of golf.

Academy Nips Central Nine

CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL (Special)—A costly error in the final inning Tuesday gave Salem Academy a 4-3 Capitol League baseball win over the Central Panthers and ruined a three-hit hurling job by Jerry Noble.

The clincher came when Virgil Fadenrecht walked in the sixth, stole second, and crossed the plate on the error on the enemy third baseman.

Ken Schreder went the route for the Academy nine, giving six hits. Sal Academy 101 011—4 3 2 Central 201 000—3 6 2 Schreder and Krater; Noble and Schlag.

Jefferson Blanks St. Paul Ballers
JEFFERSON (Special)—The Jefferson Lions belted over 10 runs in the first two innings Tuesday and went on to a 15-0 verdict over the St. Paul Buckaroos in Marion County B League baseball action.

George Garlatt and Bill Cotman held the Buckaroos to only two hits in the five-inning game. Mickey McGuire socked a two-run triple for the winners in the first frame and Harlan Neal hit another three-bagger good for one tally in a big eight-run second inning.

The win was the second straight for Jeff in the circuit. St. Paul 000 00 0 2 5 Jefferson 283 2x 15 10 1 Bustamante, G. Smith (3) and S. Smith; Marlatt, Cotman (5) and McGuire. The Baltimore Orioles have working agreements with 11 minor league baseball clubs.

Record Falls In Track Win

Ray Taylor established a new all-time Salem High mark in the discus Tuesday at Olinger Field as Coach Vern Gilmore's Vikings routed the McMinnville Grizzlies 111 to 11 in a dual affair. Taylor hurled the platter 146' 1/2", to surpass by a big margin the previous Salem mark of 138' made by Ray Loter back in 1942.

Taylor also won the shotput and javelin events as the Vikings took 13 firsts out of 14 and made a clean sweep in six departments.

Mike Chase captured both the hurdle events for the Viks and shared top honors in the high jump with teammate Don Zeh. The lone McMinnville first was picked up by Duane Shaw in the mile as he beat out Salem's Jon Castle.

Other Salem firsts: Jim Anderson in the 100; Walt Craycroft in the 440; Del Funk, 220; Jim Knapp, 880; Gordy Domagolla, broad jump; Craig Gately and Ed Keech tie in pole vault; Salem relay team of Jim Anderson, Neal Scheidel, Del Funk and Terry Salisbury.

The Salem JV squad won almost as convincingly with a 101% to 20% triumph over the Grizzly seconds.

The Vikings' next action is against Eugene here Friday.
