

E. D. Anderson Moderator for Friday Meeting

Moderator of the symposium, "Putting the Keys on the Ring," which will be held during PTA General Session VI Friday afternoon is E. Dean Anderson of Portland.

Anderson attended Portland public schools. He received his BA degree at Reed College, MA at the University of Oregon.

He is executive secretary of the high school-college relations committee of the State System of Higher Education. His duties include administration of the guidance program under which state system institutional representatives meet with senior in all Oregon high schools each year; and also administration of the state system scholarship program.

Prior to his association with the state system he was director of admissions for Reed College, and is a former high school teacher and elementary school principal of Portland.

He was a member of the editorial committee which prepared the publication "Mapping Your Education" used in high schools in the two states.

He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, educational honorary.

International Outlook Vital In PTA Work

The study of international relations is regarded as an important part of the Parent-Teacher program.

E. Dean Anderson, Oregon Congress Chairman of International Relations, has stated the following reasons why the Parent-Teachers Association supports the United Nations:

"1. It has developed into an organ of vital import and for the first time in history, small nations have the means and the opportunity to participate in world affairs. Heretofore these small nations have been chiefly pawns in struggles between larger powers—a position from which Wilson tried—largely in vain—to rescue them after World War I."

"2. The U.N. has shown that it learns from history—not to repeat the mistakes of the League of Nations."

"3. The U.N. debates on the Charter of Human Rights have moved the world along toward recognition of an international moral law. Whatever may be finally included in or excluded from the Charter, the issues which it raises—human rights—cannot any longer be ignored anywhere in the world."

PTA Housing Quite A Chore

Housing of PTA convention delegates—a big job—has been in charge of W. R. Green, Richmond PTA, as committee chairman. He has been assisted by Leonard Rowan and Elmer Odegaard as co-chairmen and Miss Alma Schroeder as secretary, all of whom are members of the Salem Motel-Hotel Association.

Registration cards for delegates were issued to units throughout the state in February. Upon delivery to the housing committee the cards were temporarily filed by region, date of card's arrival and the type of housing requested. Delegates were then assigned.

MRS. WILLIAM KLETZER PTA Leader Oregon's New Mother of Year

Special honors came to PTA when, from a list of 19 candidates, Mrs. William Kletzer of Portland was named Oregon's mother of the year. Mrs. Kletzer was president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, 1940-43, and has been an active member of the Oregon Congress, of which she is a former president. She is now Oregon head of the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Kletzer's children are William Merges Kletzer, with the Commercial Bank, Newberg; Kenneth Miles Kletzer, instructor at Lincoln High School, Portland; and Mrs. Clark Spurlock, whose husband is with the Oregon State System of Higher Education, Portland. She has nine grandchildren.

William Kletzer, husband of the Oregon mother of 1953, is retired from many years' teaching at Benson Tech in Portland. He has been active in the American Legion, and with his wife has given long service to the Girl Scouts, helping especially with the development of the Girl Scouts' Camp, Wind Mountain.

Mrs. Kletzer has had many activities of national scope including: advisory committee of Maternal and child welfare services of the U. S. Children's Bureau, chairman 1942-43; advisory committee on young workers in wartime of the U. S. Children's Bureau; Commission for Children in Wartime, as member of the organizing committee and executive committee; advisory committee to W. P. A. nursery projects; advisory committee to W. P. A. recreation projects; National Education Week Committee; Allied Youth, advisory committee; associate editor, National Parent-Teacher Magazine; and a contributor to many education and child welfare publications.
