Replacement For Gurske Still Sought

Gov. Paul L. Patterson said Tuesday he had not yet found the "right man" to succeed Paul Gurske as a member of the State Unemployment Commission and State Industrial Accident Commission.

Gurske resigned as of April 15 to accept a federal position in Washington, D.C.

James T. Marr, Portland, executive secretary of the Oregon State Federation of Labor, originally was mentioned as being considered for the job but he sent Gov. Patterson a letter in which he said he was not a candidate.

Also mentioned for the berth was Gust Anderson, Portland labor leader and member of the House of Representatives from Multnomah county.

Gov. Patterson said Tuesday he was still angling for a man qualified to handle the duties of the position.

Tax Return Sorting Said Progressing

The task of opening and sorting several thousand letters, containing 1954 income tax returns based on 1953 incomes, was progressing rapidly in the State Tax Commission offices Tuesday.

Deadline for filing returns was last Thursday. Approximately 40 sacks of mail, mostly income tax returns, were received by the tax commission Friday and Monday. There is no mail delivery at the capitol Saturday.

"We hope to have all income checks in the bank not later than Friday of this week," Ray Smith, in charge of the personal income tax division said Tuesday.

The number of time extensions in which to file returns this year was larger than a year ago.

A recent report of the tax commission indicated total income tax collections for 1954 would show a decline when compared with 1953.
