

Witnesses Subpoenaed in Coastal Probe

NEWPORT, Ore. (AP) — Eleven witnesses were subpoenaed Tuesday to testify before a grand jury which is investigating charges of bribery and corruption in Lincoln county.

Those subpoenaed are: Stanley McDonald, handwriting expert at the Multnomah County Sheriff's office; Clyde Shields, clerk of the Taft-Nelscott-Delaker District; Fred Baxter, a water district commissioner; Betty Beggan, an employee of the Lincoln Bank of Oceanlake; and Mrs. Jack Naylor, widow of the former water district treasurer; and six officers of the Newport State Police office.

There were indications that the jury will investigate a water district matter involving $750, which the district entrusted to Otto W. Cahill, a former commissioner.

Cahill has been bound over to the grand jury on a charge that he converted the money to his own use.

Cahill said earlier that he had turned the money over to Jack Naylor, water district treasurer who since has died, and that Naylor gave him a receipt for it.

The hearing was to resume Wednesday after a one-day recess.

Californian to Edit Oregon State Paper

CORVALLIS (AP) — Richard Spight, a junior from Orinda, Calif., Tuesday was named 1954-55 editor of the Oregon State College student newspaper, the Daily Barometer.

The school publications committee, composed of students and faculty members, made the selections.

Home TV Out For Heavy Go

NEW YORK (AP) — The heavy-weight title fight between champion Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles at Yankee Stadium, June 17, will not be televised into your home.

The 15-rounder will be telecast into theaters over a closed circuit by Theater Network Television, Inc., only. The announcement was made Tuesday by President James D. Norris of the International Boxing Club.

It will be the 10th major fight to be telecast into theaters by TNT. Theaters in New York and New England will not receive the telecasts, however, said Norris.

He said that no decision has been made yet on radio broadcasts of the bout.

Invention Demonstrated

Fred Stadell, hop grower from Silverton, demonstrating a new invention for applying butter to an ear of corn.

Special Knife Aid In Applying Butter To Ears of Corn

Fred Stadell and Paul Staedell, hop growers of Silverton, have invented a special butter knife for applying butter to hot ears of corn.

As everyone knows, it has been difficult to keep butter on a regular knife while applying butter to a hot ear of corn. This new butter knife is a flat blade having slots running lengthwise. These slots grip the butter preventing the same from sliding off.

The drawings have just been completed for making application for patent by J. T. Anderson, coordinator of inventions, who announced he is attempting to arrange for manufacturing of this item here in Salem, thus adding to the efforts of the Salem Industrial Council's plan of adding new payrolls to Salem.

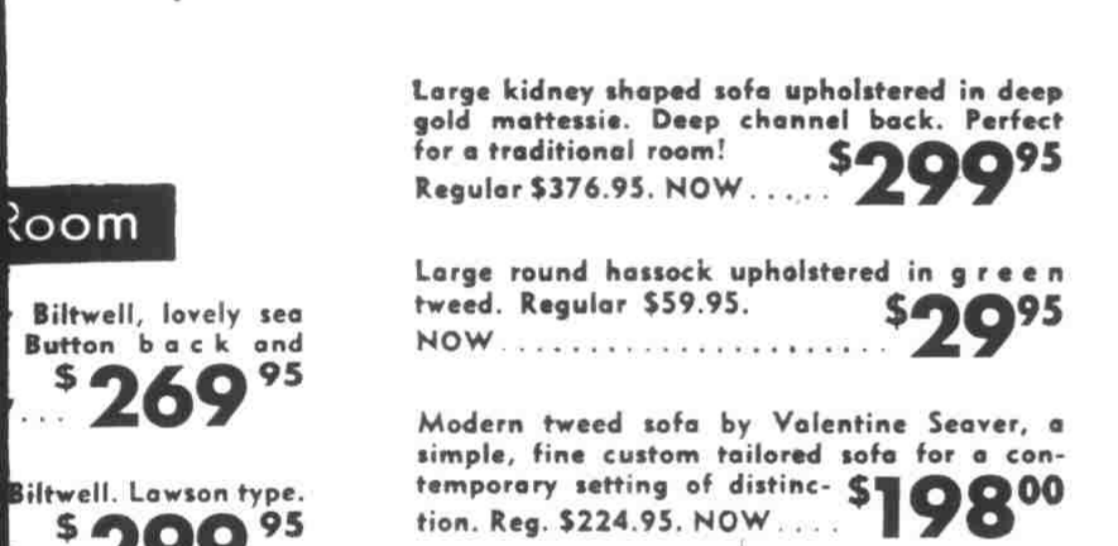

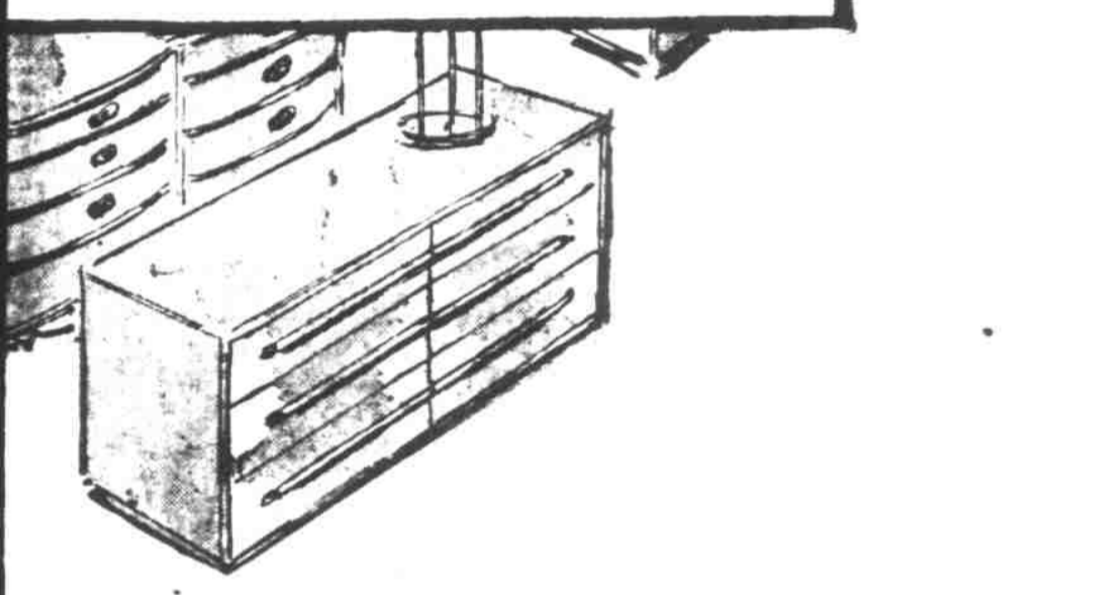

Deadline Told For Inspection Of Berberis

The State Agricultural Department Tuesday warned Oregon nurseries and dealers who expect to ship berberis, mahoberberis or mahonia interstate that May 15 is the deadline to apply for federal inspection.

All nurserymen and growers desiring to ship these species to other states during the shipping season starting October 1 must have their plantings inspected to meet requirements of the federal black stem rust quarantine. Application blanks will be mailed to all nurserymen, dealers and seed growers on the 1953 approved list and those requesting inspection for the first time this year.

Other requests for application blanks should be directed to the Agricultural Research Service, Plant Pest Control Branch, 301 Metropolitan Building, Minneapolis, Minn.

The May 15 deadline has been set so all Oregon nurseries must be inspected on one trip of the federal inspector, the State Agricultural Department said.
