Couple Wed at Church Rites

WILLAMINA — Miss Dorothy Harper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Harper of Willamina became the bride of Dennis Lee McFerran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. McFerran of Portland, in a double ring ceremony April 24, at the Christian Church in Sheridan. Rev. Emil Howell of the Free Methodist Church in Willamina officiated.

The bride wore a ballerina white lace-over organza dress with a lace jacket, and a fingertip veil held in place by a tiara. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white sweet peas, white carnations and a white orchid.

Miss Anita Allen of Amak, Wash. was maid of honor and she wore a light blue ballerina gown and carried a colonial bouquet of blue carnations. Miss Marilyn Loving of Forest Grove and Miss Vehrs of Portland were bridesmaids. They wore identical yellow ballerina gowns and carried yellow carnation colonial bouquets.

Richard McFerran, brother of the bridegroom from Portland, was best man and Thomas McFerran and Robert Fagle of Portland were ushers. Dale Harper, brother of the bride, and Ronald McFerran, brother of the bridegroom, lighted the candles.

Miss Beverly Hubbard sang, accompanied by Miss Susan Johnston.

A reception was held at the Legion hall in Sheridan. Mrs. Marlene Robinson cut the cake. Mrs. Norma Blackwell poured the coffee. Miss Jeanette Singleton served punch. Miss Carolyn Ellis passed the guest book and Miss Eleanor Howell was in charge of gifts.

The couple is now at home in Portland, following a wedding trip to Reno, Nev. For their trip Mrs. McFerran wore a blue linen dress with red and white accessories, and a white orchid corsage.

Children Will Give Shows During May

The Children's Creative Theater, which has been sponsored by AAUW for the past year, invites parents and friends of all ages to visit during the Saturday morning or afternoon sessions during the month of May. The groups hope to begin a fund for the YWCA stage and so will ask a small fee to be paid at the desk downstairs. The meeting place is the mezzanine floor of the YWCA Building, and the hours ten to twelve and two to four. The plays will be very informal and guests may enter any time.

A marionette show, "Jealousy Never Wins", will be performed by Margaret Brody, Faye Butler, Kathryn Mills, and Carolyn Speerstra in the morning. Also during this period Jane Sprague, Nancy Sprague, Jane Speerstra, Linda Mills and Susan Brody will present "The Troubles of Mr. Rabbit", a hand-puppet play.

Alice Herb and Ellen Ward will show "Little Red Riding Hood" on the story-book stage and Harter de Weese and Lawrence Ward each have hand-puppet plays in progress. Two plays will be enacted by the children themselves. The younger group will give the "Sleeping Beauty" and the older ones "Beauty and the Beast".

Featured in Afternoon

From two to four o'clock the marionette theater will have scenes from "Peter Pan" with Ranny deWeese, Margaret Brody, and Jane Speerstra contributing characters. Bobby Schmidt will present "The Forgotten Day" in the hand-puppet theater, and Leslie Lockwood, Lynn Eyerly, Sharon Brown and Linda Lue Turney will give "Spring Animals".

On the small story-book stage, Ann Hawthorn and Marilyn Finson will produce "Jack and the Beanstalk", "Beauty and the Beast" will be the play of the younger group in this section as in the morning.

A melodrama, "Curse You, Jack Dalton", is the vehicle of the junior high and high school division. It is to have evening performances late in May. These will be held penthouse fashion but costumes will be melodrama style. The part of Jack Dalton, the hero, is played by David Bradshaw; Bertha, the heroine, by Donna Stone and Jean Hawthorn on alternate nights; Mrs. Dalton, the society matron, by Jane Madera and Jean Hawthorn alternately; Anna Alvarado, the villainess, by Ann Hawthorn; Egbert Van Horn, the villain, by Lee Golden; Eloise, Jack Dalton's sister, by Marilyn Pinson; and Richard Perry and Bertha, by Richard Perry and Ranny deWeese alternately. Ben Dawson is handling the lights and stage plan.

After these performances, the Creative Theater will close while the director, Mrs. Murco Ringnald, goes to Los Angeles to give the creative dramatics course in the University of California Extension Division. It is hoped that some of the group can continue summer performances in Salem and in surrounding communities to raise funds for the YWCA stage.

District Fire Schools Start On May 19

A series of 12 district fire schools covering state and association protection districts will start May 19 at the Medford headquarters of the southwest Oregon unit.

William Hughes, protective assistant in charge of the program, announced Wednesday that training officers have been assigned to each of the districts. These will be assisted by personnel from the State Forester's staff in Salem.

Hughes pointed out that with new and inexperienced faces appearing among the employees and especially with the seasoned workers, the proper orientation and training becomes important.

This will permit the forest personnel to learn the fundamentals of his particular job, officials said, and give him an opportunity to become acquainted with his responsibilities and also the other wardens.

Many phases of protection work will be covered, including job training on lookout service, fire suppression methods, locating fires, mapping, equipment operation and making out varied reports.

Klamath Falls to Aid Alcoholics Anonymous

KLAMATH FALLS — City officials are seeking quarters for a social center and headquarters for the local chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous.
