H-Bomb Topic of Trusteeship Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The 12-nation Trusteeship Council begins its summer session Wednesday with an H-bomb problem sitting on its horseshoe table. Quick debate was forecast on a plea by residents of the U.S.-controlled Marshall Islands to halt bomb tests in the Pacific or else surround people in the area with complete safety measures. The islanders in a recent petition to the U.N. said residents of Rongelab and Uterik Islands suffered from burns, nausea, falling hair and lowering of blood count.
