The Senators lost their third straight game to the Chiefs Sunday afternoon as the Wenatchees Statesman, Salem, Ore., Monday, June 7, 1954-(Sec. 2)-1 rapped 13 hits off Larry Borst and Jose Rayle, as Billy Joe Waters, a former Coast Leaguer, held the Salems to six. Five Senator errors aided in the scoring also.

The only Salem run was Gene Tanselli's sixth homer of the rear, in the seventh inning. Jake Helmuth homered for the Chiets. Johnny Briggs, the WI League's eading strikeout artist, hauled the Senators back into the win column in the night game, hurling his sixth triumph of the season and his fifth in a row, 5-3. Briggs fanned 11 while turning in his sparkling stint and walked rum, 39-year-old professional from while Kroll got down in par after only three. His victim was Charley Bea- Western Open golf championship rough.

But Norgan seems to have had his mind on other things (such as taxes) in recent months. If the Portland club's proprietor is as well off as reported, why in the dickens are the Bevos so terrible hard up in talent? ...

Hank Sauer, currently in a neck-and-neck race with Stan Musial for major league homer hitting honors, has a habit of bombing the pitchers with a vengeance in the early season, then tailing off . . That's in contrast to Musial, who usually gets off to a slow start. The significance here is that if Stan couples his tremendous and unusual early pace with his usual heavy sticking of the "stretch" months, he could wind up with some phenomenal batting figures ...

Ring 'Dive' a Tough Thing to Execute

Guys who connive to throw a fight take added risk in that there is little chance to do any rehearsing. Apparently Bobby Jones, who turned down the bribe offer from Clarence Henry to throw the Joey Giardello bout, was asked to lose on points rather than take a "dive" . . . To the nefarious gents who think along such lines, the "dive" is the riskiest operation of the two. That's because few ringmen are such consummate actors that they can effectively fake being knocked out . . .

It has been a popular conception that both gladiators must be in the know when a fight is fixed. But that's not so . . . It is now common knowledge that more than one of Primo Carnera's victories back in his "heyday" resulted from fixes, but the naive Primo was never in on the facts at that time. However, even Da Preem must have wondered how adversaries could so readily topple before his muscle - bound "push" punches . . .

Getting back to the fix try aimed at Jones, all ringdom should be grateful to Bobby for throwing the bribe back in Henry's face and reporting it to the D. A. . . . Boxing would have had more to lose than Jones-if he had accepted a part in the plot . . .

Oldtimers' Deeds Dim to Many Scribes

This wisely abandoned method of filling the "Fame" hall, permitted voting by ALL members of the major league writing clan, whether they be greybeards or kids with the college ivy still stuck in their ears. Naturally the younger scriveners were swaved to vote for the gents of somewhat contemporary vintage. The only thing they knew of the oldtime greats had been learned in the fine print of the record book . . . But that system has been junked and now a special group of veteran writers culls the ranks of the early performers to find the men that rate the "hall" . . .
