

Miss Susan Rawlinson Bride Of Frank Bocci on Saturday

All white flowers banked the altar of St. Joseph's Catholic Church Saturday afternoon for the beautiful summer wedding of Miss Susan Louise Rawlinson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Rawlinson, and Frank Eugene Bocci, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Bocci of Portland.

It was at 4 o'clock that Father Joseph E. Vanderbeck performed the nuptials before a large gathering of friends and relatives of the couple, many coming from out-of-town. Mrs. Raymond Barton was the organist.

The attractive bride, who entered on the arm of her father, wore an exquisite gown of white nylon tulle and lace fashioned with a full skirt terminating in a chapel train. The bodice was of lace and made with long sleeves. Wide lace insets enhanced the gown on each side of the skirt, with pleated panels in front and back. Her silk illusion veil was adorned with the lace applique and was caught to a lace coronet. She carried a bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids.

The Bride's Attendants
Preceding the bride to the altar were four pretty attendants, all wearing white organdy ballgown dresses designed with full, unpressed pleated skirts with deep hemlines, boat shaped necklines and tiny sleeves with narrow cuffs. They wore matching organdy pillbox hats adorned with three tiny bows, which were repeated on the bodices of their dresses. Their bouquets were of pink Gerber daisies.

Miss Sylvia Rawlinson was her sister's honor maid and Mrs. John M. Healy of Portland, sister of the groom, Mrs. Richard A. Rawlinson, Jr., Portland, the bride's sister-in-law, and Miss Carolyn Davis of Portland, a cousin of the bride, were the bridesmaids.

Paul Bocci of Portland stood with his brother as best man. Seating the guests were John M. Healy of Portland, Charles Bocci, a cousin of the groom, Frank Frangipani of Portland, Richard Barber and Donald Wilson of Eugene.

For her daughter's nuptials Mrs. Rawlinson chose a cocoa brown lace ballerina gown to which she pinned a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Bocci wore a rose beige lace gown with pink rosebud corsage for her son's marriage.

Reception at Rawlinson Home
The newlyweds greeted their guests at a reception at the Candalaria Heights home of the bride's parents. Pouring were Mesdames O. Earle Miller, E. D. Hicks, Paul Bocci and A. J. Don't Look Now...

but... we hesitate to always talk about the weather, but there's little other subject matter these "unusual" days. Let us just say, for the pleasure of those who find such nature to be above and beyond the limit of human endurance, that in the summer of '54 it rained like this up to July 17 and we don't recall any casualties resulting from it.

Defunked... looks like dark days for the poor rainmaker's family, for I don't imagine Dad has been deluged with orders for his professional service so far this summer. He may have to go in for something more timely, like digging ditches. Drainage, that is.

Off beaten path... may we inject a bit of advice here which has nothing to do with this column or our status on this newsmag? Gooseberry bushes make nice shrubs in the border where you wish a shiny green leaved plant to fill in a spot. Inexpensive, and productive though not sensational. All this and more.

Rosey morn... Don't let all this free Portland Rose Show publicity blind you to the fact that Salem also is having a rose show. No pretty queens but a lot of pretty roses.

Bookworms... Bird mamas and papas must read different books on birding psychology. The robin, for instance, goes by the theory that children should be indulged and pampered and never crossed. Blackbirds subscribe to the idea that youngsters should be teased about, hovered over and screamed at, then pushed out when they get in the way. While sparrows raise them all over the place. The result is: Robins are pleasant, lower blackbirds are hateful delinquents and sparrows are too numerous to keep track of.
