Low Yielding Dairy Herds Culled in Polk

By LILLIE L. MADSEN
Farm Editor, The Statesman
DALLAS—The dairymen are catching on. Low producers do not pay. Culling of low-producers in dairy herds has increased during the past couple of months in Polk County, Milton Corum, Polk County Dairy Herd Improvement Association supervisor, said Sunday.

What is true in Polk County is true the country over, dairy men believe. A few years ago, a cow that produced below 200 pounds of butterfat was poor. Production of 250 to 300 was fair, and certainly not a cow to discard.

Corum said that a number of dairymen now have culled cows that are producing in the neighborhood of 200 pounds annually of butterfat as "boarders," or cows "not paying their way." Cows not making more than 200 pounds of butterfat cannot stay in the herd economically during this period of lower prices to dairymen, Corum pointed out.

The past 30-day report of the Polk County DHIA shows 24 herds on the standard test plan. These herds include 801 cows. On the owner-sampler plan, 10 herds are now on test, and these include 173 cows. The two plans of testing and recording keepers, have provided for a good culling program in dairy herds not only in Polk County but throughout the nation. Some of the programs are pretty well filled up, and there is a waiting list, but Corum said Sunday that there are openings for more dairymen now to participate in the owner-sampler program, an economical means of providing the information for dairymen interested in culling their herd.

Corum's report showed that the cows on standard test produced an average of 790 pounds of milk containing 35.4 pounds of butterfat for the past 30 days. In the owner-sampler herds, which are normally smaller herds, the average milk production was 845 pounds, and the average fat production 39.8.

Cows completing the 305 days during the past 30-day period, and winning honor roll place are: Registered Jersey, 5 years old, owned by Walter Lierman, Independence, 10,776 pounds of milk containing 641.8 pounds of fat; grade Jersey, 9 years old, owned by Jack DeJong, Sheridan, 10,478 milk and 571.4 pounds of fat; grade Jersey, 4 years, owned by DeJong, 9,601 milk, 538.8 fat; grade Guernsey, 3 years old, owned by Earl Johnson, Salem, 10,495 milk, 533.2 fat; registered Jersey, 7 years, owned by Walter Lierman, 8,647 milk, 529.3 fat; grade Guernsey, 5 years old, Fred Detering, Independence, 9,156 milk, 527.9 fat; grade Holstein, 3 years old, DeJong, 12,955 milk, 391 fat; grade Holstein, 2 years, owned by Mahlon Schlarback, Salem, 11,817 pounds milk, 443.5 fat; grade Jersey, 2 years, owned by Fran Regehr, Dallas, 9,333 pounds milk, 434.3 pounds fat; grade Guernsey, 2 years old, owned by Johnson, 7,888 pounds milk, 411.9 pounds fat.

Bridge Unit From Seattle Challenges

Seattle players were challenging Portland leadership as the sixth annual Willamette Valley duplicate bride meet drew to a close at the Elks club Sunday evening. With more than 200 tables in play during the three days of expert competition, it was the most successful ever staged by the local American Contract Bridge League unit.

Arthur Doran and Andrew Wright of the Washington city eased out Mrs. Dan Creary and Mrs. Lulu Horton of Portland women's pair winners by four points in the closing round of the open pairs, contested by 38 teams. Mrs. Grace Ness and Thomas Dixon of Portland were third, Mr. and Mrs. Max Moore of Scio fourth and Mrs. Jose Moritz and Harry Freund of Corvallis fifth.

In the team-of-four tournament being played in the championship room Sunday another Seattle team took the lead at the end of the first half.

Most of the single session tournaments were taken by valley players. Here are senior trophy winners as announced by Chairman Gilbert Groff last night: Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Young of Seattle; Mrs. Ernest Piro, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bussey, and Mrs. Dagna Dudley of Portland; Mrs. Jose Moritz and Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Hutchinson of Corvallis; Charles L. Newsom, Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Cline, Mrs. Wesley Ritchie, Charles Tumbling, Mrs. George Rein, Mrs. F. C. Lutz, Mrs. C. L. Newsom (two), Mrs. Robert McKesson, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ramp, Mrs. Walter A.
