Schools Have Faculty Shift At Woodburn

WOODBURN — Changes in the Woodburn public school faculty, arising from resignations, transfers, and additions to the staff, were announced by Superintendent Frank P. Doerfler this week. Personnel in every school except Lincoln will be altered in the fall, said Doerfler.

In Washington School the vacancy of Mrs. C. K. Olson who resigned will be filled by Mrs. Jack Barnes, formerly a member of the Woodburn staff. Ralph Nelson, who taught a 5th grade for the past two years, will be transferred to work in grades 7 and 8, his place being taken by Mrs. C. K. McNary, previously of the Hubbard faculty.

In the high school Mrs. T. M. Baxter has been added to the teaching body as art instructor. Resignations from Henry Ercolini, boys' physical education and football coach; Miss Leona Hopkins, business education; Mrs. Kenneth Thompson, social studies teacher, have necessitated the following replacements: Jack Nash of Cascade Locks succeeding Ercolini; Mrs. Alf Nelson, formerly of the English department, transferred to business education; Charles B. Silliman succeeding Thompson; and Miss Alyce Koch of Route 6, Salem, filling Mrs. Nelson's place in the English section. The homemaking position is still vacant, Doerfler explained.

Inventory Plan Set for Legislature

PORTLAND (U) — An alternate inventory plan and a revised definition of property value were approved for recommendation to the next Legislature when the Interim Tax Committee met here Monday.

The committee, of which Sen. Howard Belton of Canby is chairman, decided to propose that holders of goods may submit their average inventory during the year, rather than the Jan. 1 inventory, as the basis for assessment.

This is expected to help industries which find it necessary to build up inventories near the first of the year for carrying on winter business.

On value, the committee decided that "true cash value means market value as of the assessment date." On property that has no immediate market value, the cash value shall be determined as "the amount of money that would justly compensate the owner for loss of the property."

Contagious Confidence

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (U) — Gordon S. Carbonneau is well satisfied with his first venture in creating optimism in the business world.

Carbonneau paid $290 in prizes to employees of his electronic parts business for keeping scrapbooks of encouraging business news clippings. He has now started a new contest and solicited customers and suppliers to join his campaign of "Let's be Confident."
