

Swirling Squaw Skirts Make Heap Big Hit for Little Wampum

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

America's most glamorous squaw since Pocahontas is Maria Tallchief, prima ballerina of New York's City Center and daughter of an Osage Indian.

The current craze for squaw dresses, which started in the Southwest and has spread like a prairie fire, can be understood after seeing Miss Tallchief wearing one of the colorful, whirl-skirted outfits.

Being talented at home arts as well as dancing, Maria recently decided to whip up a gala fiesta dress of the type inspired by the original American Indian costumes. She made it of a gay cotton print with copper motifs on a black ground, trimmed with yards and yards of glittering metallic copper ric-rac braid.

Such an outfit is a natural for entertaining at home or for attending those outdoor barbecue parties and square dances which are a part of the American summer scene. The crisp broomstick skirt whirled in flattering lines, whether you're dancing or just walking, and the simple fitted bodice accentuates the lines of the figure.

Couples Observe Anniversaries

MT. ANGEL—Relatives staged a surprise no-host picnic dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Travis here Sunday afternoon to observe the 15th wedding anniversary of the Travis' and the ninth of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Alderson of Salem, who were among the guests.

Many gifts were received by the two honored couples. Dinner was prepared at the outdoor fireplace in the Travis' patio.

Here for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Blem and family, Dilly; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Blem and family, Woodburn; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brinkman and family, Brooks; Mr. and Mrs. William Blem and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Travis, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Zielinski and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Bigler and daughters, Marlene and Sandra, Harry Schaefer, Miss Marie Travis and Mr. and Mrs. Alderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lauritzen and children, Chris and Gail, of Oakland, Calif., are visiting here for 12 days with Mrs. Lauritzen's parents the Hubbell Youngs. They arrived Wednesday night.

Father Cyril Lebold officiated at the mass when the couple renewed their marriage vows, attended by childhood friends, Miss Ella Timon and Arthur McVeigh. Two grandsons, Paul and Francis Foltz, were altar boys.

Mrs. Harrahill wore a pink, two-piece dress with pink accessories and an orchid corsage. Miss Timon was attired in gray.

Miss Mary Ann Whalen and William G. Harrahill were married in the Visitation Catholic church in O'Connor. They made their home in O'Connor until 1928 when they removed to Elgin and six years later came to Mt. Angel.

They have seven children, all of whom were here with their families. They include Mrs. Arthur Purdy of Yamhill, Mrs. Mark Purdy and Mrs. Richard Raltz, Mt. Angel; Mrs. Ralph Kastner, Vancouver, Wash.; Sister Reparata, OSF, Chicago; Lawrence Harrahill, Vancouver, and Dr. Robert Harrahill, Klamath Falls.

There are also 33 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. All the grandchildren were present except one, a/2c Robert Scott who is on his way home from Japan.

Others here from a distance were Sister Amator OSF, Chicago; Mrs. Lester Nowak, Grand Island, Neb.; sister of Mrs. Harrahill; Mrs. Roland Reinhardt and son Stephen of Davenport, Iowa.

The granddaughters were hostesses for the wedding breakfast which served 75, and more friends attended the reception that followed.

The wedding cake as well as table arrangements were carried out in gold and white. Mrs. Arthur Purdy, the eldest daughter, cut the cake assisted by Miss Timon, and pouring were Mrs. Lawrence Harrahill of Vancouver and Mrs. Robert Harrahill of Klamath Falls. Jeanette Purdy passed the guest book and Rita Purdy, Judy Foltz and Katherine Kastner presided at the gift table.
