

Summer, Winter, Spring and Fall, Gloves Good Any Time at All

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor
GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y.—Ever wonder where your gloves come from? Chances are they were born beneath the skilled hands of craftsmen who turn out some 80 per cent of the nation's leather gloves here in this old New England village.

It was 200 years ago in 1754, that a handful of Scotch immigrants settled in Gloversville and started an industry that has gone on, from father to son, ever since. The first gloves turned out by these pioneer glovemaakors were of deerskin, but their descendants today work with the skins of goats, calves, sheep, lambs, ostriches, pigs and many other animals from all parts of the world, whose hides can be turned into fine leather.

Today's high-fashion gloves, in a rainbow range of colors may be jeweled, embroidered or beaded, of the finest kidskin or the most delicate suede. But they are still made by the painstaking hand process employed by the ancestors of the present craftsmen.

In observation of the 200th anniversary of the glove industry in this country, the glovers of Gloversville are inviting editors, writers and fashion experts to visit the tanneries and the factories of this unique community, where practically everybody makes gloves, and where it is a social error to appear in public bare-handed.

If you've ever been careless with your best gloves, you should take a day's trip through the factories of this fabulous glove center, to appreciate the infinite care and old-world skill that goes into the making of a pair of gloves that sells for as little as $3.50 or as much as $15.

From the time they start their evolution from a bundle of stiff dried hides in the tannery to the final steps of sitching, sorting, polishing and packing, leather gloves are in the care of educated hands—and these hands of the craftsmen form the basic drama of Gloversville.

Miss Martin Wed In Home Ceremony

MONMOUTH—Miss Joyce Elaine Martin, daughter of W. A. Martin, Monmouth, was married to Wesley Irwin Darby, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Darby, Silverton, in a double-ring ceremony June 25 at the Martin home in the presence of family and close friends. The Rev. Lynnton H. Elwell officiated.

Large baskets of garden flowers and lighted tapers decorated the living room. Soloists were Miss Violet McFarland and Jerry Darby with Mrs. Dora Scott at the piano.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white lace and satin gown with finger-tip veil held by a pearl headdress and she carried a corsage of shaded carnations. The bridegroom's sister, Miss Jeanne Darby, was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length dress of pink satin and tulle and carried a nosegay of carnations. Frederick R. Martin, brother of the bride, was best man.

A reception at the home of Mrs. Dora Scott and Miss Violet McFarland followed the ceremony with Mrs. Clifford Martin serving wedding cake and Mrs. Donald Martin and Mrs. Marvin Darby pouring. Miss Jeanne Darby was in charge of the guest book. After a trip to the Oregon coast, Mr. and Mrs. Darby will make their home at The Dalles, Oregon.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Q. Is it necessary for me to invite the minister who officiates at my daughter's wedding to the wedding reception?

A. This would depend upon the size of the wedding. If it is to be a very large wedding, then both the minister and his wife (if he has one) should be invited. If, however, the wedding is a small one just for relatives and intimate friends, an invitation is not necessary.

Q. By whom should the first gesture of friendship be made, by the family of the man or of the girl, when they have become engaged?

A. By the family of the man.

Q. How does a mother refer to her son's wife when introducing her to friends?

A. To casual friends, she may say, "My daughter-in-law." To close friends, she may say, less formally, "Bob's wife."

Q. Is it proper for a woman to eat in a public place with her gloves on?

A. This is all right at a lunch counter, but not at a table.

By LILLIE L. MADSEN
SILVERTON—Holding Silverton interest on July 11 will be the marriage of Miss Betty Schreder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schreder of Salem, to Kenneth Larsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Larsen of Silverton. Mrs. Schreder was at one time a resident of Silverton. She also taught in the Brush Creek School at that time.

Miss Schreder is a graduate of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles and Mr. Larsen of the Multnomah School of the Bible in Portland. The two are now doing deputational work in preparation for their assignment under Village Missions. Following their marriage, they expect to be assigned immediately to a field of service in rural America.

Mrs. Harrison Fisher (Elaine Clower) former Silverton school teacher, says it is good to be back in the States again after a winter at Nycac, Alaska, but adds that the Northland residence is furnishing a most interesting experience.

Mr. Fisher who is with a gold dredging concern there, has been in Alaska for the past two years. Mrs. Fisher joined him last summer and during the school year taught in a territorial school. She arrived in Silverton early this week and left Wednesday for a two weeks' visit with a brother in Wendell, Idaho. She will then return to Silverton for a longer visit. In mid-August she again flies north. At Silverton she is the guest of Mrs. Ben Sprick.

Jack Medcalf, Silverton High School art and English teacher, left Wednesday for California where he will spend a week visiting in San Francisco and Palo Alto, before taking off for the Hawaiian Islands for a bit of sunbasking before returning to his Silverton teaching job.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Adams called early in the week on Mrs. Peggy Scott and Mrs. Helen Hammond, both former Silverton women now living in Portland. Mrs. Scott left Wednesday for a vacation trip to Alaska, the Adamses report.

Mrs. A. J. McCannel is expecting a cousin and his wife, the William McSevens of St. Cloud, Minn., to Silverton in a couple of days for a month's or so visit at her Waldo Hills farm home, Twa Maples. The McSevens have visited at Silverton before and will be remembered by many.

A "lawn social" is one of the centennial features being planned by the Silverton Women's Society for Christian Service. The chairman, Mrs. Dale Lamar and Mrs. George Huchensort have indicated there'd probably be pink lemonade among the refreshments. The date has been set for July 16, with the hours 3 to 5 and 7 to 9, in the spacious adjoining gardens of Mrs. Earl Adams and Mrs. Lowell Brown, 201 and 203 McClaine street. The evening session has been arranged especially to bring the men of the town, and their guests, out for the affair. Centennial costumes will be worn by the hosts and hostesses and guests of Silverton are also urged to wear their costumes. An old-time reed organ will furnish entertainment during the afternoon and evening, and a few antiques, at least a century old, will be on display. Out of town visitors are being invited, too, the chairman report.

Mrs. Betty J. Parrett, who has been appointed by the Marion County Educational Board as a school supervisor assumed her duties July 1. Mrs. Parrett is a graduate from the Oregon College of Education, Monmouth, and received her degree from Southern Oregon College of Education, Ashland. She has had 12 years experience in the elementary grades, both as a teacher and as a principal.

Mrs. Cornele Stuttaford, a resident of Salem for 30 years but has lived in Portland for the past year, has returned here to live at her home 2930 Maple Avenue.
