With Tropic Flavor
Coconut Used in All Courses by Indians; Some American Favorites

By MAXINE BUREN
Statesman Woman's Editor

Looking through some of the pamphlets in our files for a certain needed recipe, we became fascinated by the cooking ideas in the booklet put out years ago by the coconut people. They really put their hearts into the recipes, many of which we had once known but long since forgotten. Coconut finds its greatest popularity in desserts of one kind or another, but even goes into soup in some parts of the world, according to this recipe:

COCONUT SOUP HINDUSTANI

1 1/2 cups coconut 6 cups stock
1/4 teaspoon each mace, cinnamon, pepper 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1/2 teaspoon salt 1/4 cup lemon juice
4 tablespoons flour

Combine coconut with spices, seasonings and stock. Simmer 30 minutes and strain. Combine egg yolks and lemon juice, add flour and stir until smooth. Pour a small amount of stock over the egg mixture and return to soup kettle. Cook until slightly thickened stirring constantly. Serve with boiled rice. Serves 6.

Coconut is a familiar ingredient for curried shrimps and is served along with curried chicken. A half cup or so is often added to East Indian chutney for flavor. When the coconut is served with curry or sauces, it often comes in this form:

COCONUT CREAM

1 1/2 cups coconut 1 cup milk

Place coconut in the top of a double boiler and add milk. Mix well. Keep water in lower part of boiler hot but not boiling, for about 30 minutes. Strain and use as liquid in curries or sauce for fish.

Coconut appears most often in desserts, typical of which is this:

COCONUT RICE PUDDING

3 tablespoons uncooked rice 1/4 teaspoon salt
3 cups milk 1 tablespoon butter
6 tablespoons brown sugar 1/2 cup coconut

Wash rice and combine with milk, sugar, salt and butter. Pour into greased baking dish, bake for one hour at 300 degrees, stirring frequently. Then add coconut and bake 30 minutes more. Serve hot or cold. Serves 6.

A good summertime dessert using the coconut is:

COCONUT BANANA SNOW

3 bananas 1 egg white, beaten
1/2 cup powdered sugar 1/2 cup cream, whipped
2 teaspoons lemon juice 1/2 cup coconut

Cut bananas fine, combine with sugar and lemon juice and chill. Force through a sieve and fold into the egg white that has been beaten stiff. Add cream and fold in coconut, let chill well before serving. Serves 6.

United Fund Wins Favor At Mt. Angel

MT. ANGEL — The directors of the Mt. Angel Community Chest voted to join the United Fund group after discussing the matter with Dr. David J. Ferguson, county president, who met with the directors here Thursday night.

It was thought best to unite all the funds in one drive and have only one house to house solicitation in the community. The Red Cross has come into the fund jurisdiction and will hold no separate drive. The March of Dimes, Heart and Cancer drives have been invited but have not come in as yet. The United Fund covers 27 different charities.

Mr. Angel has followed the lead taken by Portland and Salem in uniting for one drive. Silverton, Albany and St. Paul have also joined the group.
