

Senators Morse, Lehman Attack A-Law Revision Plan

WASHINGTON (UP)—Cries of "giveaway" and "monopoly" resounded in Capitol Hill Saturday as a pair of senators broadened the attack on President Eisenhower's plan to revamp the Atomic Energy Law.

With the Senate in its fourth day of argument over the administration's atomic act revision bill, Sens.

Lehman (D, Lib-NY) and Morse (Ind-Ore) took the floor to charge in separate speeches that:

1. The Eisenhower program amounts to federal abandonment of one of the nation's greatest resources, hitherto developed at government expense.
2. Peacetime atomic power would be handed over to a few giant, monopolistic private companies.

3. GOP leaders are trying to rush through a far-reaching bill that deserves much closer attention at congressional hands.

Backers of the bill were expected to speak later.

The measure as okayed by the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee is a proposed overhaul of the original 1946 Atomic Energy Law.

Share Secrets.

It would, among other things, okay a limited sharing of atomic secrets with America's allies and allow private industry to take part in the development of peacetime atomic power.

Most Senate criticism until Saturday was directed against a side feature—an Eisenhower directive that the Atomic Energy Commission contract for private power to be used in the Tennessee Valley area.

Commies Said Giving Dope to GIs in Orient

NEW YORK (UP)—The federal Narcotics commissioner told Senate investigators here that a "substantial number" of American servicemen in Korea and Japan have been addicted to narcotics by Communists and the situation "is not yet under control."

The commissioner, Harry J. Anslinger, disclosed that 2400 "Communist dope peddlers" have been arrested in Korea and Japan as the result of the U. S. armed services' campaign to eradicate addiction.

Testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee on International Narcotics Traffic, Anslinger said the effort to addict soldiers in South Korea "is a deliberate attempt to neutralize those soldiers."

"The situation is not yet under control but the armed forces are doing their best," he said. "A substantial number of American troops have been addicted."

The subcommittee is gathering material for a recommendation to the Senate concerning a proposed international protocol designed to reduce the world's production of opium by 75 per cent so that only enough is produced for medical and scientific needs. The protocol has been worked out by the United Nations.

Chinese Tong Club Raided In Portland

PORTLAND (UP)—Multnomah County police early Saturday raided a private club catering exclusively to Orientals and arrested three persons on gambling charges.

The alleged gaming resort, a stone's throw from the Portland city police headquarters, was raided on a search warrant obtained by District Attorney John B. McCourt. The place at 323 Southwest Second Avenue operated by one of the Chinese tongs in Portland.

Hing Lung Yee was charged with conducting gambling and Gee-Ming Wong and Henry Sing Locke were accused of operating a gambling game. Yee posted $750 bail and Wong and Locke $500 each.

Four tables, counting racks, dice, Chinese dominoes and about $1200 in cash were seized.

The raid followed a complaint by a Chinese woman that her husband had lost about $3000 in the place.

Ray Anderson Wins Allen Fellowship

EUGENE (UP)—Ray C. Anderson, advertising manager of the La Grande Evening Observer, will study at the University of Oregon during the next school year under the Eric W. Allen memorial Fellowship.

He is the first advertising man to be awarded the fellowship for advanced study at the university.

Anderson has been with the Observer as advertising manager and business manager for the last 13 years. Prior to 1941 he was advertising manager of the Eugene Daily News and served in retail advertising capacities for several large concerns.

The fellowship was established in honor of the university's first dean of journalism.

Movie Shooting Too Realistic

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Actor Hal Baylor got it in the end Friday when he tangled with movie tough guy Edward G. Robinson during the filming of a movie.

The script called for Robinson, playing an escaped convict, to fire a gun at Baylor, a prison guard. A prop man apparently put too much powder in Robinson's blank cartridges and five paper wads caught Baylor as he was fleeing.

Liquor Law Changes Asked

PORTLAND (UP)—The Oregon Licensed Beverage Association, representing some 800 beverage dispensers, said Saturday it will seek three changes in the state's liquor laws.

The proposed changes, which the association has submitted to legislative candidates, are an unrestricted right of appeal to the Circuit Courts from decisions of the Oregon Liquor Control Commission, proof-of-age identification cards to be issued by the state and a full-time salaried liquor commission.

Coast Accident Victim Identified

REEDSPORT (UP)—Authorities Saturday identified as Fitz Wallen, 57, of Bend, a construction foreman for the Gillo Construction Company who was injured fatally late Wednesday when a boulder fell on him.

The accident occurred about 30 miles east of Gardiner, where Wallen was building a timber access road.

Majority Leader Knowland of California, driving for adjournment Aug. 1, has sought in vain so far for an agreement to limit debate.

However the fight over the Eisenhower-ordered AEC private power contract flared up briefly again when Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) broke into debate to attack the Tennessee Valley Authority as a socialistic project.

Jenner said Eisenhower has attempted to reverse what the senator called the colossal growth of TVA, and to increase the role of private enterprise.

"Naturally," Jenner declared, "the supporters of socialism have protested bitterly against this interference with unlimited growth of their favorite show-piece of what government spending can do."

Lehman told Saturday's session the issues at stake are so important as to require weeks of debate.

"Great Giveaway"

Going beyond the dispute over the Tennessee valley area contract, the New York senator termed the omnibus bill "one of the greatest giveaways" in history — "a giveaway of such proportions as to dwarf the imagination."

"In this bill," he said, "it is proposed to grant licenses to private companies — to a few very large and monopolistic private companies — to develop industrial atomic power, from what is, by its nature, a public domain — atomic energy, made possible by public investment and national genius mobilized in the public service."

He said the measure would grant such licenses with capture clauses of the type issued companies developing private electric power. Patent provisions in the bill, he said, provide "an utterly inadequate protection of the public interest."

Prohibits Projects

The legislation, he added, virtually prohibits the AEC from developing electric energy from atomic projects. Lehman and others have introduced amendments to let the AEC go ahead in this field.

In similar vein, Morse declared in a lengthy speech that an atomic "giveaway" is "being rushed through the Congress... without adequate consideration."

He said the Eisenhower administration "proposed to give away to the utility giants of the nation a new resource in which the people of the United States have invested 12 billion dollars and which has a potential value greater than that of all the oil, gas, coal and water resources of the country combined."

Papa Offers Praise For Madcap Gabors

By ILONA NYILAS
United Press Staff Correspondent
BUDAPEST, Hungary (UP)—The father of Zsa Zsa and Eva and Magda Gabor said proudly today these three gorgeous sisters who are known to the world as madcap sophisticates are in truth devoted daughters quietly caring for him in his declining years.

"I have the best daughters in the world," 74-year-old Vilmos Gabor said, and tears shone in his eyes.

"I love them all. I have no favorite. All three are angels to me."

Papa Gabor was interviewed exclusively at his modest home in this small suburb two miles from Budapest.

Phone Every Other Day

"My daughters," he said, nodding his balding, gray-fringed head, "call me by telephone every second day wherever they are in the world."

"I do not miss anything because they supply me with all the things I need. They even supply me with the best available medicine for my car."

Gabor is almost deaf and speaks slowly because of a cerebral hemorrhage he suffered in January.

He Is Proud of Them

Papa Gabor is very proud of Zsa Zsa and Eva and Magda. He wants to hear of all they see and do. Pictures of all the stunning three filled the little room where the old man spoke. His pockets were stuffed with letters and postcards, with stamps ranging from the Riviera to Hollywood.

He believes they are richly successful and he did not conceal his pride in thinking he helped train them for their careers by keeping foreign tutors for them, and sending them to fashionable schools in France and Switzerland. Magda, he boasted, speaks 12 languages offhand.

Gabor reminisced over the days when he had four cars and a summer retreat and houses in Budapest. He once owned a chain of jewelry shops selling inexpensive but chic baubles. But his family went the way of the winds, he reflected sadly.

In U. S. A Short time

Eva and Zsa Zsa left for America in 1938. Papa himself fled with his former wife Jolie and his daughter Magda to the United States in October, 1944 when the Hungarian Nazis commenced a short but bloody reign of terror.

But papa stayed only three years in America. Tempted by visions of his prewar wealth and dreams that he could increase it, he left wife Jolie and the girls and returned where he married his present wife.

He reopened his shop in Budapest's best shopping street, but soon it and his houses were nationalized and the Gabors themselves were considered "undesirables" and in 1951 ordered to live in the countryside.

Minstrels' Serenade Goes Unpaid For

MEXICO CITY (UP)—Six blind minstrels asked for police help today in finding the man who hired them to serenade his girl friend.

The musicians said they sang and played for nine hours, but the man fled when they tried to collect their pay.

Summary of McCarthy Case Ready

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—Ray Jenkins, special counsel in the Army-McCarthy dispute, said today he has completed reducing the 7424 pages of testimony in the hearing into a 450-page summary.

In addition, Jenkins said, he and his assistant, Charles Maner, have nearly finished work on a "brief" which sets forth the supporting and contradictory evidence on each of the issues in the dispute.

Jenkins said he hopes to have both documents in the hands of the subcommittee investigating the case "by the latter part of next week."

He said he will send the documents to Washington by mail or will "deliver them personally and confer with the subcommittee if it so desires."

Jenkins would not discuss the issues the subcommittee had asked him to brief because they have not been made public.

Legislation Bribe Charge Investigated

WASHINGTON (UP)—The FBI is investigating charges by Rep. Joel T. Broyhill (R-Va.) that a bribe was offered in connection postal pay raise bill.

The Justice Department gave no details, but informed sources said Broyhill claimed he was offered $500 in the guise of a "campaign contribution" to influence his vote on the bill.

The department said Broyhill brought the matter to the attention of its Criminal Division which turned it over to the FBI for investigation.

The Justice Department said that Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield also took up the case with Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr.

The department refused to release further details of the alleged bribe.

Broyhill is a member of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee which last week unanimously approved a pay raise of at least five per cent for the nation's 500,000 postal workers. This was in place of a temporary seven per cent raise previously voted.

Deaths Laid to Cows' Appetite

CORVALLIS (UP)—Oregon State College scientists say it isn't the bracken fern itself which kills cattle—it's the bovine's gluttonous nature which leads to the demise.

Weswig report that studies show eating of bracken fern in small quantities has no effect on a cow's health. But taken in large doses the fern destroys vitamin B1 which impairs the nervous system and often leads to death of the animal.
