

Solons Fear Bargaining May End if Unions Own Businesses

By NORMAN WALKER
 WASHINGTON (AP)—A House labor subcommittee said Tuesday business ventures operated by rich unions or union leaders may turn collective bargaining with employers into "an empty farce."
 The group said in a report that employers by law are allowed to resist union demands but if a union operates a competing business, the combined pressure could mount so "the employer may well have no choice but to yield."
 The subcommittee, summing up testimony of hearings held last year at Detroit, recommended that the full Labor Committee meet promptly to cite two witnesses for contempt of Congress for refusing

Planners Back Increases in Sewer Rates

City ordinances seeking to increase sewer rentals and sewer connection fees won approval of the Salem Planning Commission Tuesday night and were referred to the city council for possible future action.

Council members, however, in a joint meeting with the Planning Commission last night made it plain they would want more time to study the ordinances.

Introduced at the last council meeting the measures call for a $150 sewer hook-up fee (now there is only a $4.50 inspection charge) and an increase in sewer rental fee from 65 cents per month to $1 for dwellings and establishing a minimum commercial rate of $1 per month plus a few cents more on volume of water used.

A resolution seeking to increase water rates was not passed on to the city council by the Planning Commission, but was retained in the Commission hopper for possible further study.

In a lengthy discussion several councilmen expressed themselves in doubt as to the wisdom of attempting to increase water rates, or for that matter, sewer rates.

Others indicated it was necessary to obtain more revenue, vitally needed, to ease the burden of annexing new areas to the city.

In other action Tuesday night the Planning Commission approved an application of C. L. Standish to install curb sidewalks on the south side of Columbia street between North Fifth street and Broadway, and delayed the request of Maynard Haverland to build courts on North 18th street between "D" and Center streets.

Miss Montana Leads Race for Miss U.S.A.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Miss U. S. A. will not be named until tomorrow night, but already the people's choice is a girl who looks like Marilyn Monroe.

The Long Beach Independent Press Telegram Tuesday night announced the results of an unofficial poll to determine the most popular of the 79 Miss Universe candidates in the huge parade held Sunday.

Miss Montana, a 22-year-old platinum blonde from Billings, won going away. She also got the most wolf whistles from sailors and marines among the better than half a million spectators who lined the parade route.

So sweeping was her victory in the poll that the two Long Beach newspapers ordered that pictures be shot of Dawn Ongley long before all the votes were counted.

'Rubber Bomb Sneaky' Not Like Kon Tiki

AVALON, Santa Catalina Island, Calif. (AP)—The five-man crew of "Rubber Bomb Sneaky" broke up their 100-inner-tube raft Tuesday because of heavy seas.

They headed for Port Hueneke and Santa Barbara aboard a press boat and a Coast Guard cutter, the Coast Guard at Long Beach reported.

The crew, on advice of the Coast Guard cutter Morris, decided to abandon the attempt to cruise from Ventura to this island resort. The trip ended after covering only a third of the distance. Crew members said the raft was unseaworthy in the current heavy swells.

The raft, left Ventura Sunday for a 71-mile cruise to this island resort. The trip was billed as a gag takeoff on the trip of the famed raft Kon-Tiki, which drifted from Peru to the Polynesian Islands.

Movie Tough Comes to Aid Of Jailed Son

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Edward G. Robinson, noted for his gangster roles in the movies, came forward Tuesday to help his 21-year-old son, who was arrested on suspicion of armed robbery.

Edward G. Robinson Jr. and his father had been estranged for a while after the youth's marriage at the age of 19, but it was the father who supplied $10,000 bail to gain the youth's release from jail.

The elder Robinson said he is behind his boy "100 per cent" and described the arrest as "fantastic—a case of mistaken identity."

Young Robinson and a writer friend, Hick P. Dee, 38, were picked up at nearby Chatsworth early Tuesday and jailed. Robinson was booked on suspicion of robbery on the complaints of two cab drivers. Police said cab driver Michael Joseph Piasick told them he was struck and robbed of $27 last June 25 and driver Harry Chernack said he was held up and robbed of $11 July 2.

Sgt. Roy Bowen said Robinson was arrested on identifications made by the taxi drivers.

Dee was arrested on suspicion of writing checks without sufficient funds.

Young Robinson, who has been jailed three times on drunkenness charges in recent months, told reporters: "I can't understand why they picked me up. I never owned a gun."

Bunche Notes Precedents For Partition

PORTLAND (AP)—There are precedents for the division of Indochina, Dr. Ralph Bunche said here Tuesday.

He pointed out that artificial lines have been drawn in Germany, Korea and Israel and another is being considered for Trieste.

Dr. Bunche, who is director of the U.N.'s trusteeship division, said the simple question of whether the settlement is democratic can't be raised because "no one has found out yet how the Indochinese people feel about it."

Bunche, who worked out the peace between the Arabs and the Jews, expressed surprise about the concern over the possibility of Red China's being admitted to the U.N. He said the situation is no different than it was at other times when Red China was denied admission and that the issue cannot be a live one until there is a Korean settlement.

Stolen Car Recovered

A 1951 Chevrolet sedan, stolen Monday night from the residence of its owner, Ben F. Lambert, 361 Leslie St., was recovered Tuesday night at Oakland, Ore., state police report. The abandoned vehicle was apparently undamaged, said authorities.

Lambert had reported theft of the car earlier in the day.

CAR THEFT REPORTED
 Theft of a 1940 tan Chevrolet coach was reported to police Tuesday night by the car's owner, Leslie Tapscoff, of Gervais. Tapscoff said the vehicle was taken from in front of the Wilamette Cherry Growers plant at 1520 Woodrow St., between 6 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. commissions, expense allowances and service fees in four years in handling union insurance accounts for the Union Casualty Co. Mt. Vernon, N. Y. The latter firm's annual premiums jumped from 1 1/2 million dollars in 1948 to 9 million in 1952.

"The facts of business and economic life," the report said, "are such that through their unions, employees enjoy considerable power and can bargain with an authority they could never have as individuals. Congress intended that this be so."

"But we do not believe that Congress intended an unethical use of union power and authority. And we seriously question the ethics of the various business arrangements which we recount here."

The subcommittee said it was "urgent" that Congress investigate fully union handling of rich employer-paid welfare funds and also the extent of union business competition with employers with whom the union bargains.

Neutral Team To Supervise Indochina Vote

(Story also on page one.)
 GENEVA (AP)—An Indochina armistice agreement was signed here early Wednesday between French and Vietminh officials. The cease-fire divides the coastal state of Viet Nam.

In Viet Nam, the two sides agreed, all Vietnamese elections will be conducted under a neutral supervision team composed of India, Canada and Poland, within one to two years.

Representatives of the rival Viet Nam regimes, Ho Chi-Minh's Communist government in the north and the Bao Dai administration in the pro-Western South, are to confer on picking the date and manner of these elections.

Civilians on either side of the partition line will have a year to live in.

The military partition line is thus in theory a temporary one, but most officials here concede this probably will become a political and ideological frontier similar to East-West borders in Germany and Korea.

The American delegation, witnessed the signing for the United States.

The ceremony climaxed three months of tedious negotiations here, including a month-long furious race against time by French Premier Pierre Mendes-France who had said he would resign if he failed to obtain an armistice by July 20.

The premier ran over his time limit a few hours but this was a mere technicality. The signing followed a meeting that stretched into the early hours of the morning.

The agreements had been virtually completed Tuesday night. Part of the delay was because of time needed to prepare texts of the agreements and check their translations.

At the end of the ceremony, the members of the French group stood and shook hands among themselves as if to congratulate themselves and their premier on making his deadline.

Armistice Divides Viet Nam at Slim Waist

The slim central section of Viet Nam, the coastal state of Indochina, is the scene of the armistice line agreed upon Wednesday at Geneva by the French and Vietminh. The large black arrow in the map indicates the 17th parallel where the truce line lies. The other two Indochina states, Cambodia to the south and Laos to the north were "neutralized" by the armistice. (Story on page one.)

Midwest Heat Wave Relaxes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Cool Canadian air brought a brief respite Tuesday to the Midwest from a two-week long heat wave which claimed at least 267 lives and mounting crop, livestock and poultry losses.

But, farther south, the oven-like temperatures and drought continued. Ponca City, Okla., and Salina, Kan., marked up 104 degrees at midday. Emporia, Kan., reported 103.

The U. S. Weather Bureau's weather and crop survey indicated serious damage to corn and some other crops in Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, and the southern portions of Iowa, Illinois and Indiana from heat and dryness of the past week.

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Montana's senior senator, Democrat James E. Murray and veteran Republican Rep. Wesley A. D'Ewart moved quickly into commanding leads Tuesday night for their party's nominations to the U. S. Senate. The Montana primary wound up one of the state's quietest campaigns in years.

Rep. Norblad Back After Europe Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Norblad (R-Ore.) returned Tuesday after nearly a month in Europe with a special House committee investigating the international Communist conspiracy.

Not a regular member of the committee, he was named to replace Rep. Bentley (R-Mich.), who was unable to make the trip.

Hearings were held primarily at Munich, Germany. Witnesses included several high former government officials of countries now under Russian control, refugees and Communist defectors.

"The brutalities and atrocities to which all the witnesses testified were just unbelievable," Norblad said.

He said the testimony indicated general dissatisfaction with Russian domination but that there appeared "little chance of a general uprising by the people within these countries because of the secret police and the brutality which has occurred."
