Aide to Beria Shot For 'Doctor's Plot'

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda announced Friday the execution of M. D. Ryumin, chief henchman of the late Police Chief Lavrenty Beria. Ryumin was accused of master-minding the notorious "doctor's plot."

Progress Toward Balanced Budget Elates President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower announced Thursday, with considerable pride, that the federal government's deficit on June 30 was $3,029,000,000, or $245,000,000 less than had been expected in January.

In other comparisons, he listed the $6,411,000,000 in-the-red showing of a year earlier, and the $9,822,000,000 deficit President Truman had estimated in his final budget would be the deficit on June 30, 1954.

Millworker Found at Home

Hunt Started After Report Of Warning

REDMOND (AP) — A Ponderosa Lumber Sales mill worker here, who failed to show up for work after reporting he had been threatened with blacklisting for passing a picket line, was found safe in his home Thursday night after police had spent the day looking for him.

The worker, Lee Sala, said he started out for the plant, decided to take a back road and had a flat tire. He said he then decided not to go to work, went to sleep in his car and returned home later.

Marshall Elliott, president and general manager of Ponderosa, said Sala notified him he was leaving for work. Elliott said he went to meet Sala, spotted his car at the fairgrounds but lost it when he turned onto the Prineville Highway.

City police of Prineville, Bend and Redmond and state police hunted Sala all day. They said they failed to find any trace of him or the car. His wife, however, said she was not concerned for his safety.

Elliott said Sala told him a delegation of 12 union men called on him Wednesday night and told him he would be blacklisted again. Sala, a member of the CIO Woodworkers with 25 years at the mill, is one of those who have gone through the picket line at the reopened mill.

Some Dissension Thursday, a committee of citizens was on hand as a caravan of cars, moving bumper to bumper, took 55 workers into the plant again as they have for the past four days. The committee appeared after several of those going through picket lines said they had been threatened by telephone. Two women were on the picket line Thursday.

Railroad detectives supervised the moving of box cars into the plant. There has been some dissension here over the strike at the Ponderosa plant while other pine mills in Oregon have continued to operate.

IT SEEMS TO ME

By Charles A. Sprague

Fairbanks, Alaska, July 19 — The University of Alaska, where we are temporarily domiciled, by lucky misfortune, is the "farthest north" university. It is a young institution, but has already attained a place for itself in specialized fields. Here is one of the outstanding geophysical laboratories in the country, staffed by topflight scientists. It is actually a cooperative project with various government agencies, and specializes in astrophysics. Dean Eldridge of the laboratory showed us around and explained the nature of their work.

Specific areas of study are the aurora borealis (northern lights) which are emanations from the sun reaching the earth's magnetic field. The studies have a practical value because of electric interference from the aurora; and so are important in national defense (radar), communications, aeronautics. The atmosphere is regularly tested for its ozone content, and extra-terrestrial noises are charted for their intensity.

The university also is distinguished for its school of mines and for its division on wild life, both of which are particularly well adapted to the territory. President Ernest Patty (who was born in LaGrande and is a graduate of high school in Portland) was head of the school of mines for many years, then engaged in gold-mining himself, with success. He is and is finding here a challenging opportunity to build a university to serve a great and developing region. He and Mrs. Patty were good enough to take us out to (Continued on Editorial Page 4)

Censorship Ruled Illegal For Dorman

Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton ruled Thursday that state finance director Harry Dorman can't censor state publications.

Thornton ruled that Dorman can change copy in those publications only for reasons of economy, and that he must do this without changing the meaning of the copy, and without omitting any statement of fact.

The controversy over Dorman's censorship powers started when Rep. Maurice Neuberger, Portland Democrat, asked that the State Milk Marketing Administration's Publication quit carrying articles favorable to milk control.

An initiative to repeal milk control will appear on the November ballot.

Thornton's opinion, asked by Marshall N. Dana, Portland, member of the state board of agriculture, would make it impossible for Dorman to control publication of such articles, except for reasons of economy.

Legionnaire Raps Petition For Cordon

COOS BAY (AP) — A Democrat delegate Thursday complained that supporters of Sen. Guy Cordon had violated the non-partisan provisions of the American Legion's constitution at the legion state convention here this week.

The Cordon group denied this. Elwood Hussey, Cave Junction, former chairman of the Josephine County Democratic Central Committee, charged that Cordon's backers violated the provisions by circulating petitions pledging support of the senator in his campaign for re-election.

Hussey said he had been approached twice with petitions during business meetings although he did not indicate whether he was on the convention floor at the times.

"Several other persons also have been approached by the petition circulators who apparently wish to convey the impression that Cordon has Legion endorsement," he said. "It is the most brazen politicking I have ever seen in my years with the American Legion."

Kelly Owens, Salem automobile dealer, said he was a member of the Non-partisan Veterans' Committee for Cordon, which circulated the petitions. He added that more than 600 persons had signed them but none were on the convention floor when approached.

The petition was headed: "We, the undersigned voters of Oregon, pledge our support for the reelection of U.S. Senator Guy Cordon."

Berlin (AP) — West Germany's anti-spy chief, Dr. Otto John, has disappeared mysteriously in Soviet-run East Berlin. The Bonn Interior Ministry charged Thursday Communist kidnaping him. West Berlin police said a note left behind said he did not want to return West.

If he was kidnaped, the Communists landed a major prize. Like U. S. CIA.

John, 44, headed the Federal Office for Protection of the Constitution, which is charged with safeguarding the West German republic against treasonable and subversive activities. The office is comparable in many respects to the Central Intelligence Agency in the United States.

In Washington, officials reported John had visited the United States in June and conferred with Allen W. Dulles, CIA head. The visit was described as unofficial.

As chief of the anti-subversion office, John has an intimate knowledge of anti-subversive operations in his own territory and of West German intelligence sources in Russian-occupied East Germany.

John has not been seen since he left his hotel in Allied West Berlin in a taxi Tuesday evening. Police said he called a doctor friend and the two went together to the Soviet sector.

U. S., Britain Agree to Join SE Asia Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Britain have agreed to join in calling an international conference of about 10 nations by Sept. 1 to create an anti-Communist Southeast Asian alliance. Consultations with friendly nations which may participate are already being held.

The aim of the conference will be to conclude a defensive treaty that would post "no trespassing" warnings for the Communists along the borders of South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia in Indochina, and of Thailand and Burma.

The British agreement to hold a meeting by Sept. 1 apparently represents a concession of timing by Foreign Secretary Eden. Earlier information had been that Eden believed many months would be required to work out the proposed pact.

Secretary of State Dulles had sought creation of the alliance as a matter of urgency. He believes immediate creation of anti-Communist strength in Southeast Asia is necessary in view of Communist gains through the Indochina peace settlement reached at Geneva.

ALBANY — Everett Gilman, 44, a Hillsboro logger, was killed instantly when struck by a falling tree Thursday morning while working in the woods near Idanha.

According to Linn County Sheriff George Miller, Gilman was falling trees on Blowout Creek for the Elison Logging Co. of Forest Grove, when a tree toppled over and crushed him underneath. His companion, Alvin Colson, escaped injury.

Gilman is survived by his widow and four children at Hillsboro. The body was taken to Stayton.

Hoffman, Douglas Endorse McCarthy Censure Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — Public relations counsel for 23 prominent citizens announced Thursday the group is telegraphing Senate members urging them to support a proposed resolution of censure against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

The telegrams endorsed by a censure resolution proposed by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) as a move to curb the flagrant abuse of power by Sen. McCarthy.

Among the announced signers are Paul G. Hoffman, former foreign aid administrator; Lewis W. Douglas, former ambassador to Britain and former budget director; Will Clayton, a former undersecretary of state, and other nationally known figures.

Hoffman was a prominent member of the Citizens-For-Eisenhower Committee in 1952. Douglas also supported Eisenhower in the presidential campaign that year. Both men had previously held high positions in the Democratic administrations of former President Truman.

Another signer was Howard C. Petersen, a Philadelphia banker who was finance chairman of the Eisenhower for president national committee in 1952.

SILVERTON—A reunion was staged at Silverton Thursday, when a 1915 Ford automobile, the first owner, the second owner and the present owner all got together. Reber Allen, left, who had the Ford Agency at Silverton at that time, sold the car to Joe Winters, right, as new. Winters ran the car until 1924 when he sold it to Mike Stine, a Silverton painter. Charles Borie, at the wheel, a collector of oddities in cars, is present owner. (Larson Photo for The Statesman.)

Strike Effects Seen Slight in Salem Area

Two hundred Oregon Pulp and Paper Co. employees in Salem are still off their jobs this week as a strike of AFL and CIO lumber workers goes into its second month.

The strike was called June 21 by the AFL Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union. About 50 CIO boom workers joined the 150 AFL members who went out on strike. Workers at a second Salem plant, the Capitol Lumber Co., voted to stay on their jobs.

No strike negotiations are being conducted in Salem. Oregon Pulp and Paper Co. is represented by a Willamette Valley operators' group which is bargaining in Eugene with the striking unions.

Temporary Jobs Gaylord Hibbs, representative of the AFL union, said Thursday that many of the striking members had found temporary jobs harvesting crops and working in canneries.

Hibbs said none of the strikers appeared to be having serious financial difficulties. "So far, there has been no call for strike benefits from the union," he reported.

The manager of the Salem office of the State Employment Service, Harold O. Roessler, said the effects of the lumber industry strikes have been less severe in Salem than in Dallas and Lyons. He estimated that about 1,200 people in Marion and Polk counties are directly affected by the strikes.

Kept No Figures Since the strikers are not eligible for unemployment compensation, Roessler said, the office has kept no registration figures on the number who are looking for temporary work during the strike.

Oregon Pulp and Paper Co. is continuing to operate its retail yard, paper plant and factory while the sawmill is closed by the strike, manager E. A. Linden said Thursday.

The paper plant, which employs about 500 workers, is using logs that were stored before the strike began. Karl Heinlein, manager of the paper division, said there are enough logs on hand to last until October.

Ike Accepts Bid Of Congressmen For Visit to NW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has accepted an invitation to speak at ceremonies dedicating the Northwest's McNary Dam next fall.

He will deliver an address sometime during the morning of September 23 at the dam site. He will fly to Walla Walla in the presidential plane, stay overnight in Walla Walla before the ceremonies, and leave immediately after for Denver or the East Coast.

Earlier this week, a Washington and Oregon congressional delegation visited the president and asked him to attend the ceremonies.

Polio Strikes 2 Youngsters In Linn County

ALBANY — Two Halsey children were stricken with poliomyelitis this week, bringing to three the number stricken in this area during the past three weeks.

The children are neighborhood playmates. They are Steven Cox, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Royal Cox, 840 Columbus St., in Halsey and Rusty Stewart, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Stewart, who live across the street from the Cox family at 830 Columbus St.

Both boys were stricken earlier this week and diagnosis was made Tuesday. Neither of the two is reported in critical condition.

The Cox boy is in Sacred Heart Hospital in Eugene with his left arm, neck and shoulders affected by the disease. The Stewart boy is being treated at home. His parents described his case as a "mild" attack.

Mrs. George Chambers, wife of the Albany city recreational director, was stricken about three weeks ago and is being treated at the Eugene hospital.

Blaze Spreads In Klamath Pine Forest

KLAMATH FALLS (AP) — Fire broke out late Thursday in a large stand of Ponderosa pine on the Klamath Indian reservation and had burned over 60 acres by nightfall.

The blaze still was out of control and threatened other valuable timber, but all available men and equipment were on the lines fighting it.

The fire was burning about 5 miles north of Chillicothe, which is some 40 miles north of here. The timber is on high mountain ridges, and fighters had to use bulldozers to get access.

Soil Conservation Service, U. S. Forest Service and regular Indian reservation crews were trying to control the fire, which is the first of the season in this area.

PORTLAND (AP) — Fire danger increased in southwestern Oregon Thursday and the Weather Bureau forecast sunny skies would continue at least temporarily, except in Northwest Oregon.

Elsewhere in the state fire danger remained moderate. In Central Oregon, Bend had sub-freezing weather for the second straight morning Thursday with 31 degrees.

Officials Decide Against Action In Klamath Court-DA Dispute

Gov. Paul L. Patterson, Chief Justice Earl C. Latourette and Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton decided Thursday they could do nothing further to solve the Klamath County dispute that has tied up circuit court trials in that county.

The three officials, meeting with Glenn Jack, Oregon City, heard the report of Jonell Hill, Latourette's administrative assistant, who was sent to Klamath County last week to investigate the feud between Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg and Dist. Atty. Frank R. Alderson.

Debate Limit Vote in Mill; Defeat Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate recessed for 25 minutes early Friday, breaking a continuous session that had run for 39 hours and 35 minutes in a battle over an administration atomic bill.

On motion of Republican Leader Knowland of California, the Senate voted without dissent to recess at 1:35 a. m. (EDT) until 2 a. m. This was a parliamentary maneuver to clear the way for a vote by Monday on a cloture or debate limitation motion filed earlier by Knowland.

Start New Session After the 25-minute recess, the Senate started a new legislative day and the marathon debate was resumed with Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) launching into a lengthy speech.

However, the brief break technically brought a halt to a continuous session that had started at 10 a. m. on Wednesday and ran on to become the third longest recorded session in Senate history.

The 39 hours and 35 minutes that the Senate was in session around the clock was the longest, with two exceptions, of any shown in records kept by the Senate press gallery.

Close to Record The Senate met around the clock for 44 hours and 14 minutes in 1948 in the windup of a congressional session, but the longest continuous session was in 1915. At that time, in a fight over a ship purchase act, the Senate met for 54 hours and 10 minutes without a break.

The Senate met around the clock for 44 hours and 14 minutes in 1948 in the windup of a congressional session, but the longest continuous session was in 1915. At that time, in a fight over a ship purchase act, the Senate met for 54 hours and 10 minutes without a break.

Knowland's cloture move, considered a drastic parliamentary procedure, requires votes of 64 senators to be effective. It came after Knowland had effectively employed another seldom-used tactic — tabling an amendment or killing it without debate.

Before offering the cloture petition, Knowland made a final attempt to limit debate on the bill and all amendments, holding out an offer to "recess until noon" to let weary senators get some sleep. (Story also on page 2.)

Backed by Republicans When this was rejected Knowland then sent forward the cloture petition. Reading of the signatures on it indicated most of the Republicans had backed the effort.

But to be effective, a large number of Democrats also must vote for it to produce the necessary 64 and that appeared uncertain.

"We've had the full arsenal of parliamentary procedure wheeled out here tonight," Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said blithely after Knowland filed the cloture petition. He accused Knowland of coming armed with "atomic political bombs" but, said Humphrey, "he's going to drop one too many."

Tough To Get Votes Humphrey recalled that under the rules it takes 64 votes to put cloture into effect, and he said it was going to be "tough" for Knowland to get the necessary votes.

The Minnesota said that the Senate was moving along with the bill and had passed three or four "significant" amendments since the round-the-clock session started and yet "now we find the final weapon used against us."

Humphrey declared, "They'll never get the 64 votes needed to cut off debate."

Picnic Weather Set for Weekend

It'll be potato-salad weather for the weekend with fair skies and warmer temperatures, the U. S. Weather Bureau at McNary Field reported early today.

"Continued fair and warmer today, tonight, Saturday and Sunday," was the way the weatherman put it. The mercury is expected to climb to about 90 degrees today, which will be several degrees hotter than Thursday's reading.
