IT SEEMS TO ME

By Charles A. Sprague I went to Alaska not only for a vacation but also to learn something about this immense territory which looms large in the day's news.

The first impression one gets is of the vast size of Alaska: The numbers, 586,400 sq. mil. in area, are better comprehended when put on a comparative basis. The area of continental United States exclusive of Alaska is just over 3,000,000 sq. mi., so Alaska is nearly one-fifth of the whole USA.

Not only is its bulk huge but its spread is very wide. Take a map of Alaska and superimpose it on one of the United States. With the tip of Southeastern Alaska resting on the Atlantic ocean at about Savannah, Ga., Point Barrow would touch the northern boundary of the country, and Attu, the tip of the Aleutian chain, would lie somewhere.

Run-Off Vote Likely in Texas Governorship

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers and Ralph Yarborough apparently will carry the bitter battle between conservative and liberal Democrats into a runoff election for the governorship of Texas.

Shivers, the champion of conservatives, held a 17,158 vote lead over liberal Yarborough at 6:30 p.m. (CST) Sunday night out of 1,273,100 votes counted on Saturday's primary.

Between 60 and 80 thousand votes were still to be tabulated by the Texas Election Bureau, an unofficial vote-gathering agency supported by Texas newspapers and radio stations.

It looks like a runoff, Robert L. Johnson, manager of the election bureau, said after the final tabulation of the night. Counting will be resumed Monday morning.

4 Pathologists Say Heir Died Natural Death

CHICAGO (AP)—Four pathologists probing the death of Montgomery Ward Thorne have found that the 20-year-old heir to a mail order fortune died of natural causes, one of the pathologists said Sunday.

Thorne's body was found June 19 in his $75-a-month near North Side apartment. Cause of death could not be determined immediately, and a physician in the corner's office hinted the youth may have died of foul play.

Dr. Otto Saphir, University of Illinois pathologist and head of the department of pathology at Michael Reese Hospital, said the findings will be reported to Coroner Walter E. McCarron this week.

Legal experts said this will leave McCarron no alternative but to adjourn the inquest which has been going on intermittently for six weeks.

Dr. Saphir and three other Chicago pathologists—Dr. Jerry Kearns, coroner's pathologist, Dr. Edwin F. Hirsch, head of the pathology department at St. Luke's Hospital and Dr. John Sheehan, pathology department head at Loyola University's Stritch School of Medicine—were summoned by McCarron to determine the cause of death.

Dr. Saphir said the death was natural and the findings will be given as soon as Dr. Kearns is released from a Chicago hospital where he is undergoing treatment.

Bread Sales Brisker Than Usual in Area

Business at bread counters in Salem area markets was generally brisker than usual Sunday on the eve of today's lift in prices—but demand did not reach the point where customers were standing in line.

Reports from various concerns varied all the way from complete sell-out of stocks to "business as usual."

Prices on most commonly used bread loaves will jump two cents today. Large loaves will go from 26 to 28 cents and on variety types from 21 to 23 cents. Small-size loaves will climb from 19 to 20 cents.

Stocks Nearly Gone Erickson's Market on North Portland Road reported stocks almost completely gone after heavy Sunday business. Berg's Center St. firm likewise said bread traffic was exceptionally heavy, with stock being replenished toward evening.

Dickson's Market on the south fringes of Salem also reported bread stocks virtually sold out by Sunday night. A like report came from State Street Market.

On the other hand, business was about as usual in other stores. The Safeway concern on South Commercial St. reported ordinary sales of bread as did Ladd's Market on S. 12th St.

"Normal Trade" "Just a normal trade," was the word from the Berg Market in the Keizer area.

Erickson's Market on East State St. reported no unusual sales. Vista Market on South Commercial St. said bread stocks were pretty well cleaned out—but added that this is a usual thing on Sunday.

The two major Salem bakeries, Master Bread and Benson Baking Co., are raising prices on bread and other products in line with a general price raise initiated by large Portland firms.
