HOLLYWOOD-LIVE FROM MEXICO CITY: "Comedy Hour" and NBC are whipping up something sparkling new and tremendously interesting below the border for fast arriving 1955. It's an hour long all Mexican show direct from Mexico City-if transmitting and relaying facilities lacking now are established as planned. It's a great idea and could open up a wide new vista for the jaded video appetite. Telemogul Emilio Ascarstay in Mexico City, is in on the deal which we hope will develop into a regular program from down yonder. If machinery is set up and oiled as expected the beam can point the other way, too. Hollywood and New York will probably aim some live shows that a way and the result of the two way traffic is bound to be better international relations as well as happier hours

Some of that well known Friday night dullness has been polished up by Jack Carson's show, which just saw George Gobel returning the compliment for Jack's recent appearance on the Gobel show. Visiting Jack's new effort, George was the asset everyone knew he'd be, but Jack himself is doing quite well, thank you. Their horseplay over Gobel's huge guitar was droll stuff a huge segment of the nation has proven it goes for by immediately accepting lots of it on George's Saturday night spot.

TOUGH PULLS ON A DOWNHILL GRADE: It's Red Skelton versus Milton Berle these days in the same time slot on opposite networks - and we honestly don't know which is going down hill the fastest. Red's trouble is obviously format and scripts which HOUR settled down into a repetitious groove too long ago for alarmed CBS's comfort. We like to think Miltie's skids have been greased from the same beat up can, but we're afraid he, himself, has lost his touch - we hope we're wrong.

Skelton's show was sparked by the beauteous presence and songs of Gloria DeHaven but it would have taken Jackie's huge line-up of cuties to distract us from the tired quality of Red's humor. Weakness showed everywhere through its worn and tattered lines.
