

McCarthy Offers Retraction; Senate to Vote Wednesday

SEEMS TO ME

By Charles S. Sprague

A real battle is shaping up over resource use in Lane County. Involved is a proposal to lop off 46,000 acres from the Three Sisters Primitive Area, opening that portion to logging. Another controversy is developing over the application of the Eugene Water Board for permits looking to constructing hydro electric dams on the upper reaches of the McKenzie River. Another potential source of argument is Waldo Lake which lies along the crest of the Cascade Mountains in Southeastern Lane County. Eastern Oregon irrigators are said to be casting eyes on this lake as a possible reservoir for water for irrigation.

The state convention of Izaak Walton Leagues meeting in Portland last week adopted strong resolutions in opposition to the Water Board development of the McKenzie power sites, and another resolution asking for delay in any decision on revising the boundaries of the Primitive Area about Three Sisters. The Eugene Izaak Walton League wants the Forest Service to attach a restricted recreational control to the Waldo Lake area and the state convention concurred, not without some protest from Eastern Oregon delegates.

The first of the three which will come to a head is the proposal to reduce the area reserved as wilderness around the Three Sisters. Outdoor clubs which take a keen interest in preserving the wilderness are becoming active in opposing a cut of the magnitude which is suggested. In particular they ask that the boundary be fixed at the top of the ridge on the western side of.

Defends Views, But Willing to Curb Language

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) won Senate agreement Monday night to wind up debate and start voting Wednesday on the question of censuring him.

Sen. Langer (R-ND) blocked the move for a while, but withdrew his objection after earnest appeals on the Senate floor by Republican and Democratic leaders — as well as by McCarthy and his supporters.

The action came after McCarthy, his right arm in a sling, dramatically offered to withdraw any "discourteous and offensive" language of the kind that led to the filing of censure charges against him.

At the same time the Wisconsin senator refused to back down an inch from the views and actions reflected in those words of his.

Facts 'Unchanged'

"In the facts and opinions that I held, I am unchanged," declared McCarthy, a slow-gaited figure of apparent weariness as the resumed Senate debate on the censure charges dragged through an all afternoon and early evening session.

McCarthy tried at one point to get in a provision that he could file some censure charges of his own against his accusers.

Under the rules, this would give those accused — McCarthy named Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Morse (Ind-Ore) as likely targets — only 30 minutes to defend themselves.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) called this a "flagrant violation" of fair play rules and in the end McCarthy abandoned the idea.

Pope Confined To Bed With Hiccup Attack

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius XII, stricken with a gastric disturbance and hiccups for the second time this year, was confined to his bed and placed on a strict diet Monday.

His private physician, Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, has spent the last three nights in a room adjoining the Pope's bed chamber. He is continuing a series of injections to rebuild the strength of the weary, 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church.

Monday, L'Osservatore Romano, in one of its rare references to the pontiff's health said that he needs rest.

The Vatican newspaper said the Pope's doctors considered rest "indispensable, especially because of a period of more intensive activity which his holiness had to sustain in these last few months."

His ailment is not considered to be as grave now as formerly, but some concern is felt because of the pontiff's advanced age. He will be 79 March 2, the 16th anniversary of his election to St. Peter's throne.

Insane Criminals Riot In New Jersey Hospital

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — Twenty-three insane criminals, including killer Howard Unruh, rioted Monday for two hours at the New Jersey state hospital, then meekly stripped off all their clothing and surrendered.

Unruh, described by officials as a disinterested participant, was committed to the hospital five years ago after he killed 13 persons in a shooting spree at Camden.

The naked, cold and wet rioters filed out of the dining hall where they had barricaded themselves after Atty. Gen. Grocer C. Richmond Jr. and U. S. District Judge Phillip Forman talked to an inmate in whose sympathy they had taken part.

Dr. Harold Magee, hospital director, said a "hard core of five inmates" started the riot at dinner time, wrecking chairs and tables and eventually setting some of them on fire.

The inmates held 54-year-old attendant Earl Hubbard prisoner in the dining hall of the room detention building during the riot. Magee said Hubbard was held by the arms by two inmates while others hit him. Hubbard suffered head injuries.

One Thousand 'Saxons' Parade Through Salem in Victory Serpentine

Victory yells on every lip, a thousand "Saxons" of South Salem High School showed off their championship football team Monday in a deafening, traffic-blocking, street-dancing parade through and in downtown Salem. Entire student body strung out for three blocks behind the school band and the football players who were put on full public view in convertibles. The Saxon team won this accolade by fighting through 12 football games, undefeated, to win, with Marshfield, the state co-championship. (Statesman Photo.)

Testimonials Mount For Saxon Gridders

Public testimonials began piling up Monday for the South Salem High School's state co-champion football team.

Noisily spontaneous was the testimonial of the Saxons' own student body which marched, danced and yelled its way from the school to and through downtown Salem Monday afternoon, just after the football team received its big trophy from the Oregon School Activities Association in a school assembly.

Two testimonial "feeds" were announced by Salem organizations before the day was out.

Young Life will honor the team at a banquet Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in the Marion Hotel. Young Life is a Christian youth organization with an inspirational program in which most of the team has taken part.

A Salem civic luncheon honoring the Saxons is planned for Monday, Dec. 13, at Salem Armory by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

These events are expected to demonstrate the admiration of Salem adults for the South Salem football record, but they won't likely serve to outshout the great rally in downtown Salem yesterday.

Snaking three blocks long behind their team, the South Salem students filled the business street with high enthusiasm, finally massed at State and Liberty Streets intersection for a yell session led by their principal Carl Aschenbrenner and the yell squad.

Plans for the Wednesday night banquet place Mayor Alfred W. Loucks as master of ceremonies and Mark Hatfield, Willamette University dean of students, and William Star, Washington state Young Life director from Spokane, as speakers.

Team members and coaches will be guests of the Young Life and a group of Salem businessmen at the affair, which is open also to parents of the players and to other citizens who make reservations at the hotel by Wednesday noon.

For the Dec. 13 armory luncheon, the Jaycees are planning to obtain out-of-city speakers and make a big show of the public occasion.

Salem Chamber of Commerce will give up its meeting that Monday in favor of joining in the celebration and service clubs and other organizations are being invited to take part, too.

In winning the state's co-championship in the school's very first year, the South Salem football players went undefeated through 12 games. They came out tied 13-13 with Marshfield in the state championship game in Portland last Friday.

Five other attendants were hurt when they smashed windows and jumped 12 feet to a courtyard below the dining hall.

Magee said the riot started at 4:25 p. m. when 303 of the inmates were in the dining hall for their evening meal. He said they started "shouting, yelling and breaking up furniture."

Five attendants slammed the door of the dining hall shut and then released the prisoner-patients who wanted to leave one at a time.

Magee said 11 attendants were still in the dining room and 10 of them led 40 patients out by smashing windows and jumping to the courtyard. Hubbard was grabbed by the patients and did not get out until they were ready to end the riot.

The 23 inmates who remained brandished kitchen knives and attempted to set fire to the dining hall. The fire was put out.

Dr. F. Lowell Dixby, acting commissioner of institutions and agencies, said the cause of the riot was apparently a grievance held by Thomas Fletcher, a 50-year-old patient.

He said Fletcher had been complaining that he was unjustly committed on a charge of sending threatening letters.

Commercial Bank Opens Building Bids

Low bidder for the new Commercial Bank building to be erected at the northwest corner of Church and Chemeketa Streets was Robert D. Morrow, Salem builder. The base bid was $95,900.

The contract is expected to be awarded this week. There were four other bidders, the bids being received at a meeting of the directors at the temporary offices in the Griffin Building.

Richard F. Hauge who resides at 2225 Center St., Salem, was elected cashier of the new institution.

Hauge has lived in Salem the past 20 years. He was formerly with the U. S. National Bank here and then with the Pioneer Trust Co. Since May he has been connected with the Commercial Bank of Oregon branch at Tillamook. His family has continued to reside here.

Don P. Peterson, president, has moved from Hood River to Salem to begin his duties with the bank which is scheduled to open for business on Jan. 3, 1955.

Police Call Phone Stolen in Portland

PORTLAND (AP) — Thievery took an odd turn in Portland Monday. One thief stole the telephone out of a police call box at a downtown street corner.

Another took a television set from a motel. It was the kind, however, designed for play only if he kept putting 25-cent pieces into a slot.

Nerves, Tension Big Cause of Ailments, Says Doctor of Year

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Reporter MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The "Family Doctor of 1954"—Dr. Karl B. Pace of Greenville, N.C.—Monday put his finger on "nerves and tension" as one of the biggest causes of American sickness, and prescribed some antidotes:

"Live each day as it comes—don't worry about next week."

"Learn to live instead of trying to get rich."

"Never stay mad."

"Start out by liking everyone you meet."

"Take a siesta after lunch, to help you relax."

And if marital quarrels are causing your ulcer, headache or other pains, "I tell a husband or wife—if either one of you tried one-twentieth as hard to make a go of your marriage as you do finding fault with each other, you'd probably have no problem. And never go to bed mad at each other."

Malenkov Asks East Military Bloc Formed

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov called Monday for a formal Eastern military bloc including East Germany to counter the system of alliances the West is building up.

Molotov addressed the opening session of the Communists' European Collective Security Conference in the white marble hall of Spiridonovka Palace. Soviet officials had invited 25 countries, but Western powers turned down the bid.

Delegations of seven Communist-ruled European countries and six of the Soviet Union's republics showed up, along with observers from Red China.

The Soviet foreign minister began his keynote speech by declaring recent events and the possibly imminent ratification of the Paris agreements to rearm West Germany have led to a "perilous course, dangerous for peace" in Europe.

He called on the countries represented at the Moscow conference to "consolidate their forces and considerably strengthen them in case the Paris agreements are ratified."

Molotov urged the Western powers to abandon their course and agree:

"1. By all means prevent a revival of German militarism which unleashed the first and second world wars and at last get down to the business of settling the German question on the basis of an agreement between the four powers (Russia, Britain, France and the United States) which have the main responsibility for insuring the peace and security of Europe."

"2. Create a system of collective security in Europe with the participation of all states interested in the preservation of peace and security, irrespective of their social systems, and also discuss existing Soviet proposals as well as those which might be presented by other countries."

Truck, Not Sub, Sinks Ferry on Willamette River

Half of Marion County's fleet lies at the bottom of the Willamette River and a bulldozer is going to attempt to raise the sunken half.

Sabotage is not suspected nor are enemy submarines. An overload of cement is blamed.

The county operates two ferries across the Willamette, one at Wheatland, the other at Buena Vista.

The latter sank Monday when a truck load of cement proved a bit too heavy. No one was hurt.

The County Court plans to send a bulldozer to the rescue, which it is hoped will be able to pull the ferry to shore for repairs.

Blockade Of China Shelved

Dulles Says U.S. to Meet Asian 'Provocations'

CHICAGO (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles declared Monday night the United States will "re-act vigorously" against Communist provocation in Asia but he ruled out for the present any "war action such as a naval and air blockade of Red China."

The secretary said that, in contrast to soft talk from Moscow, the Chinese Communists "have talked and acted with increasing violence."

"They break their armistice agreements and they outrage the elemental decency of international conduct," Dulles said.

He addressed 1,200 farm youths and their adult leaders at the 4-H Club Congress.

Dulles departed from his text to make parts of his speech more specific.

"Our nation will react, and react vigorously, in the protection of our citizens, but without allowing ourselves to be provoked into action which would be a violation of our international obligations and which would impair the alliance of the free nations."

The reference to protecting U. S. citizens was added to the original text.

"What has happened in China is a challenge to us," he said. The words "in China" were not in his original text.

The dinner speech was not broadcast or televised. After talking to the 4-H Club members — who have come to Chicago from all over the United States for their 33rd annual meeting — Dulles went to a studio to repeat his words on a national TV-radio hook-up (NBC).

Loud Applause The 4-H young people applauded him loudly.

He spoke out after Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California, called for a tight blockade on the Chinese Communist coast in retaliation for the Peiping regime's imprisonment of 13 Americans on what the State Department has called trumped up spy charges.

The speech had been billed in advance as a major address.

Dulles said America's greatest contribution to peace "is to be ready to fight, if need be."

"That does not mean being truculent or provocative or militaristic," he said.

The secretary also said the United States will be vigilant against any trickery in words like "co-existence."

"Less War Danger" In saying that the Chinese have been acting more violently, Dulles also said that at the same time "there is less danger of world war than seemed to be the case a few years ago."

He repeated America's policy is to have enough striking power to respond against any new Communist aggression at a place and with the means of its own choosing.
