Shortstop Awarded Honor Over Gomez

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

Harvey Kuenn, 1953 baseball rookie of the year, Monday gained the sophomore-of-the-year distinction for 1954 in a poll of sports writers and sports casters throughout the nation. The spectacular 24-year-old shortstop of the Detroit Tigers won The Associated Press award by defying the sophomore jinx with a .306 batting mark that included 201 hits. Only one other major leaguer, Nellie Fox of the Chicago White Sox, made as many hits. Kuenn was in front all the way, attracting almost four times as many votes as runner-up Ruben Gomez, the New York Giants' youthful righthander. The former athlete received 205 votes to Gomez' 55. The Puerto Rican pitcher, therefore, must get the National League sophomore vote.

Seventeen second year men received recognition. Ray Jablonski, slugging third baseman recently traded by the St. Louis Cardinals to Cincinnati, was third with 30 votes. Strikeout star Bob Turley, another transferred athlete-from Baltimore to the New York Yankees-was fourth with 28 and Jimmy Greengrass, Cincinnati outfielder, was fifth with 22.

Kuenn, one of the real natural hitters of the game, got off a slow start but batted around the .350 mark after the all-star game break to finish above .300 for the second straight year. He hit .308 in his rookie season.

The personable 6-2 athlete also has developed into a good fielder, thanks to the tutorship of the veteran Johnny Pesky, who unselfishly spent many hours with the youngster teaching him how to make the double play and many other tricks of the trade.

SYDNEY A - Harry Hopman tabbed Tony Trabert as the No. 1 threat to Australia's hold on the 1 Davis Cup Monday after the challenge round rivals whipped through a brisk four-hour tennis workout at White City Stadium.

(Continued from preceding page) But in the second quarter the Big Ten has tallied 46 times, to 21 for the Coast. The same applies for the third period, with the Big Ten in front, 42-27. But the final quarter holds the real jolt, with 99 points for the Big Ten, to a mere 6 for the PCC . The additional period of grace granted the defunt Western International League baseball clubs by Czar George Trautman is a welcome one, for it will give the WIL'ers almost another month in which to sell off players who would have otherwise been free agents on December 15, when the league officially succumbed.

For example, Generalissimo Luby of the Senators believes he can sell Gene Tanselli to the San Diego club. And there may be a chance to peddle both Connie Perez and Jimmy Deyo. Luby now has until January 10 to make any such moves, as after that all WIL chattels of last season are free agents.

As for Mel (Tarzan) Krause, who blossomed into quite a ballplayer in his first whirl at pro play last summer. Luby is in high hopes that Mel will again sign with the Senators even after he has been given his free agency in January. A coach in the Portland schools system who cannot go to spring training in April, Krause would still find the local setup much to his liking. He could play in local games right from the start, and still handle his Portland classroom assignments just as he did last season when he commuted between here and Eugene. Then when school recessed, the strong-armed outfielder could join the club on a regular basis.

Eugene May Be After Him Also

There may be an opposing offer on Krause from the Eugene Emeralds, since Mel is so well known and popular in the Eugene area. But he's sure to find that it would be much easier on him during April and May were he jumping back and forth to Salem rather than Eugene. We at least hope he feels that way about it when

As feared when the news of it came out, Tacoma is not now interested in becoming the eighth member of the new Northwest League—not since the Seattle Rainler's Dewey Soriano proclaim-TV outlet. Competing against the telecasts of Coast League base-ball right in their own city is deemed too much of a hurdle by those who were previously behind a Tacoma entry into the Northwest circuit.

So the NW loop now finds itself with an unbalanced seven members and reason to believe the Soriano hasn't done right by the area which was instrumental in providing him with a push toward the general managership he now has with Seattle.
