U. S. Places Picture Ban On Russians

WASHINGTON (UP)—The State Department planned Wednesday to bar Russians in the United States from photographing or sketching strategic areas.

The new restrictions will represent the second move in a two-barreled United States effort to get Russia to ease stiff restrictions on activities of foreigners in the Soviet Union. Two weeks ago the United States placed about 27 per cent of this nation "off limits" to Soviet travelers in a tit-for-tat measure against similar travel controls on Americans in Russia.

Officials declined to discuss the matter of picture controls on Russians. But informed sources said an announcement would be forthcoming soon.

Presumably, the controls would be as similar as possible to those previously invoked by Russia on Americans. Under those rules, Americans and other foreigners in the Soviet Union are prohibited from snapping photos from planes flying over Soviet territory and are barred from taking pictures of military establishments and power plants.

The Soviet controls have been the root of several incidents involving U.S. diplomatic representatives in Russia. The last American kicked out of the Soviet Union was Mrs. Karl Sommerlatte, wife of an American Embassy official, who was ousted as the result of an incident which occurred while she and a friend were on a Moscow picture-taking expedition.

Under the new travel controls on Soviet citizens in this country, persons holding Russian passports are barred from visiting more than 890 counties in 40 states and 16 cities in otherwise open areas.

The State Department felt that the United States would stand a better chance of persuading the Soviet Union to ease restrictions on Americans in Russia if it adopted tough measures toward Soviet citizens. Similar thinking apparently is behind the plan to restrict Soviet picture-taking.

Smith was an organizer for the International Longshoremen's Association (Ind).

Fir Plywood Use Jumps

PORTLAND (AP) — The Douglas Fir Plywood Assn. reported Wednesday that use of fir plywood in the nation has increased since World War II from 10 to 23 square feet per person.

W. E. Difford, managing director, said new orders for last year topped 4 billion square feet, an increase of 14 per cent over 1953. He said the 97 fir plywood mills in the three Pacific Coast states, which turn out 75 per cent of the nation's output, produced 3,823,629,000 feet in 1954, surpassing by 4 per cent the record of the previous year. The big output was achieved despite the summer-long Northwest lumber strike which closed many plywood plants.

Tax Change Chance Slight In Washington

OLYMPIA (AP) — Democratic leaders conceded Tuesday there was "little chance" of passing a graduated net income tax at this session of the Washington state Legislature.

It would require a constitutional amendment before it could become law, and it takes a two-thirds vote of both Senate and House to put a proposed constitutional amendment on the ballot.

Democrats have made the income tax a part of their party platform, but they admit the political strength of the Senate and House is so evenly divided it would be virtually impossible to get the necessary two-thirds majority this session.

Democrats hold a narrow one-vote margin in the House and trailed by two votes in the Senate.

Both houses held brief sessions Tuesday, then adjourned for the day.

The Senate took a quick look at a bill asking four and a half million dollars additional to pay the cost of free medical care for needy persons during the two years ending March 31. The measure was sent to committee for further study.

The House discarded a proposal that would have urged use of the University of Washington stadium for a world's heavyweight championship prize fight.

The use of yellow fever germs in biological warfare would be possible, says the World Health Organization.

Ike Criticized by Portland Port for Funds Omission

PORTLAND (AP) — Chamber of Commerce and port district officials from lower Columbia River cities Wednesday criticized President Eisenhower's budget message for not recommending funds to dredge and build jetties at the river entrance.

Portland, Longview, Vancouver and Astoria spokesmen decided at a meeting to ask Oregon and Washington congressmen to seek the full amount, about 8 1/2 million dollars, authorized by a previous Congress for the channel improvement project.

R. L. Clark, president of the Portland chamber, said, "All are agreed that failure of immediate appropriation of funds jeopardizes the huge investment the government already has in jetty construction and building of a channel from the sea to Portland."

"It is unwise economy to let a bottleneck form at the river entrance."

Bill Would Repeal Idaho Income Tax

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — A bill repealing Idaho's 15 per cent income tax cut, but not the $5 dependency allowance, will be introduced by the House Revenue and Taxation Committee Thursday, Chairman Ralph Wickberg (R-Shoshone) said late Wednesday.

Wickberg said the committee estimates that restoration of the across-the-board reduction voted two years ago would bring in an additional four million dollars in the biennium.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie, in his budget message, said 5 1/2 of the 10 1/2 million dollars needed to balance the budget could be obtained by repealing the 15 per cent reduction and the $5 dependency allowance and enacting a withholding tax.

The Legislature was asked Wednesday to repeal the Lien Law, amend the constitution to give cities "home rule," and take a look at election laws to prevent nomination of "minority" candidates.

The proposed constitutional amendment backed by the Idaho Municipal League would remove legislative control of municipal affairs.

Democratic sponsors of a proposed amendment lowering the voting age from 21 to 18 made an unsuccessful attempt to force their resolution out of committee. By voice vote, the House gave the State Affairs Committee five more days to consider it.
