

In Target Area of Chinese Reds

TAIPAN—Chinese junks and small boats crowd the harbor of Tashata, village in the Upper Tachen Island group. More than 200 Chinese Communist planes struck the nationalist-held Tachens in a likely prelude to invasion. The air strike, heaviest of the Chinese civil war, followed invasion of nearby Yikiangshan, in the same off-shore group about 200 miles north of Formosa. (AP Wirephoto)

Drunken Man Charged With Killing Pastor During Lecture on Drinking

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—An old friend was accused Thursday of fatally shooting Rev. T. Malcolm Jones, 49, minister of the Las Vegas Episcopal Church, while the pastor apparently lectured him about drinking.

River Group Adopts Plan to Protect Fish

WALLA WALLA (U)—A four-point plan for protecting and developing fisheries resources of the Columbia River basin, was adopted Wednesday at the 79th meeting of the Columbia Basin Inter-Agency Committee.

The plan calls for:

1. Support in obtaining adequate appropriations to complete the Lower Columbia River fisheries development program.

2. Devising a program for the Columbia basin upstream from the McNary Dam, comparable to the Lower Columbia fisheries work and a program of research on problems related to fish resources.

3. Broadening the inter-agency fisheries steering committee to include directors, or their representatives, of fish and game departments in Idaho, Montana, Washington and Oregon.

4. Exploring ways of putting various new programs into effect.

The four-point plan was approved after an exhaustive report by the fisheries steering committee, headed by Herbert Lund, associate editor of the Portland Oregonian.

The report said the "need for a comprehensive examination of the fisheries problem in the Columbia River basin is urgent at this time because of conflicts accompanying the development of the area's water resources."

The governor - members of the Inter-agency committee from its seven Northwest states were unable to attend the meeting because most have state legislatures in progress, but all sent representatives in their place.

For the same reason, the Governors' Power Committee, made up of chief executives of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming, was forced to cancel a scheduled meeting here Wednesday.

Earlier at the inter-agency session, the proposed Columbia Basin Interstate compact was explained. The compact was signed recently at Portland by the seven states involved, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Utah and Nevada. It still must be ratified by their legislatures. The same states are represented on the inter-agency committee.

Polish-U.S. Man Honored By Monument

AVOCA, Wis. (UP)—In fewer words than required to write this story, the history of one man's fight for freedom is inscribed in a country churchyard here.

It tells how Wincenty Dajewowski forsok great wealth to become a common laborer but a free man in America.

A seven-foot high monument to Dajewowski, a Pole, bears this inscription:

"Born a nobleman of great wealth, Wincenty Dajewowski embraced in 1830 the tenets of the Polish revolution.

"His cause defeated, his wealth confiscated, he secured exile to America from Nicholas of Russia through the intercession of his friend, Ferdinand of Austria. Sailed from Thiest, November, 1882. Arrived in New York, March, 1884.

"Began his trek westward May 21, 1885. Engaged as a smelter of ore with Wm. S. Hamilton of Galena, Nov. 17, 1885. On Sept. 4, 1888, he took up his first tract of government land, now Avoca. "He became an American in spirit as well as by adoption . . ."

on an investigation of murder charge last night a few hours after the popular pastor was shot down at a drive-in restaurant. Officers said Smith was "very drunk" when seized.

The minister was shot in the back as he stepped from his car in which he had been riding with his wife, Elizabeth, a neighbor, John Wallace, and Jones. He was rushed to Southern Nevada Memorial Hospital, but was dead on arrival. Suspect Booked

Smith was taken into custody at the scene of the shooting, but was not booked until after police had questioned the slain minister's grief-stricken wife, Wallace and others listed as witnesses.

Smith, a friend of the pastor for several years, was believed to have once been married by the victim to a woman attorney in Helena, Mont.

B. J. Handlon, chief of detectives, said a motive for the killing had not been established yet, but that the reverend apparently had been talking to Jones about the latter's drinking habits during a ride in the car.

Handlon said the minister, his wife and Smith all were riding in the front seat of the car, with the minister driving and his wife seated between him and Smith. Wallace sat in the backseat.

When they stopped at the restaurant for a snack, Handlon said, the suspect allegedly whipped out a German luger, held it closely to Mrs. Jones and then fired into the minister's back as he stepped from the auto.

The bullet smashed through Rev. Jones' body, piercing his abdomen, and lodged in the restaurant's asphalt driveway. Mrs. Jones leaped from the car and knelt over her fallen husband's body while Wallace was believed by police to have rested the gun from Smith.

Franklin R. Wolf, 20, an airman at nearby Nellis Air Force Base, told detectives he saw Wallace, holding the gun, dash into the restaurant and call for an ambulance and the police.

Officers said that when they reached the shooting the suspect was wandering aimlessly about. He made no effort to resist being taken into custody, they said.

In addition to his wife, Jones is survived by three children, Tom, 22, Jerry, 19, and Julie, 17.

He graduated from the General Theological Seminary in New York.

British Form Wide Range Of Plastics

LONDON (INS)—A new range of plastic materials, which can be alloyed like metals, has been developed by Britain's Peterlite Products Ltd.

It is claimed that the new plastic materials can be given a variety of properties, such as transparency and hardness in combination, which have been sought by plastics manufacturers throughout the world.

The new materials will resist heat up to more than 200 degrees centigrade, twice the boiling point of water, they do not suffer from fatigue, can be made clear as crystal, are only half the weight of glass and products made from them can be sterilized.

This new range of plastics can be used in the manufacture of medical and surgical appliances, food packaging in sterilized containers and their ability to resist acids and solvents make them useful in the dental field.

They are said to provide a satisfactory material for underwater periscope television apparatus. Experts believe they will help to solve the problem of providing materials capable of standing up to the great temperatures generated by high-speed, high altitude aircraft and to the risk of structural collapse resulting from these stresses.

GOOD ADVICE
MUSKEGON, Mich. (UP)—A burglar who stole a distributor cap from a car owned by the Muskegon County Librarian, Kay Wilson, returned it with this note: "I thought it over and decided I would be mad and feel badly if it happened to me. In the future keep your garage door locked."

He came here three years ago from Grand Rapids, Mich., where he was pastor for four years. He also was believed to have resided in Montana.

PLATTSBURG, N.Y. (UP)—Four buildings in this city and the neighboring village of Chazy stand as memorials to a man so modest that only a single photograph of him ever was found.

The picture—a snapshot—was of William Henry Miner, whose fortune from making a traction draft gear for railroad freight cars was estimated variously at between $100,000,000 and $250,000,000.

Miner, who died in 1930, made his home in Chazy, about seven miles south of the Canadian border.

For the village, he built a $1,600,000 school that was considered a model for the nation in the early 1900's and remains comparable to almost any today. At his farm, Miner set up two hydroelectric systems that served the school, a teachers' home that he built and the village streets with electricity.

Also in Chazy is the Miner Museum, which he built to house relics of "north country" history. And, in this city stands the multi-million-dollar Physicians Hospital which was three years in the building and was considered one of the world's finest upon its completion in 1925.

In the hospital lobby hangs an oil portrait of Miner painted from the one snapshot of him. Across the lobby hangs a $45,000 Reubens painting that was given to the hospital by his widow.

Infancy of Tarpon Said Big Mystery

MARINELAND, Fla. (UP)—Almost every fisherman in Florida waters is familiar with the big fighting tarpon which attract sportsmen from all over the world, but nobody seems to know much about tarpon before they attain their great size.

Curator F. G. Wood, Jr., of Marine Studios here recently found a number of small tarpon, only three to three and one-half inches long, in a pond here. He could not remember ever seeing any of the "silver kings" that small and decided to do a bit of research.

Wood said that Dr. C. M. Breder of the American Museum of Natural History described baby tarpon only two inches long found near Sanibel Island on Florida's Gulf Coast. Dr. Breder also hatched fishlets from what he believed were tarpon eggs, but they all shrunk and died after about three days.

Wood said that one mystery is that almost all of the very small tarpon found were collected from land-locked ponds. The eight young fish found here were seined from a pond that connects with an inlet only during the very highest tides of the year.

He said tarpon are able to breath atmospheric air and are not dependent on oxygen in the water. Thus they would be able to survive in such ponds, but the period in the life of a tarpon from three days after hatching until it attains the length of two inches is still a mystery.

Wood said only three of the eight tiny tarpon he caught survived. The staff is giving them great care, hoping they will some day graduate to the giant tank of the oceanarium.

POLICEMAN HAS A HEART
RALEIGH, N.C. (U)—North Carolina Budget Bureau Engineer Frank Turner says there's at least one soft-hearted policeman. Turner saw the officer approach a car parked overtime in a meter zone. The driver, apparently fagged out, was asleep. The policeman started to write a ticket, paused and then took another look at the driver. He reached into his pocket, took out a nickel, inserted it in the meter and continued on while the driver snoozed.
