Heads Council

A study of the costs of the past 12 months' operation of the pre-paid medical and hospital service plan provided by Oregon Physicians' Service was presented to a group of state employees representatives Thursday.

The presentation was made at an annual meeting participated in by 47 committee members, each representing a state department, at a luncheon in the Marion Hotel.

The study revealed that a slight rate increase would become effective March 1, 1935. But these increases would affect only single males and the two-party (husband and wife) plan. These two categories make up about 42 per cent of the subscribers presently protected under the OPS plan.

"No other classification of family composition or single female members would be subject to adjustment at this time," an OPS representative said.

C. L. Penwell of the state tax commission was elected chairman of the state committee. The committee will seek to revamp the current protection plan to more closely fit the needs of state employees and their families. In the plan development OPS will act only in an advisory capacity.

Penwell appointed a sub-committee consisting of Roy G. Green, state industrial accident commission; F. Gordon Shattuck, state unemployment compensation commission; C. H. Maison, state highway department, and Hobart M. Price, secretary of state.
