Salem Boaters Rescued From Capsized Craft

A Salem brother and sister were rescued from possible drowning Sunday afternoon after their motor boat overturned and trapped them in the cold waters of the Willamette River.

Pulled to safety by occupants of two neighboring boats were Danna Shepherd, 13, and Lyle Shepherd, 19, both of 3420 Duncan Ave. The girl was knocked unconscious when her head struck the boat windshield and was kept afloat by her brother during the ordeal, first aidmen reported. She was taken to Salem General Hospital for treatment of a head laceration and later released.

Reportedly taking part in the rescue of the two were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Elstrom Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, occupants of another boat, and Stan Ness, in a third craft. All are from Salem.

The accident occurred several hundred yards south of the Center Street bridge about 2:15 p.m. when the Shepherd craft was overturned by waves in the wake of another boat. Witnesses said the capsizing boat, after plunging its occupants into the water, fell on top of them. Neither the brother nor sister wore life jackets and the girl reportedly was unable to swim.

The Elstrom and Brown party reached the scene shortly after the accident and pulled the two from the water. They were placed in the Ness craft, which arrived soon after.

The brother told rescuers he "couldn't have swum another stroke" after having supported his sister for several minutes in the chill waters.

PURSE RETURNED

A lost purse containing approximately $90 was returned Sunday morning to its owner, Mrs. Mabel Cunliff, 205 Mission St., city police were notified. Mrs. Cunliff said she found the purse, money intact, at the rear doorstep of her home. She lost the purse Saturday while on a shopping trip.

Dance Workshop Slated at North High Gymnasium

A free dance workshop, sponsored by the Salem city and school playgrounds program, will be held at North Salem High School gym today and Tuesday.

The workshop, conducted by Ed Durlacher, Freeport, N. Y., a nationally known dance authority, will cover square dancing, couple dances, mixers and rhythms.

First workshop session is scheduled at 4 p.m. today. Another is slated at 8 o'clock tonight and the others will be held Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Empty Fuel Tank Costly

Herbert Berry, Salem Route 2, box 283, ran out of gas he reported to State Police Sunday, and the misfortune apparently also cost him a car radio and a set of socket wrenches.

Berry told police the items were stolen from his 1947 Studebaker between Friday night and Saturday afternoon while the car was parked along Clear Lake Road north of Salem. He said the car had been left alongside the road after it had run out of gas Friday night.

New City Civil Service Code Due for Release

New interpretations of Salem's Civil Service code easing restrictions on political activity by city employees will receive official publication within a few days.

The changes in the rules and regulations of the Civil Service Commission were adopted by the commission at its regular meeting last Wednesday.

Under the new rules, civil service workers will be permitted to campaign or "lobby" for bills benefiting their status such as pay raises and hours measures. However, workers will not be authorized to campaign for candidates. Previously the regulations had been interpreted to exclude any political activity by city employees.

"I don't think it was ever the intent of the rules to limit activity so sharply," stated William J. Entress, chairman of the commission.

The regulations were revised also to reflect some of the changes in the city's constitution voted when Salem adopted the city manager form of government in 1946. In the old rules both the fire and police chiefs were included under civil service.

The Commission declined to take any action on rules prohibiting employees from holding down a second job while working for the city. There has been considerable pressure particularly from firemen to revise the code to permit outside employment.

Revised code books are being prepared now for publication by the city recorder's office.

Salem Home Damaged by Blaze Sunday

Damage estimated at close to $2,000 resulted Sunday when fire broke out in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, 1715 S. Winter St., firemen reported.

The 3:15 p.m. fire, confined to a bedroom and a hallway of the home, was an unwelcome event on the 41st wedding anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. Brown.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started from a heating pad in the bedroom. Total damage reportedly was done to the bedroom, furnishings and clothing being consumed. The fire also damaged walls and a rug in the adjacent hallway, firemen said, and other parts of the house received smoke damage.

Firemen were delayed somewhat in reaching the scene after being given an erroneous address in the first alarm. The erroneous site was 17th and Wilbur Streets. Five minutes later, at 3:20 p.m., the correct address was received.

Damage to the Brown home was reported covered by insurance.
