

YWCA review

By MILDRED LUCILLE GLOVER
Associate Executive Director

During the past week the writer of this column has had an interesting time making a spot check of participants in YWCA classes during the past year. This sketchy survey has revealed that the YWCA members who have joined classes have experienced tangible as well as intangible gains.

To the question, "What have the YWCA classes meant to you?" members have replied, "have enjoyed the experience of learning with a group" (oil painting, music appreciation, creative writing, exercising); "common interests drew people together while learning"; "the constructive suggestions of other members of the class gave one more confidence, and also helped knit the group together." Class members were impressed with the content of the courses and with the quality of instruction. "Professional instruction helped me to express myself, and increased my appreciation for all art—nature, old masters, trips to galleries, etc." stated a member of the oil painting classes.

Classes Re-creative Members said that classes truly were re-creative in that the member not only developed or improved a skill for leisure hours, but also felt rested and refreshed because of the fun of learning. "Release from tension" (painting); "therapy" (painting); "feel better," "more limber" (gymnastics); "awareness of other arts than dance" (modern dance); "self-expression" (painting); "gained confidence" (club clinic); "sociability," "joy of learning hobbies and doing crafts in later years" (millinery, frosting fantasy); "regularity of work was good discipline" (creative writing)—and thus the replies continued.

And what else do YWCA courses mean to those who participate in

Jacqueline Prall Married to Milo Grubb Sunday Afternoon

Miss Jacqueline Prall became Milo W. Grubb's bride at a pretty spring wedding Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Congregational Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Prall and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Larkin Grubb of Ashland.

Dr. C. Warren Hoveland of Oregon State College officiated at the nuptials before a setting of wine carnations and pink chrysanthemums. George Prall was the soloist and Jean Hobson Rich was the organist. Miss Linda Walls of Seattle and Miss Mary Ann Beagle of Ashland lighted the tapers. Their dresses were rose net over white taffeta.

The bride made her own gown as well as those of her attendants. The bridal gown was of tulle and lace with a fitted lace bodice fashioned with a rounded neckline, short sleeves with which she wore lace mitts. The tulle skirt, which fell into a slight train, was enhanced with applied lace panels which extended from the waistline to the hemline of the skirt. A pearl crown held in place her fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Jane Anderson of Spokane was the honor maid and she wore a white lace and net gown over rose taffeta. The bridesmaids, Miss Billie Jean Beagle of Ashland and Miss Sandra Schuerman of Portland, wore frocks of white net over wine taffeta adorned with white lace flowers at the neckline and on the skirt. They carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

When the couple left on their honeymoon the new Mrs. Grubb changed to a blue and white print dress with navy faille duster, white hat and accessories. They will live in Corvallis until June, when both will graduate from Oregon State College.

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee
Q. I have just returned from a week end visit in the home of my fiancé's parents, who live in another town. How can I show my appreciation for their hospitality?

A. You must, of course, write that "bread-and-butter" thank-you letter as soon as possible. And if there is anything you think they can use in their home, it would be nice to send them such a gift.

Q. When a young man accompanies two girls to the theater, is it all right for him to sit between them?

A. Yes, unless there is an aisle seat. Then he should, of course, sit next to the aisle.

Q. At a women's luncheon, where does the male guest of honor, or principal speaker, sit?

A. To the right of the hostess, the chairman, or the mistress of ceremonies.

Q. Is it proper to send out wedding invitations and announcements in the name of the bride's brother, if their parents are dead?

A. Yes; this is quite often done.

A luncheon was served by Mrs. Ben Braucht at her Market St. home Friday to Mrs. Harry Jennings, Mrs. Paul Lynch, Mrs. Charles Siegmund, Mrs. Russell DeLapp, Mrs. Ralph Werner, Mrs. Mary Swingle, Mrs. Eugene Braucht, Mrs. A. C. Schaffer, Mrs. Jess Hatch and Mrs. William Hartley.

TURNER—Mrs. Robert Mitchell entertained Thursday afternoon with a birthday party for her son, Fred, on his eleventh anniversary. Guests present were Calvin Miller, Terry Coleman, Gary Klokstad, Gary Keene, Kenneth Wolf, Harold Dumont, Boyd Beaumont, Billy Frederickson, Brent Jensen and Dale Mitchell.
