Hi, there!—It's unpacking time again down here at Roberts! Yes, the packing paper is flying in the shipping room—you know, we always have the lamps and decorative accessories delivered here to the store instead of to the warehouse. We just can't stand it until we dig in to see the new things and get them out on display! Right now we're receiving our Market purchases and merchandise is coming in faster than we know where to place it.

Yesterday we unpacked lamps, lamps — the prettiest, sweetest lamps for our Provincial section. For those of you who love maple and are decorating your home in Early American and Provincial theme, these are just the added "whipped cream" you need. Pretty prints made in to ruffled shades, trimmed with starched nets and organdies are so perky over the milk glass and ceramic bases. Some of the lamps are perfect for a hall chest or console—they are authentic reproductions of old kerosene lamps, milk glass bases, and then the large globe shade is milk glass, too. They give a very soft light for a dark entrance hall, yet strong enough for a desk or for reading.

New furniture is arriving daily, and it's oh, so comfortable—most everything now has foam rubber cushions. Our Provincial section is crowded with new sofas and chairs. One sofa, a wonderful eight-foot length, is super for that long wall space, wonderful for a large family who like to view TV in the living room. I'd swear you could seat six on it! (Depends on the size of the occupants, of course!) It's in a lovely gold texture with multi-color lures threads giving a little glow to the material. The ruffled flounce gives it the homey, livable look that complements its high back comfort—foam rubber cushions add the luxury touch.

Wing chairs are wonderful beside the living room or keeping room fireplace. Imagine a paneled keeping room, used brick fireplace, beamed ceiling with a darling wallpaper between the beams, matching fabric for cafe curtains; now add a comfortable, deep-seated wing chair—and who would want to ever move away from such a spot? The mode of decorating a home these days is solely on warmth and livability. By livability I mean that there should be a friendly conversation group of furniture, a quiet reading corner, space provided for the games one wants at hand, fabrics that are conducive to ease and comfort yet beautiful to the eye, carpets that are the essence of practicality yet with the richness of color and depth of pile that brings a sense of luxury, color that pleases and inspires. Can it be done? Of course, and right where you are.

Come in to see us soon.
