

Little Things Like These Little Things Make Great Big Difference

By MAXINE BUREN
Statesman Woman's Editor

I wonder if you are like we are, when it comes to capers. We seldom use capers except when we are caught without them. Today we got to thinking, surely if other folks use this colorful, highly flavored little item as seldom as we, there would be no profit in the industry. But now, keeping the caper in mind, we find it bobs up frequently in recipes, and though it can be omitted of course it's just little extras like the caper that make one's cooking better than the next door neighbors'. And in one of our favorite recipe books we find no less than five items listed under the title of "Capers."

Adding the little green seed or bud of the prickly caper plant to salads not only gives them an accent of color, but also of flavor, for the pickled flavor of the sour seed is like no other food item. Start using them when your dishes need a lift.

A few capers can do a lot for dishes such as this

EGGS A LA CRFOLE

6 eggs
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 cup tomatoes
2 mushroom caps
1 tablespoon capers
3 tablespoons butter

Melt butter in top of chafing dish, in it saute onions and sliced mushrooms, and when slightly golden, add tomatoes that have been peeled, cut and drained (if fresh, otherwise just drained). Cook for 8 minutes, then place pan over hot water and add capers, salt, a dash of cayenne and the eggs that have been beaten. Cook the mixture until thick and creamy, stirring constantly, and pour immediately over slices of buttered toast.

Usual place for capers is in salads, and regulation recipe for caper dressing is to be made with French dressing. Here is a recipe that is standard.

CAPER FRENCH DRESSING

To one cup Bechamel sauce (or cream sauce with onion) add 1/4 cup chopped capers, 1 1/2 teaspoons lemon juice and 1 tablespoon butter. Serve with boiled fish.

Or another caper sauce that begins with cream and is recommended for lamb.

CAPER SAUCE

4 tablespoons melted butter
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups clear stock
4 tablespoons capers
2 thin slices lemon
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
2 teaspoons vinegar
1 1/2 tablespoons rich cream

Blend hard the butter with flour in a saucepan, gradually add stock that has been made by boiling bones of lamb. Stir until smooth, add lemon, seasonings and the cream that has been heated first. Cook one minute before adding remaining butter and capers.

For vegetables, try

BUTTER CAPER SAUCE

1/4 pound butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Melt butter over a low flame and skim off the foam. Add lemon juice, capers and salt to taste. Serve hot with fish or calf's brains or vegetables.

Ferne Legler
Ronald Mott
Married

The First Church of the Nazarene was the setting for the marriage of Miss Ferne Legler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Legler, and Ronald Mott on Saturday, April 9 at the Halbert Memorial Baptist Church. The Rev. W. F. Clay officiated at the 8 o'clock rites. Miss Arlyns Zeeb played the wedding music and Mrs. Ivan Ireschke sang. Candelighters were Miss Arlene Heppner, stepsister of the bridegroom and Miss Janice Chapman, Portland, niece of the bridegroom who wore blue waltz length dresses.

The bride wore a white satin gown with train and lace overskirt. Her fingertip illusion veil fell from a lace cap. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Donald Exstrom, San Francisco, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a yellow taffeta dress with overskirt of net and shoulder length veil. Miss Wilma Karsten was bridesmaid, and wore a blue taffeta dress and veil. Both carried heart shaped blue satin pillows with yellow daffodils. Marilyn Drasoff, Albany, niece of the bridegroom was flower girl.

Brother is Best Man

Donald Mott, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Gerald Biggins, was groomsman, and ushers were Donald Exstrom, Dale Chipman, nephew of the bridegroom, Johnny Drasoff, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Legler attended her daughter's wedding in a navy suit with white accessories and white carnation corsage. Mrs. Roy Westling, step-mother of the bridegroom, wore a light pink suit with white accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

A reception followed in the church parlors. Mrs. Emil Balash and Mrs. Arnold Kuper poured. Mrs. Johnny Drasoff, sister of the bridegroom, cut the cake. Assisting were Mrs. Donald Mott, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, Mrs. Steve Stetzer, Mrs. Paul Hauck, Misses Joyce Clark, Marilyn Hamilton, Velma Clark and Mrs. Jim Vibbert.

For a wedding trip to the coast, the bride wore a navy dress with white polka dots, white accessories and white carnation corsage. The couple will live in Salem.

Piano Recital Sunday

Maryjane McIntee will present her piano students in a recital Sunday afternoon at the Stone Piano Co. at 2:30 o'clock. The interested public is invited to attend. Students playing will be Jerry and Bonnie Carpenter, Terry Jory, Karen Salter, Mary Webb, Pamela McMahon and Steven Weigel.

John Golden and Mrs. Mollie Cohen. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Gerald Blum and Mrs. Morrie Blum.

Representing Salem in the state finals of the Mrs. America contest in Portland on April 19 will be Mrs. Dale E. Burke, 5055 Herrin Road, pictured above with the youngest of her five children, 18 months old Darlene. Winner of the Oregon title will compete in Florida for the national title and $15,000 in prizes in the American Gas Association contest for homemaking skills. Mrs. Burke was one of three contestants for the contest held in Salem at the Portland Gas and Coke Co. Monday. She prepared an Italian caserole dish, Lasagna, before three judges.

Salem Junior
Symphony in Concert

Dr. William Sweetman, who came to Salem in August 1954 to become the first Director of Music Education for the Salem Public Schools, will be the conductor of the initial concert of the Salem Junior Symphony Orchestra on April 19 at the Leslie Junior High School at 8 p.m.

Dr. Sweetman came to the Salem Schools from San Francisco, where he was associate professor of music education and conductor of the State College Symphony and the State College String Orchestra.

Prior to his work at the San Francisco State College, he was director of music at the Lincoln High School in Philadelphia and director of the Settlement Music School, which is a training school branch of the famous Curtis Institute of Music.

Mr. Sweetman has also taught in the Miami, Florida schools and at Ball State Teachers College in Indiana.

Before entering the field of music education, Mr. Sweetman was a member of the Orpheus String Quartet in Philadelphia for two years, broadcasting weekly programs. He was also principal violist of the WIOD Symphony Orchestra in

Politicians
Stage Big
Rally

By JODY RICKETTS
Statesman Correspondent

CORVALLIS—This has been one of the busiest weeks we have had at Oregon State this year. So many activities are being planned for the near future, besides all the political rallies, etc.

Tuesday night the politicians staged one of the biggest rallies at OSC. All the parties joined together and put on a big car rally, ending at the Memorial Union building. Each candidate was introduced by a well known Salem student, Dick Meyer, acting as master of ceremonies.

After the speeches, a combo was playing and every one danced. Dancing were Charlen Woods, Pat Snyder, Judie Foreman, Bob Nopp, Roberta Sears, Ron Nelson, Bob Ruhl, John and George Casper, Don Burk, Tom Pickens, Shirley Juran, Sandra Carter, Judy Jackson, Barbara Jackson, Sharon Shafer, Margaret Hildreth, Mike Campbell, Gail Ashby, Nancy Morefield, Nan Steele, and Dick Richardson, John Clayton. Rallies are always a big attraction, (an excuse not to study.)

Beavers are now winding up all the plans for Senior Weekend, which is planned for April 22, 23, 24. Many events are scheduled for the high school seniors. We want to make sure they realize, at least partly, how wonderful OSC is. Among the events planned are a dance, picnic, and a tour of the campus.

Monday night the Junior class sponsored the well-known Billy May orchestra. A very enthusiastic crowd attended, including Claudia and Clarice Waters, Ron Anderson, Larry Paulus, accompanied by brother, Pete Paulus, Twink Peterson, Delores Loring, and Betty Zahara.

A big street dance is being planned for this weekend down by Gill Coliseum and is sponsored by Associated Independent Students. It is the first big all school street dance to be held for some time at OSC. We are hoping old man weather co-operates!!

Mr. Hudkins to
Head Parents

C. Ronald Hudkins is the newly elected president of the Baker School Mothers and Dads. Other officers elected at the Tuesday evening meeting were Dr. Otto Kraushaar, vice-president; Mrs. Locke Taylor, secretary-treasurer. Bruce Van Wynyarden has served as president the past year.

Charles Schmidt, assistant superintendent of the Salem Public Schools, talked to the group on "Future Enrollment and Finance Possibilities of the School District."

The Nebraska Club has discontinued the evening meetings for the summer and the regular meeting scheduled Friday night has been cancelled.

Juniors to Buy
Equipment
For Park

Swings, slides, swing rings, horizontal bars, a climbing tree, and a merry-go-round will delight the youngsters this summer in Bush Park. The Salem Junior Woman's Club has selected the types of equipment which will provide the greatest amount of safety, durability, and enjoyment for children of all age groups.

The playground committee headed by Mrs. Howard Elwood, has been meeting since February with Walter Wirth, park superintendent, to plan a satisfactory arrangement for the southeast section of Bush Park. This section, located on Lefele Street, is planned as a family and large picnic area.

A special meeting with Mayor Robert White, J. L. Franzen, city manager, Clayton Jones, city council member, and Mr. Wirth completed plans and assured the Junior Women of cooperation in every way.

A Hop-Scotch Court

Of especial interest to the members and all mothers is the eventual placement of a hop-scotch court, a sand box, sections of brightly painted pipes for crawling and climbing purposes, and a modern free form.

Most of the still apparatus will be constructed by a Salem firm with installation being undertaken by the city.

In 1949 and 1950, the Junior Women initiated a playground project which interested other organizations in providing equipment.

Those serving on the playground committee are Mrs. Howard Elwood, chairman, Mrs. Richard Baker, Mrs. Richard Ballantyne, Mrs. Robert Carey, Mrs. Wallace Cowen, Mrs. Maynard Eissman, Mrs. Wesley Goodrich, Mrs. Robert Gray, Mrs. Richard Hill, Mrs. Ted Jenny, Mrs. Richard Klover, Mrs. Charles Knapp, Mrs. Leonard Rotolo, Mrs. Margaret White, and Mrs. Daniel H. Williams.

Veterinary Group
Is Entertained

The Willamette Veterinary Medical Association met in Albany on Tuesday at the Hub Restaurant. The program was on public relations and standards in the valley area. Two films on fish and wildlife were shown. Guests attending were Drs. E. R. Storey, Lebanon, Dr. F. C. Myers, Corvallis, Drs. J. O. Schnauts and J. F. Bone, Oregon State College.

The auxiliary met for dessert at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Reid. A report on the coming state convention in Klamath Falls on April 30 was given by Mrs. Austin W. Eivers, state president. Mrs. K. J. Peterson, state treasurer, discussed the memorial book being sent to the Veterinary Library of Colorado A. & M.
