

Zone Change Sought For Home Building

By THOMAS G. WRIGHT Jr.
Staff Writer, The Statesman

Plans for four four-family residences on Chemeketa Street between 21st and 23rd streets were disclosed Tuesday night in a petition before the City Planning Commission for a zone change to permit their construction.

The petition was filed by Attorneys DeArmond and Sherman for change of zone on four lots on the south side of Chemeketa in the area from R-1 residential classification (single family) to R-3 (multiple family).

Kenneth E. Sherman of the law firm said the fourplexes would be one-story structures grouped around an access driveway. He said carports and off-street parking for 32 automobiles is included in the plan.

Public Hearing Set

A public hearing in the petition has been set for the May 17 meeting.

The commission, with two dissenting votes, voted to grant a variance requested by Samuel L. Tripp and Ray Rabenau for construction of a single family home on an interior lot at 321 Cascade Dr. The property would be served by a 12-foot driveway, below the 20-foot minimum required by the Salem zoning code. Registering opposing votes were Commissioners John Carkin and Robert Powell.

In other business the Commission:

Heard City Engineer J. Harold Davis' report that land descriptions were in the hands of the city attorney relative to dedication of property for an extension of Adell Lane to Hickory Street north of Pine and between Brooks and Cherry avenues. Gabriel Marsh and Eugene Carey, owners of the property, had offered it to the city for street purposes.

Negotiations Underway

Heard a report from Davis and Planning Engineer C. A. McClure that negotiations were underway with Oregon Electric Co. concerning dedication of Johnson Street and dedication of property to permit extension of Brooks Avenue in north Salem.

Referred to the coordinating committee consideration of a city ordinance bill to accept a deed to property from Walter Musgrave and his wife, Evelyn, for a street connecting Wallace Road and Paul Wallace Marine Park. The Commission requested the City Council to table action on the ordinance, due for second reading next Monday, until the

McCarthy Displays His Tax Refund

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) Tuesday displayed $1,056.75 refund on his federal income taxes, and said it showed two Senate groups which investigated him were "completely dishonest."

He said the refund should answer for all time "the story that something is wrong with McCarthy's finances," or that he had diverted to his own use funds contributed to his campaign against Communists.

McCarthy acknowledged at a news conference that he had got into "a technical violation" of law by having photographic copies of the check made for distribution to the press.

Secret Service Chief U.E. Baughman contends photographing such checks is just as illegal as photographing currency.

But McCarthy said he had talked with Baughman by telephone and expects the Secret Service will be "sensible" about it. He said Baughman told him he would not try to punish news photographers who have made pictures of the check.

Rev. Dagwell, Portland, to Retire in '58

MEDFORD (AP) — The Rt. Rev. Benjamin D. Dagwell, Episcopal bishop of Oregon, plans to retire in 1958, when he is 68.

The bishop made that announcement at the 67th annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Oregon, and asked delegates to authorize election of an assistant who can work with him in the coming years, and then take over when he retires. Election would be by the diocesan convention.

Named as lay delegates to the general and synod convention in Honolulu later this year were Dr. Dean K. Brooks, Salem, and John Vassie, Portland. The Very Rev. Joseph L. O'Rillon, Portland, was named a ministerial delegate. Three more clergymen and two laymen remain to be named.

The convention adopted a 1955 assessment budget of $39,154. Elected to the diocesan council were the Revs. L. B. Keiter and G. R. Kearney, Portland. Dr. Brooks of Salem, and Eugene Roehm, Seaside.

Music Played At Concert Said Excellent

By STANLEY BUTLER
Assistant Professor of Music, Willamette University

The Salem Junior Symphony Orchestra played a concert of attractive and excellent music last evening at Leslie Junior High School. Dr. William Swettman, Director of Music in Salem public schools led the youthful orchestra in a comfortably commanding manner.

The music chosen was nothing less than the best. How heartening is such a choice! The entire program, with the exception of the opening Mozart Overture, was based on folk music, which is loved by people of all backgrounds.

It was commendable that, except for the Dvorak Sinfonietta, we heard the folk tunes and dances as they were originally set. Dvorak needs no introducing. St. Paul's Suite on rugged English melodies was written by Holst, a famous English composer of recent times.

Daring, Fitting
It was daring, and fitting, to have two compositions by the contemporary American composers, Copland and McKay. In Copland's setting of the ballad "John Henry" the orchestration suggested numerous realistic effects, among them the famous Negro's "hammam" strokes and the wheezing steam drill.

Dr. Swettman conducted with fine precision. He had a concern for the contour of the phrases; he showed an understanding of musical form, as he made convincing bridge passages. Dr. Swettman is a valuable addition to the musical leadership of Salem.

Talents Joined
The 62 members of the orchestra molded their talents together in an admirable way. Doubtless, as they play longer together the players will gain in courage, and the various choirs will become more accustomed to performing with each other. The group promises to have an important place in the musical life of our community.

In a brief talk, Dr. Swettman gave credit to his colleagues in the public schools for the preparation of the concert, singling out Victor Palmason, Director of Music at South Salem High School.

Woodburn to Add Sewer

Statesman News Service

WOODBURN — The Woodburn city council Tuesday night adopted a resolution of intention to construct a sewer collection system in the southeast portion of the city.

Engineer's estimate of the cost is $116,000. The line will run along the west side of the Pacific highway and an effort will be made to get easements so the line can be put on private property and thus avoid the expense of tearing up roadway.

Jordan King Weds Cousin

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Jordan's young King Hussein married his pretty cousin Tuesday — with the bride in another room.

Following Moslem custom, Hussein went through a simple all-male ceremony at the Zahran Palace of Queen Mother Zein. The bride, Princess Dina Abdul Hamid, waited elsewhere in the palace. King Hussein and the bride's father, Prince Abdul Hamid, signed the contract which made the marriage legal.

The king is 19, his bride 26. King Faisal, Iraq's 19-year-old monarch and a cousin of both the bride and groom, was present at the wedding ceremony.

Police Balk Suicide Threat

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Four nine tense hours Tuesday, a 23-year-old Colorado College student held a rifle at his throat, threatening suicide over a love affair.

Finally police officers charged him and knocked the gun out of his hands.

M&F Bombing Case Reward Up to $28,000

PORTLAND (AP) — The reward went up to $28,000 Tuesday for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the extortionist who bombed the Meier & Frank Co. store Friday.

The store earlier had offered a $25,000 reward, and the Portland Clearing House Assn. added $3,000 to that.

The bomb, which did comparatively little damage, was touched off in a third-floor washroom, inflicting minor injuries on two persons. A demand for $50,000 was made in a note, which threatened another bombing last Saturday if the money were not paid.

Polio Vaccine Still Awaited

PORTLAND (AP) — The State Board of Health said Tuesday it still has received no word from the National Institute of Health on when to expect Oregon's allotment of Salk vaccine for school children. First shipments are going to Southern states, where the polio season comes earlier, officials said.
