Food Service Firm Plans For Opening

A new plant which will specialize in wholesaling of meats for home freezers, restaurants and institutions is to have its grand opening today through Saturday at 1750 Fairgrounds Road.

Hoffman Food Service, headed by Alfred Hoffman, will employ 23 persons and have a beginning payroll of $150,000 annually, according to Hoffman.
The new enterprise will include the stocking of self-service meat departments in grocery stores throughout the area and will handle the Amana line of freezers.

The plant was designed for receiving the carcass, cutting, packaging and freezing the meat. All whole carcasses will be purchased from federally inspected plants, the proprietors add.

The new business is an outgrowth of service previously offered by the Hoffman Meat Market at 150 N. Commercial St., though the latter will continue to operate at the same location.

Joining Civil Service Opposed By Many City Police Workers

Agitation to bring communication section and office staff members of the Salem Police Department under city civil service ran into opposition from the majority of the groups at a meeting of the Civil Service Commission Wednesday.

Three members of the communications section appeared before the commission, two of them to report they preferred to stay the way they were so as to qualify for social security coverage and to avoid putting their jobs in jeopardy.
Clive Scott, with the police department since 1934 but never under civil service, said he favored inclusion under civil service because he would be able to retire under the public retirement act at half pay when he reached his 55th birthday three years hence.

Dyer to Head Armed Forces Day Event

William C. Dyer will head Salem's Armed Forces Day observance planned for May 17. Dyer was appointed Wednesday by Mayor Robert F. White.
Dyer, a World War II veteran of the 104th Division, is executive officer for the 2nd battalion of the 162nd infantry division, Oregon National Guard.
Project officer for the occasion, which in many areas will be observed May 21, is Maj. Wilfred Schaplow, Army Reserves advisor here, who is making arrangements for a speaker.
The speaker is yet to be obtained, but it will probably be a Navy officer. Possible speakers include Admiral Chester Nimitz, now retired; Vice Admiral Francis S. Low, commander of the Pacific Reserve Fleet and of the Western Sea Frontier; Rear Admiral Frederick Moosbrugger, superintendent of the U. S. Naval post graduate school at Monterey, Calif.; and Gen. H. M. Smith, retired U. S. Marine Corps officer from La Jolla, Calif.

Seward Reese To Attend Law School Meet

Seward Reese, dean of the Willamette College of Law, will participate in the meeting of the Conference of Western Law Schools in Los Angeles Friday and Saturday.
He will be chairman of a panel discussion on "Orientation of First Year Law Students" Saturday afternoon. The discussion will include general policies and various procedures used in legal training.
Meetings will be held on the UCLA campus.
Last year's annual meeting of the Conference of Western Law Schools met in Salem, under the general chairman of Dean Reese.
Other Willamette faculty members attending the Los Angeles conclave will be Charles Jens and Frederick Martin.

Heart Fund Drive Collected $2,116

Marion County contributed $2,116 during the 1955 Heart Fund campaign.
The contributions will be used to promote heart research, provide for professional and public education and aid community service in Oregon, the Heart Association said. E. A. Linden was county chairman.

Ivan Oakes' State Service Wins Praise

Ivan E. Oakes, secretary for the Willamette River Basin Commission since 1945 until his retirement last month, was praised by Governor Patterson and the Natural Resources Committee Wednesday for outstanding service to the state of Oregon.
Oakes, who served as a state legislator from Malheur County in 1925, was born in Sheridan, Oregon, in 1883. He has been active in conservation and reclamation projects since 1905 when he obtained a civil engineering degree from the University of Oregon.
He has served as chief engineer on many private projects and transferred to public work in 1934 when he was with the WPA, and later with the War Production Board during World War II.
Oakes, leaving state service at the age of 72, will continue on with the natural resources committee without remuneration.

Six Building Permits Issued

City building permits were issued Wednesday for the erection of one house, one major commercial alteration job and various minor improvements.
K. L. Talley was given a permit to build a $11,000 house and garage at 2485 Edgewood Ave. Dr. Forrest Goddard's $10,000 alteration permit is for his office at 1765 N. Capitol St.
The others granted permits were Alex Sheireman for $350 in alterations on his house at 1175 Spruce St.; E. J. Owens, $45 roof for his house at 2395 Cherry Ave.; M. E. Townsend, $15 in porch alterations at 2211 Trade St.; Katherine R. Garson, $250 pump house at 2680 Cherry Ave.

Odd-Titled Dogs Get Licenses in County

By VINITA HOWARD
Staff Writer, The Statesman
Anyone interested in obtaining a Rhodisian Ridgeback? So far, that's about the only breed of dog that hasn't been licensed this year in Marion County.

Employees of the county clerk's office, where dog licenses are obtained, have just completed another big boom in dog licensing and, as usual, more and more unusual breeds are being counted.
This year, in order to save time and trouble, clerks finally posted a list of 14 breeds which are becoming popular in the county but which are not easily spelled.
The list includes dachshund, schipperke, pomeranian, pekinese, samoyed, Hungarian Vizsla, retriever, weimaraner, Labrador, airedale, beagle, chesapeake and britany spaniel.
The Rhodisian Ridgeback was discovered by Betty Olson, who handles much of the dog licensing business for the clerk's office, while she was studying a hunting and fishing magazine attempting to find correct spellings on some of the little-known dogs whose owners were seeking licenses for them.

"It's a dog registered with the African Kennel Club and developed especially for big-game hunting," she explained, "but I decided I might as well add it to our list." She still wouldn't be surprised to see one turn up in Marion County.
What confounded the clerks and sent Mrs. Olson to the dog magazines were such breeds as Schipperke, Samoyed, Weimaraner and Hungarian Vizsla.
Of course, most of the 6,647 dogs now licensed—including 18 belonging to one woman—are of the always popular breeds such as terriers, cockers and even quite a few boxers.
At the other end of the ladder are owners who, on the license slip's line for breed, write "Heinz," alluding perhaps to the well-advertised 57 varieties.

Stayton Case Due For Jury Decision

A rape charge against Glen Rogers Jr., Stayton, is expected to go to a Marion County Circuit Court jury Thursday. The case has been heard before Judge Val D. Sloper for two days.
The state and defense virtually concluded introductions of evidence Wednesday. Final arguments and instructions to the jury will be made Thursday morning.

Salem M&F Store Opening By Oct. 28

Meier and Frank's Salem store will be open by Oct. 28, Manager Gerald W. Frank told Salem Rotarians at their Wednesday luncheon meeting in the Marion Hotel, "in time for Friday Surprise."

Frank, who traced the history of the firm, said he wanted to take the occasion to answer many questions concerning the opening of a branch store here.
Frank said indications from store customers were that opening of the store here would bring more business from the surrounding area for all Salem businesses. No Larger Enterprise

He said he knew of no larger enterprise coming to Salem as basis for building of the store here, but said the move was based on the belief that Salem is a steadily growing community.

The Meier and Frank store will bring a payroll of $1,500,000 to the community and furnish 400 jobs, Frank said. Already 700 unsolicited applications for positions have been received. Eleven Salem residents who will have executive positions with the store are already training at the Portland store, he added.
Ice Cream Establishment
Frank announced Fred Klav operator of The Pike, would operate an ice cream establishment in the new store.

Among features of the store mentioned by Frank were a post office, restaurant, coffee shop and 1,000-car parking area. He said the store would carry an inventory of $3,000,000 and the first floor merchandising area would be the largest in the Northwest.

Another Deputy Sheriff Resigns

Low pay and long hours brought another resignation from the Marion County sheriff's office Wednesday, Sheriff Denver Young reported.
Richard Walker, a deputy since last September, resigned to take a job with the Multnomah County sheriff's office. His was the fifth resignation in year which listed the same reasons for quitting.
Multnomah County deputies, Young said, get a starting salary of $305 and can advance to $366 after four years. Top pay for a Marion County deputy is $300.
