The first of two major boat racing regattas booked for Salem takes place this afternoon in the Willamette River off Wallace Marine Park. The event, which will see dozens of boats and pilots from Oregon, Washington and California in action, is a benefit for the further development of the fast-growing and popular Marine Park.

Admission to the races can be obtained by securing "Booster Ribbons" from the numerous members of the Salem Boat Club. First event will take place at 1 p. m., and will be followed by 20 other heat races involving B-Utility, A-Hydro, D-Utility, B-Hydro, C-Service Runabouts, D-Hydro and B-Hydro speedsters.

Salem will be well represented in the races with the following pilots registered: Gib Ward, Harvey Reinke, Mick McGuire, Fred Fisher Jr., Jim Woodroffe, Bob Van Slyke, Jack St. Clair, John Hall, Dean Ray, Dean Mahaffey, Bill Wenig, Paul Woodroffe, Gill Allen, Bill Boring, Jim Bremmer, Ralph Thade, V. K. Burton, Dick Scandling and L&E Edwards.

Portland Nips Oakland, 5-4

Suds Top Angels; Seals Bow to Sacs

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Portland produced a ninth inning rally that beat back two runs as the Beavers edged the Oakland Oaks 5-4 in Saturday night's Pacific Coast League baseball game here.

The score was tied 2-2 in the bottom of the seventh inning. Then, with the bases loaded, Don Eggett singled driving in Frankie Austin to put Portland ahead to stay.

The Beavers scored the winning run the next inning. The bases were loaded again and Austin's squeeze bunt scored Ed Mickelson.

Doubles by Jim Marshall and Len Neal and a single by Bob Swift gave the Oaks their two runs in the ninth inning. Portland pitcher Bill Werle, who was credited with his third victory in four starts, halted the rally by striking out Bill Consolo.

Oakland used three pitchers. The loss was charged to George Bamberger, the starter.

In the other PCL games, Seattle's Vic Lombardi squared Los Angeles, 5-3, to tame their series. Bud Daley hurled Sacramento to a 7-2 victory over San Francisco and Earl Rapp's two-run homer in the sixth inning enabled San Diego to defeat Hollywood 10-9.

SPORTSLIGHTNER

(Continued from preceding page) and at the same time is out for Spring drills with the varsity gridgers. He's technically a freshman, but will be eligible for varsity touchdowning next season.

Perhaps you noticed the other day that Morris, a big lad for such a fast one, ripped off a 9.8 hundred-yard dash and a terrific 23.3 low hurdles effort in a track meet. The 23.3 unofficially broke the school and Hayward Field marks and was the second best low hurdles time posted by any collegian in the country.

The Eugene school was jubilant when Morris came in from Medford, for his coach, Lee Ragsdale who once mentored at Mt. Angel, predicted the fleet-footed lad would one day be a collegiate toptoucher. He played his freshman year of football, you'll recall, and was just as outstanding as his press clippings hinted.

But then came the GI call and three years in the service. During that span Morris continued to play football, and at one time proved to be so good that he beat out a collegiate All-American and a competent pro for the first-line job as a halfback on the Air Forces team.

McGee was a good one for the Ducks of last season. But as mentioned, with Morris back in gear, they'll not be missing the big Negro. Morris and Dick James should provide the Oregonians with quite a 1-2 punch . . .

Lewis & Co. Did it the Hard Way Another title for Johnny Lewis at Willamette, his baseballers having nailed the Northwest Conference championship. And they did it the hard way, for Andy George, one of the school's hurling mainstays the last three campaigns, was sidelined with an injury practically the entire current run. Lewis had quite a rebuilding job to do this season with his club, and quite obviously did it well.

It isn't hard to imagine that Tom Yawkey of the Boston Red Sox doesn't stand alone in thankfulness that Ted Williams has seen his way clear to return to baseball. The great slugger will help the sagging Sox with his bat, no doubt. But of more importance to Yawkey, and the other seven American League club operators, is the drawing power the guy has. They've turned out in flocks to see No. 9 have his swings for the Red Sox, and they'll do it again now that he's back. He's the type of hitter who has even the players on the opposite club running from the clubhouse just to watch him take batting practice. And few have been the sluggers in baseball who have worn that honor. Ruf, Gehrig, Fox and Musial, to name four, and there haven't been too many more.

Personally, we're glad to see Williams back again. Baseball will be more interesting that ever for us now, just watching his daily progress in box scores and written accounts. Call it hero worship if you will, but Boston's "Splendid Splinter" has always been one of our prime favorites.

He's a cinch to land in the Hall of Fame one day, and why not? Because any baseball man will quickly tell you he's one of the greatest hitters to ever swing a bat, if not the very greatest . . .

Teams Needed For Softball

A need for additional teams in the two Salem softball leagues has been expressed by league officials.

The Industrial league is made up of inexperienced players or those too old to withstand the highly competitive City league.

Any one, whether they be businesses, churches or independent groups, may sponsor a team. The teams open June 1.

Anyone who is interested in either sponsoring, coaching or managing teams in the junior loops during the coming season are urged to attend the Monday session.

The junior leagues are for boys between the ages of 12-16, and have proved to be very popular in past seasons.

Hoyt Captures Pole Position

Gusty Winds Bucked To Qualify for '500'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Jerry Hoyt of Indianapolis, literally a race driver since he was a child, won the pole position for the 39th 500-mile Memorial Day auto race Saturday by bucking gusty winds in a qualifying run at 140.045 miles.

Only one other car qualified on the first day of the time trials. Hoyt's time was the second best 10-mile speed ever made on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The wind blew all day in gusts up to 36 miles an hour, and car owners were trying to reach an agreement to stay off the track when Hoyt went out 13 minutes before the official closing time.

The 26-year-old Hoyt, onetime mascot of the Lucky Teeter Thrill Show, won the Rex Mays memorial trophy for the pole car with a speed second only to the 141.033 record set last year by Jack McGrath of Inglewood, Calif., in the 10-mile trials.

A crowd estimated upward of 75,000 sat all day waiting for the spectacle before Hoyt broke the stalemate.

Other drivers rushed to the starting line after Hoyt took the starting flag, but only Tony Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, Ill., veteran of eight Indianapolis races, was able to qualify before the track closed.

Bettenhausen's speed of 139.983 in the Chapman Special was the third best in the track records.

Santee Fails To Clip Mile

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Long-striding Wes Santee ran his second fastest mile of the year Saturday but failed to reach his 4-minute goal.

The cowboy from Kansas, who entered military service next month, turned in a 4:06.5 in the feature event opening the 29th annual West Coast Relays. It was a full 6 seconds slower than his top clocking of 4:00.5 at the Texas Relays on April 5.

"That wind was rough," Santee panted later as he jogged slowly into the infield. "It was as bad, I guess, as it was at Miami."

A 14-mile wind raked Ratcliffe Stadium Saturday as Santee and five others started the mile. It was blowing 12 miles an hour when the Kansan turned in his 4:07 clocking in the University of Miami invitational mile a week ago.

"I guess I shouldn't kick though," Santee grinned. "I've run in worse winds back in Kansas."

As usual, Santee was paced by his ex-Kansas teammate, Mart Dalzell, but he got unexpected support from Gene Jones, running for the Santa Clara (Calif.) Youth Center. Jones passed Santee on the back stretch of the first lap, then dropped back and ran beside him for two more before giving up.

"That Jones should get a lot of credit," Santee told sports writers. "He tried to help. All the time he was running beside me and I kept yelling 'Come on, Wes.' I guess it just ran him out of gas."

Santee finished 35 yards in front of Len Simpson of the San Francisco Olympic Club. Fernando Ledesma of Southern California was third, and Jim Hunt of San Diego State, fourth. Dalzell fell out a half-lap after Jones.

New Bevo Outfielders Include Luis Marquez

PORTLAND (AP) — Portland picked up two more players Saturday to bolster its outfield, one of them the fleet Luis Marquez, who played for Portland in 1949 and 1950.

The Beavers released veteran Dino Restelli, who was hitting .327 but whose throwing arm had gone bad.

Portland bought Marquez from Toledo of the American Assn., and obtained Carl Powis on option from Baltimore. Powis has been playing for San Antonio in the Texas League.

Hopkins Wins Pair Pete Hopkins of the Pioneers was the only other double winner, taking the 100 and 220.

Saturday's meet was the final dual outing for the Bearcats. Next Saturday they go to Walla Walla for the NWC championships.

Other drivers rushed to the starting line after Hoyt took the starting flag, but only Tony Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, Ill., veteran of eight Indianapolis races, was able to qualify before the track closed.

Probation Put On Texas A&M For 2 Years

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Southwest Conference faculty representatives Saturday slapped a two-year probation on Texas A&M for recruiting policy violations. It was the stiffest penalty in conference history.

Letters of intent signed for A&M by prospective athletes since April 15 also were canceled, releasing an unknown number of high school seniors to enroll at other conference schools if they so desire.

The conference also banned post-season contests by Aggie athletic teams.

No details of the rules violations were released.

In a prepared statement, the conference governing body said A&M coaches and alumni have violated recruiting rules despite previous warnings.

"After careful deliberation the conference concluded that to improve recruiting practices more drastic action than further warnings was necessary," the statement said.

"I'm shocked," said Bear Bryant, A&M athletic director and head football coach.

Bryant said the cancellation of letters of intent will hurt the Aggie recruiting program "to a certain extent."

Good Fresh Squad "But we have a fine freshman squad which will carry us through 1955," he said.

Under conference rules, an athlete can sign letters of intent to attend a school and thereafter either conference schools cannot contact him. This is intended to relieve pressure on the athletes.

Interest in the Aggie athletic program has zoomed since Bryant moved there last year from Kentucky. The Aggies last fall had their largest freshman football squad in history and another bumper crop had been expected this fall.

Senators Club Loop Pitching

Team Hits at .323; Helbig Tops Parade

The Salem Senators may not be leading the Northwest League standings, but they're doing better than okeh in the team batting department. League statistics released by Wm. J. Weiss of San Mateo, Calif., through games of last Tuesday, disclose that the Senators are hitting at a whopping .323 clip for their first 11 outings.

Tri-City is next with .301. Salem fielding is considerably the other direction, however, as the team shows a feeble .941, which is next to last place Spokane.

In individual batting, Tri-City's Dwayne Helbig is out in front with a .458 average. Jack Steingard of the Senators is in second place among the regulars with a .429 mark. Tom Perez of the Braves is third at .405.

Berlyn Hodges of Eugene tops the pitchers with a perfect 3-0 mark. The averages:

Bill Bottler, recently signed by Spokane after being released by Portland, may twirl the other game. Or it could be Jake Matlock, workhorse of the Tribe staff.

Familiar faces on the youth-infested Spokane team belong to Pitcher John Conant, who beat Eugene Thursday night, Catcher Bill Sheets, Center-fielder Eddie Murphy and Outfielder Nap Guley. Joe Porter, first-base man, is a bonus player in the Cleveland line.

The Senators go to Tri-City to open a four-game series Monday night. Then it's to Eugene to start four more on Friday night this week.

The Senators then have another byrond of four games, before opening a series here with Yakima May 27.

The two Spokane games thus far rained out this weekend will be made up next time the Tribe comes to town, late in June. That is, if it isn't still raining then.
