

Soviet Refuses Plea to Help Pare Down Berlin Road Tax

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Ambassador G. M. Pushkin rejected Friday a Western appeal for Soviet help in getting Communist East Germany to pare down stiff highway taxes in effect since April 1.

He again told the Big Three Western ambassadors the levies slapped on West Berlin's truck traffic with West Germany are the sole responsibility of the East German Republic.

The ambassadors met with Pushkin for four hours in the first formal meeting of top Western and Soviet officials in Germany since 1948. They proposed that the four powers occupying Berlin appoint German experts to study the tax problem and recommend a solution.

In rejecting this, Pushkin insisted the question could be settled only by direct negotiations between the West German government and the Eastern government, which the West Germans refuse to recognize as legal.

West Berlin, isolated within East Germany, depends heavily on trucks to bring foodstuffs and consumer goods from West Germany 110 miles away. In hiking the taxes East Germany asserted more money was needed to keep the roads in repair.

The Western ambassadors estimated the new rates will cost West Berlin 7 to 10 million dollars a year, unless a compromise can be reached. The old tax was boosted 1,000 per cent for the largest class of Western trucks to 240 marks ($57.12) for a roundtrip on the Berlin Autobahn. This is a tax of about 25 cents a mile.

When the higher levies went into effect, Western spokesmen denounced them as blackmail intended to gain formal diplomatic recognition of East Germany by the West. They also charged the taxes were aimed at weakening the West's bargaining position in future talks on German unity.

Dr. James B. Conant of the United States, Sir Frederick Hoyer-Millar of Britain and Andre Francois-Poncet of France tried without success to convince Pushkin the Soviet Union was bound to intercede with East Germany. They argued this was called for by the four-power agreement which ended the Russian blockade of Berlin in 1948.

Rites Today Bandits Rob Alabama Bank Of $90,000

Services for Herman Schellberg, 89, 1725 Fir St., will be 11 a.m. today (Saturday) at the Virgil T. Golden Chapel. Burial will be at the Lone Oak Cemetery, Stayton.

JACKSONVILLE, Ala. (UP)—Two armed bandits robbed the First National Bank of $90,000 Friday, forcing the vice president to open the bank while two confederates held the officer's wife and two small children hostage at their home.

The FBI said the carefully planned robbery was staged after the gunman went to the home of president and cashier of the bank, and forced him to accompany two of them to the bank before it opened this morning.

Two other gunmen were left at Wood's home where they held Mrs. Wood and the couple's two small children at gunpoint as hostages, pending the success of the holdup.

Armed with a pistol and a sawed-off shotgun, the highwaymen posted themselves at the entrance to the bank and greeted each of the seven employees as they reported for work.

The bandits grabbed them and herded them into a back room where they were bound and gagged.

The bandits then "just sat around for about an hour" and waited until the time lock on the vault automatically opened at 8 a.m.

The bandits scooped up between $85,000 and $90,000 in cash, Wood said.

Wood then was forced to return to his home with the gunmen who picked up their two companions there and escaped.

Self Defense Maintained in Assault Case

ALBANY—Defense arguments based on self defense Thursday won acquittal for Ivan Dale Heland on a charge of assault and battery on a 65-year-old Lebanon man last Mar. 9.

After 2 1/2 hours deliberation, a six-person jury returned a verdict in favor of the 22-year-old defendant from Lebanon. He was charged with assaulting E. A. Gall at the Gall home.

The case had drawn wide interest after Gall's wife, Goldie, maintained the attack on her husband was provoked by some welfare recipients in the Lebanon area. The beating he received reportedly put Gall in a hospital for a short time.

Heland, in testimony at his circuit court trial, claimed he struck Gall with his fists after the thought Gall made a motion to strike him. Gall testified that the motion of his arm was not to strike the other man but to reach for the phone.

The testimony by Heland also asserted that Gall was under the influence of liquor the night of the incident. Three prosecution witnesses denied this point.

The defendant asserted the reason for his going to the Gall home was to ask Mrs. Gall to stop making statements about his wife. Heland testified that his wife was receiving public welfare support for two children from a former marriage.

The three witnesses enlisted by Linn County District Attorney Courtney Johns were Mrs. Gall, her daughter, Phyllis, and Clifford Kiser, also of Lebanon. Defense arguments were presented by Lawrence Morley, Lebanon attorney.

Hungry Thief Strikes Again

City police might be wondering if a burglar with a voracious appetite is on the loose.

Officers were notified that about a dozen packages of meat and a 12-pound box of asparagus were taken sometime Thursday from the home of C. A. Peterson 900 N. 17th St. The burglary came in the wake of the Wednesday theft of some 500 ice cream slices, seven boxes of candy bars and 30 pounds of wieners from a snack bar at Hollywood Bowl.

The meat and asparagus were taken from a deep-freezer at the Peterson house, officers said. Entry was apparently made through a back porch door and time of the burglary was believed between 12:30 p. m. and 3 p. m. Thursday. Peterson valued the missing items at about $10.

71 Lose Right To Drive Car

Seventy-one Oregon motorists lost their drivers licenses last month because of poor driving records, Secretary of State Earl T. Newby said Friday.

The licenses were suspended because the drivers had too many accidents and too many convictions for traffic offenses.

Newby said there were 11,370 traffic convictions in April, which was 140 more than in April, 1954.

State Business, Professional Women Open Salem Meeting

One of Salem's largest all-women convention—that of the Oregon Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs—got underway Friday and will hold major business sessions today.

Approximately 300 delegates and alternates are in attendance. Committee reports and election of officers will take place today, according to President Mrs. Natalie Burns of Canby.

In an opening meeting Friday afternoon the group's state executive board turned thumbs down on a proposal from the national organization which sought to have standing committees made appointive.

"Oregon is now the only state in the Federation," the delegates said, "which elects its committees instead of appointing them."

About 400 delegates and guests attended the informal banquet last night at the Marion Hotel, convention headquarters.

A 7:30 a. m. breakfast today for incoming club president will be held at Lipman's Tea Room. The regular business session will start at 8:30 o'clock. Committee reports and action on new by-laws will take place.

Election of officers will be held from 12 to about 3:30 p. m. Mrs. Cora Pirtle of Eugene, is the nominee for the state presidency. Dr. Eleanor Gutman, Portland physician, has been nominated for the office of first vice-president.

A talk from Mrs. Isabella J. Jones of Pittsburgh, Pa., national federation officer, and installation of new officers will highlight the main banquet tonight at 7 o'clock at the Marion Hotel.

A breakfast Sunday and a concluding emblem ceremony at 9 a. m. close the convention.

Sabine Resigns University Post

EUGENE (AP)—Gordon F. Sabine is resigning effective July 1 as dean of the University of Oregon journalism school to accept appointment as dean of Michigan State University's school of communications arts.

Sabine, 38, is one of the country's youngest college journalism administrators. He joined the journalism faculty here in 1948 and became dean in 1950.

Gas Imports From Canada, South Planned

SEATTLE (AP)—The president of the Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp. said Friday the company will seek federal approval to import natural gas to the Northwest from Canada as well as the San Juan Basin in New Mexico.

C. T. Williams said the Federal Power Commission would be asked for an amended permit. This would allow the installation of 26-inch pipe from the Canadian boundary to the Puget Sound area. Under the original permit Bellingham would have been at the end of the line and the Puget Sound section would have been served by 8-inch pipe.

Williams estimated 3,000 to 5,000 men would be employed on pipe line construction. Contracts have been awarded for laying 65 miles of the 1,446-mile line and the president said 1,000 miles would be completed this year. The target date for arrival of gas in Seattle is July 1.

The Portland Gas & Coke Co. signed with the pipeline corporation Thursday for delivery of 50 million cubic feet of gas in five years. This became the corporation's largest contract, slightly topping the previously signed agreement with Seattle Gas Co.

Williams said the corporation now has 67 wells in the San Juan Basin and will need 200 to meet demands. Four drilling rigs are working now and more will be added.

4 Towns Ordered To Halt Pollution Of Columbia River

PORTLAND (AP)—The State Sanitary Authority Friday set deadlines for four Oregon towns to cease what the agency said was polluting the Columbia River with sewage.

The authority also cited seven meat packing concerns on the Columbia near Portland to show cause why court injunctions, to prevent pollution of the river with plant wastes, should not be issued.

The four cities which were given new various deadlines for completion of sewage disposal systems are Hood River, The Dalles, Rainier and St. Helens.

The seven firms were directed to report to the commission June 24.

The agency dismissed suit for injunctions pending against Toledo, Mt. Angel and Molalla, all of which have started construction of sewage treatment plants.

Shasta to Get New Versions Of Dome Car

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — New-type dome car of the Southern Pacific railroad company will go into regular service on the "Shasta Daylight" in early June, railroad officials said here Friday.

Built here, the new cars are improved versions of the type which visited Salem, Ore., some time ago. The cars have two levels, or "terraces," with the dome extending over both sections, providing an increased "feel" of spaciousness, officials said.

One-third of the car's lower level consists of a cocktail lounge, while the upper level is divided into an observation section and lounge.

Gun-Waving 'Groom' Held For Kidnaping

DETROIT (AP)—A gun-waving 25-year-old lover Friday was charged with kidnaping his one-time girl friend and forcing her into a night-long ride to a wedding that never was held.

State troopers armed with shotguns found husky Murray Sinuk, a credit company clerk, in a motel with brunette June Dallen, 21. The 6-foot, 240 pound Sinuk was charged with kidnaping, released on $1,000 bond, then rearrested when police uncovered a small arsenal they said was his.

Detective L. Joseph VanWie said the arms collection included three submachine guns, about a dozen pistols, a number of knives, a flare gun, a hand grenade, dynamite and fuses, ammunition and extra barrels for some of the guns.

The arsenal was found at the home of a friend of Sinuk's.

Police said Miss Dallen told them, "he stuck a .45 caliber automatic in my back and announced I was going to Bowling Green, Ohio, with him to get married."

Sinuk had forced his way into an apartment where Miss Dallen was staying with a girl friend last night. Miss Dallen, who lost her shoes when Sinuk shoved her into his car, said he fired his gun out the window as they drove off "to prove it was loaded."

When they arrived at Bowling Green, Miss Dallen telephoned her home at 1 a. m., telling her stepmother she was going to be married. "She sounded nervous and frightened and talked as though she had been coached on what to say," Mrs. Michael Dallen, the stepmother, said.

The couple then went to a police station and asked where they could be married. They headed back to Michigan when told there was a five-day wait between marriage license and ceremony.

"I tried to get rid of him," Miss Dallen told police. "I feel sorry for him because he's sick."

NEW YORK (UP)—Coffee drinkers Friday started to count on a new food bill saving when wholesale prices for the beverage beans went down another four to five cents a pound.

General Foods Corporation started the move with a four-cent cut in Maxwell House brand which goes down to 88 cents, wholesale.

Grand Union Company cut the retail price of Maxwell House a nickel to 90 cents a pound, effective today in all of the chain's supermarkets.
