Shower of Stars A Light Drizzle

By EVE STARR

HOLLYWOOD—CRITIC'S CORNER: "Shower of Stars," which has not been a particularly notable success this season, turned to baseball for its theme last Thursday night and had an opera star buying a ball club as an investment. Daily Variety called it a "ringing hit." We call it a bobble. You pays your money and you takes your choice.

Marguerite Piazza played the opera star. She sings like a bird, but unfortunately she acts like one, too. And she reacts like a piece of litmus paper. When she's strutting her musical stuff, be it an aria from "La Boheme" or the rock-'n-roll "Dance With Me, Henry," she's great. When she's trying to act, she's not great.

Opposite her was Tony Martin, and he can't act either. His fans are legion and he can curdle the bobby-soxers right in their socks with his baritone voice, but he can't act. And if we may offer a strictly minority opinion, it has always been our feeling this his singing voice is akin to that of a cow in pain.

Vivian Vance and Bill Frawley, two fine troupers, were pretty much wasted in "High Pitch," which was the title of this little venture. Vivian did have a go at one good song and did it well, but she was given little else to do. Frawley seemed strangely ill at ease, as though he were vainly waiting for Lucille Ball to prance onstage and put a little vitality into the proceedings. Musical comedy is still TV's toughest nut to crack.

STARR REPORTS: One of the mysteries of Hollywood these days concerns the status of "The Comedy Hour" come June 12, when it is scheduled to start its summer season under the combined aegis of NBC, Paramount, York Productions and a new advertising agency. York Productions is the Martin & Lewis production company, Jerry Lewis, president. They are supposed to be producing the new series. Paramount, to whom Martin & Lewis are under contract, is supposed to be chipping in with film clips from its upcoming feature pictures, although the show itself is being billed as a live show.

Nobody at York Productions, including Jerry Lewis, seems to have the faintest idea as to what will be going on the air June 12 or who will be putting it on. Nobody at Paramount knows anything about it. Nobody at NBC knows anything about it. NBC tells you to call York, York tells you to call Paramount, Paramount tells you to call NBC. And June 12 is not very far away. Martin & Lewis, meanwhile, will do the June 5 "Comedy Hour." This much they know. But there's no script yet. Confusing, isn't it?

STARRDUST: CBS is taking a deep breath and throwing its highly prized new film series, "Gunsmoke," into the Saturday night spot opposite George Gobel next season. Reminds us of the situation two years ago when NBC condemned Dennis Day to the Monday spot opposite "I Love Lucy" and Dennis toyed with the idea of tossing a "farewell luncheon" for the press.
