

Statesman's HOME Panorama

Women . . . Music . . . Fashions . . . Features

Recent visitors in the capital have been Major and Mrs. Frank Turner and daughters, Linda and Laura, above, who were guests of Mrs. Turner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Williams. Many parties were arranged to honor the couple during their Salem visit. (Kennell-Ellis Studio).

Visiting in Salem enroute to Hawaii are Lt. and Mrs. Ronald Smith and sons, Jeff and Scott, who recently returned to the states from Japan, where the navy officer has been stationed the past two years. They are currently visiting at the home of Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Van Wieder. Lt. Smith's new assignment will be Pearl Harbor and his wife and sons will join him in Honolulu in June. (Kennell-Ellis Studio).

At the right is Mrs. Norman P. Hinges, who recently arrived in the capital from Duluth, Minn., to visit Captain Hinges' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Benson. The army captain is currently in Korea and his wife will remain in Salem until his return in the fall. (Kennell-Ellis Studio).

A newcomer being welcomed in Dallas is Mrs. William Swindells Jr., the former Ann Johnston of Portland, above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ridgway T. Johnston. Mrs. Swindells was introduced at a tea for which Mrs. James Allan Inglis and her daughter, Mrs. Mark Peter Miller of Portland, were hostesses Saturday at the Inglis home in Dallas. A large group of Salem and Dallas friends attended the affair. Mr. Swindells is with the Willamette Valley Lumber Co. (Photo by George Cochern, Oregon College of Education.)

Three Salem women were elected state officers of the University of Oregon Mothers for the ensuing year at the annual meeting held on the campus last weekend during Mothers and Junior Weekend. Left to right are Mrs. Mark Astrup, recording secretary; Mrs. William L. Lidbeck, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. James Walton, state president. (Kennell-Ellis studio).

A round of farewell parties feted Mrs. Thomas A. Windishar and daughter, Joan, pictured at the left, prior to their departure for Portland to make their home. They have resided here for many years and their new home will be in the Alameda district. (Kennell-Ellis Studio).