

Top Russ Diplomats Try Western Styles

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) - Two of Russia's top diplomats went west for a while Friday. Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov of the Soviet Union and Georgi N. Zarubin, Soviet ambassador to the U. S., cheerfully accepted 10-gallon cowboy hats from a newsman and sported them for photographers. The hats didn't fit, but Molotov and Zarubin didn't let on until after their train had pulled out from Cheyenne on its way to San Francisco. They will attend the United Nations celebration June 20-25.

Pope Receives Reports on Argentina

(Story also on page one.) VATICAN CITY (AP) - Pope Pius XII heard a firsthand report Friday on troubles of the Roman Catholic church in Argentina and gave its hierarchy, clergy and people his blessing. Two prelates expelled by the government of President Juan D. Peron brought the report to the Pope.

The expulsion was followed by quick proclamation of excommunication of all who had part in it, including Peron, and a few hours later by bloody fighting in Buenos Aires. These sudden events, said the Vatican radio, had "profoundly upset Catholics and friends of liberty and human dignity throughout the world."

The two prelates, Msgr. Manuel Tato, auxiliary bishop of Buenos Aires, and his assistant, Msgr. Ramon Pablo Nova, were hurried to the Pontiff's side for an audience of almost an hour and a half. The Vatican's L'Osservatore Romano said the Pontiff received the report "with most effusive amiability."

"His Holiness vividly interested himself in their dolorous trials... in most comforting terms, he then reaffirmed his particular goodwill for the prelates, for the entire Argentine episcopate, clergy and faithful of that Catholic nation so singularly dear to him for so many reasons." The Pontiff concluded the audience by bestowing the "most ample blessings" on them.

The Vatican radio described the expulsion as "brutal." Peron, it said, "follows the iniquitous path of persecutors of all times. But, perhaps he has surpassed them all in speed. Since last November until today, he has burned up the roads."

The Vatican radio speaker lamented Thursday's bloodshed and said it could have been and should have been avoided, he said.

John Golden, Broadway Producer, Dies

NEW YORK (AP) - The last act curtain fell Friday on the life of John Golden, the fabulous Broadway producer, with the touch that rivaled his name. He died in his sleep at the age of 80.

He was stage struck from the age of 8. Few men took more from the theater than he did. Few gave as much back. He was the best known philanthropist in show business, where generosity is no rarity.

Golden might have spun out his years as a business executive. He was a successful actor at 26. But Broadway was in his blood. He couldn't make it as an actor, and that was perhaps the only time in his life that he failed.

But he turned to song writing and later to producing and staging and his success was instant and tremendous. He wrote the lyrics for "Poor Butterfly," a song that sold two million copies.

His first show was "Turn to the Right," in 1916. It was a hit. So were eight of his next 11 shows. At his death he had produced more than 100, and it was his boast there was no smut in any one of them.

"Cleanliness is healthful and profitable," Golden said. Probably no one knew how much money Golden made. But by 1944 he was donating as much as $100,000 at a time to the advancement of the theater.

Death came to Golden in his 15-room home on a 20-acre estate in Bayside, Queen, on the north shore of Long Island near the city limits.

He had even shared his home. Nine acres of his property were carved into baseball diamonds as a playground for children.

"I love children," he explained. "I happen to be the kind of man who loves to hear the screams of children."

Golden never had a child of his own, however. He is survived only by his widow the former Margaret Hesterich. They were married in 1909.

West Big 3 End Parley

NEW YORK (AP) - The Western Big Three ended two days of high-level talks Friday with the expressed hope "much can be achieved" in the coming months toward "the goal of peace."

A joint communique issued by the American, British and French foreign ministers, after laying plans for the heads of state summit meeting with Russia at Geneva July 18, said:

"On the threshold of the 10th anniversary of the founding of the United Nations, the foreign ministers are confident the common policies which they and their allies have successfully pursued in the past will provide the foundation for further progress in the settlement of outstanding problems."

The foreign ministers conferred at their final session with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and reportedly gave him a free hand on his forthcoming trip to Moscow.

Pinball Fee Offer Declined
PORTLAND (AP) - Pinball operators attempted to pay fees for licenses for pinball machines which are not coin-operated, but city officials turned them down.

The operators maintain that the city's anti-pinball ordinance bans only coin-operated machines. A city ordinance licensing pinball machines was not repealed by the ordinance prohibiting coin-operated machines.

Pinball operators removed or plugged coin slots in some machines and contend these are not illegal. A hearing on this point is scheduled Monday before a circuit judge.

Oregon Workers Paid Highest on Hourly Basis

Oregon's production workers earned an average of $2.16 an hour in 1954, the highest in the nation.

On the basis of weekly earnings, however, Oregon dropped from third to fourth with an $82.04 figure.

Michigan was first with $87.84, followed by Nevada $86.43, and Wyoming's $84.03.

The figures were released by the Oregon Unemployment Compensation Commission.

Gold Dust Found As Old Yukon Hotel Torn Down

VICTORIA (AP) - Workmen demolishing the old Royal Alexandra Hotel at Dawson City, Y. T., are finding it a dusty job—gold dusty. It was learned here Friday that a miniature gold rush has developed at the Yukon city.

Frank Woolard of Burnaby, B.C., wrote the Victoria Daily Colonist to say workmen were finding gold dust in the cracks of the floors in the aged structure.

About half an ounce was found on an old newspaper beneath a sheet of linoleum.

Governors Day Review Today At Ft. Lewis

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) - Citizen soldiers from Washington and Oregon climax their first week of summer training camp here Saturday afternoon with the annual Governors Day review.

The approximately 8500 members of the 41st National Guard division—led by their commander, Maj. Gen. H. G. Minton, for the last time—will parade before a reviewing group of dignitaries at Gray Field.

In the reviewing party will be Gov. Arthur B. Langlie of Washington, Maj. Gen. Thomas E. Rilea, adjutant general of Oregon, representing Gov. Paul Patterson, and officials of the National Guard.

A large number of home folks, relatives of the troops, are expected to witness the review.

General Maison, commander of the 41st and chief of the Oregon State Patrol, will lead the troops during the parade, his final before retiring from the division.

Marching with him will be members of his general staff: Lt. Col. Donald N. Anderson, Portland; Lt. Col. Albert Kaye, Bremerton; Lt. Col. Joe Price, Portland; Lt. Col. Carey C. Harman, Seattle; Lt. Col. Victor H. English, Portland, and Capt. Edward V. O'Reilly, Eugene.

Of three main awards to be presented, the heavy mortar co., 162nd infantry of Oregon City, will receive two.

The Oregon City outfit won the 41st Infantry Division association trophy for outstanding service and the Oregon part of the Eisenhower trophy. The 41st Reconnaissance Co. of Bremerton was named Washington winner of the Eisenhower trophy.

The 161st Washington regiment, commanded by Col. Ralph L. Phelps at Spokane, ended two days on the firing range Friday after having fired 2500 rounds of mortar ammunition.

Solons to Seek John Day Dam Planning Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Morse (D-Ore.) said Friday he and Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore.) will press in the Senate for an increase in appropriations for planning of John Day dam.

The House Thursday approved an appropriation of $500,000 to be used in the year beginning July 1.

Morse said Army engineers have advised him they can use "at least $700,000" for pre-construction planning "and it is possible that as much as 1 1/2 million dollars could be used on an accelerated schedule."

He said the "target we have set for ourselves" on Cougar dam is to have the $100,000 approved by the house increased to $500,000. The engineers have said this would complete planning and permit a start on construction next spring.

Morse said he and Neuberger also would ask the Senate Appropriations Committee to recommend $200,000 planning money for Green Peter dam and other funds for various other Oregon projects.

Portland Vote Averts Strike

PORTLAND (AP) - Drayage workmen averted a local vote Friday night to accept an employers' wage offer and thereby avert the possibility of a strike.

The agreement calls for a 10-cent hourly wage increase retroactive to June 1, 10 cents more May 1 next year, and 12 cents more May 1, 1957. A union spokesman also said the contract includes improved welfare provisions.

The old scale for the workers ranged from $1.82 1/2 to $1.93 1/2 per hour.

Kiwi Tries to Tunnel Out

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) - The San Diego zoo's priceless kiwi bird was reported missing Friday.

Searchers found it 90 minutes later, in a tunnel it had dug in the 18-inch-thick peat moss flooring of its cage.

The bird, which does not fly, was given to the zoo by the people of Auckland, N. Z.

It and one in the London zoo are the only kiwis in captivity outside of New Zealand.

Spangler Declares Integrity Vital to Newspaper Success

ROSEBURG (AP) - Newspapers live and die by many of the same standards "we establish for humans," Ray L. Spangler, publisher of the Redwood City, Calif., Tribune said here Friday night.

"No one factor kills newspapers," he told the 68th annual meeting of the Oregon Newspaper Publishers Assn., "and no magic medicine keeps them alive."

Spangler said, "The test of our product, in terms of acceptability over the years, is whether people believe what they read in the papers."

The publisher said that newspapers have many fatal diseases and are vulnerable in every department.

"If newspapers have personalities," he said, "they most certainly have character. Character seems to change with the times, and the standards by which people measure newspaper character also change. And if I were to put my finger on one quality more than another that stands out today as the essential ingredient to a successful newspaper operation, I would use the word 'responsibility.'"

Editorial Division

After discussing the factors affecting character in the advertising, circulation and production departments, Spangler turned his attention to the news and editorial divisions and said:

"It never should be forgotten that a newspaper is a semi-public institution and as such occupies a position of trust in the community. There are steps which only a newspaper can take for righting wrongs and giving constructive leadership. Our obligations and opportunities in these matters of public service should always be kept in mind."

Three Essentials

"There are at least three essentials of a good newspaper:

"1. A newsbole big enough to do the job.

"2. A staff adequate to report, research and edit the news.

"3. A recognition of our responsibility to present the news of the day understandingly.

"Ours is an era of astounding development and constant change, yet in striving to keep up with the times, we must not lose sight of the ancient landmarks of our craft. The most fundamental of these landmarks is the segregation of news and opinion.

Opinions Out of News

"Readers will be more inclined to believe and to accept us if we keep our opinions out of the news, they will believe our sincerity if we admit our mistakes more readily and more honestly.

"If we remain reasonably alert, fairly efficient and completely honest, we will be able to do the job."
