

Argentina's Army Guards Catholics Attending Church

(Story also on page one.)
By FRED L. STROZIER
BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Roman Catholics thronged to Sunday masses in Buenos Aires Sunday under a guarantee of safety from the armed forces.
Services were permitted in most of the capital's undamaged churches but priests were warned against delivering inflammatory sermons.
Armed forces under command of Gen. Franklin Lucero, the army minister, are in firm control of all of Argentina in the wake of Thursday's brief and bloody navy revolt which flared after seven months of controversy between church and state.
Already the Supreme Council of the Armed Forces has started trials of more than 800 persons cap-

Humphrey Set to Face 'Tight Limit'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has told lawmakers he is willing to work under a "tight limit" on the national debt and will let Congress figure how high the ceiling should be.
Humphrey's views, delivered informally to members of the Senate Finance Committee, seemed likely to take most of the political fire out of an issue about which Democrats have been twitting their Republican opponents since 1952.
In that year's campaign, President Eisenhower said it would be one of the primary objectives of his administration to balance the budget and eliminate red ink spending. The federal debt has continued to mount and Democrats have not let the campaign promises be forgotten.
Sen. Martin (R-Pa.), a member of the finance group, said in an interview he regards it as unfortunate that the goal can't be attained this year but expects a vigorous administration drive in 1956 to bring expenditures down to the level of income.
"I'm personally for balancing the budget instead of cutting taxes, although I would like to see taxes reduced," Martin said. "We haven't been able to cut expenditures enough this year, so I suppose we are going to have to vote for at least a temporary increase in the debt limit."
Humphrey has given committee members figures indicating that the debt is likely to mount above the $75 billion dollar permanent limit before the calendar year ends.
Temporary Increase
Congress voted a temporary increase of six billions last year to lift the ceiling to $81 billions, but that law expires June 30.
Chairman Byrd (D-Va.) of the Finance Committee is understood to be working on a proposal for a one-year boost of about five billion dollars in the limit.
Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, said the decision on what to do about the issue would be left largely to Byrd, indicating he expects party members generally to go along with the Virginian's recommendations without much debate.

Lad Perishes In Tornado

VITA, Man. (AP)—A tornado ripped through this southwestern Manitoba farming community Sunday, killing a 2-year-old boy and leveling several buildings. Scores of persons were reported injured.
A hospital, the high school, a hotel, bakery and drug store were among the buildings destroyed. Fires also destroyed three homes. Ambulances and firemen were rushed to Vita from Emerson, 30 miles to the southwest.
Most of the northern section of the town of 350 persons was left a mass of rubble. Vita is 50 miles south of Winnipeg and 8 miles from the Minnesota border.

Demos to Fight Request for A-Ship Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Anderson (D-NM) and Rep. Hollifield (D-Calif.) Sunday promised a vigorous fight against an Eisenhower administration effort to restore funds for a world circling atomic powered exhibit ship.
Amid signs of a growing battle over the issue, Hollifield said the President's proposal involves "a crash program to build an obsolete and uneconomical reactor."
He said it would "pirate" valuable scientists from other more important projects.
Anderson is chairman and Hollifield is a member of the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee, which knocked 21 million dollars for the exhibit ship out of authorization bill for Atomic Energy Commission projects last week.
Democrats on the group voted against it; some Republican members supported it, others abstained.
President Eisenhower at once signaled at a meeting of Republican congressional leaders that he wanted a fight made to restore the project. Sen. Bridges (R-NH) reported that the President is "not going to take this lying down."
GRASS, SAWDUST BURNS
Salem firemen Sunday put out two south-end grass fires and a fire in the sawdust hopper of Floyd Hamman, 1835 Garnet St. His fire was about 6 p.m. The grass fires, both in the afternoon, were in the 1300 block of Lee Street and the 800 block of Wildwood Drive.

John Garner Backs Butler, Wants to Help

UVALDE, Tex. (AP)—Former Vice President John Nance Garner gave National Democratic Chairman Paul Butler his warm support Sunday and said he was "delighted to do anything he could" for the party.
Both Garner and Butler—apparently tongue-in-cheek—disavowed any political significance in the national party chieftan's pilgrimage to the Garner home here.
For a week Butler has been touring the state seeking to re-unite party factions here and making plans to return Texas to the Democratic column in 1956.
Butler announced that he would confer Tuesday morning at Seguin, Tex., with Mrs. Hilda H. Weinert, national Democratic committeewoman from Texas, and fly later in the day to Houston for a brief visit with Jesse Jones, Houston financier and former boss of the Reconstruction Finance Corp.
The Butler-Garner meeting at Uvalde was public except for a 20-minute conference between the 86-year-old former vice president and the national chairman on the screened porch of the home of Garner's son, Polly, next door to Garner's residence.
No Statement
No statement was issued following the conference, but as they shook hands before Butler left for San Antonio, he asked Garner: "Do you have any advice for me?"
Garner replied: "Just go on doing as you have been."
A crowd of about 200 persons gathered on the lawn and filed by Butler and Garner to shake hands after they had posed a length for radio, television and news cameramen.
Butler had never met Garner, and said that the purpose of his trip to Uvalde was to get acquainted with "the grand old man of the Democratic Party."

Army Chief Hits Rumor 'Mongering'

By FRED L. STROZIER
BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's new military strong man, Army Minister Franklin Lucero, in a communique Sunday night sharply criticized rumor mongers he said were trying to prevent the country from returning to normal.
Gen. Lucero said "People interested in impeding a return to the normal situation" after last Thursday's bloody navy revolt "are circulating alarming rumors which are completely unfounded and devoid of truth."
He specifically branded as false rumors of army units marching toward Buenos Aires from interior points, and of naval bombardments and garrison uprisings in the interior.
The general's communique said "The situation is tending steadily to become definitely normal throughout the country." The only troop movements, he continued "are operations of return to barracks, and the naval forces are remaining loyal."
"In order to avoid alarm," the communique added, "It is stated that the planes that are flying over the country are doing this in execution of vigilance missions."
"The cooperation of the citizens is asked in order to prevent and avoid the spreading of false rumors and bring about prompt normalization."
Most of the capital's undamaged Roman Catholic churches were thronged with worshippers Sunday. Services were permitted under a guarantee of safety from the armed forces, but priests were warned against delivering inflammatory sermons.

Strike Clogs Two of Main British Ports

LONDON (AP)—Ocean liners clogged two of Britain's main ports Sunday as a wildcat seamen's strike went into its 20th day.
The ports are Southampton, from which many liners sail for New York, and Liverpool, departure point for Canada-bound ships. Some strikers were drifting back to work slowly at Liverpool, but there was no such development at Southampton.
Southampton had its biggest concentration of Cunard liners since the war. The port was so jammed the Mauretania had to be shifted to a dry dock floated to accommodate her.
The Liverpool situation is so bad that Cunard's newest liner, the 22,000-ton Ivernia, has been forced to remain at anchor in the Clyde River, in Scotland. The ship is supposed to sail June 30 on her maiden voyage from Liverpool to Montreal.
The strikers—mostly stewards, cooks, and other catering personnel—want a 44-hour week and better working conditions. Their walkout has been disowned by the National Union of Seamen.
Most of the strikers are under 26 and have been warned by the government their draft exemption ended when they struck. Leslie Hargreaves, head of the strike committee, called this "intimidation."

Three Texas Children Die In Rainstorm

QUAH, Tex. (AP)—Three small children were drowned in a farm storm cellar near this West Texas town early Sunday morning as violent hail and rainstorms lashed a wide section of the state.
The three drowning victims were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Keeney.
The oldest of the three victims was 6 years old.
The Keeneys, fearing a tornado thunderstorm that struck their area, went into the storm cellar when the storm subsided, they opened the cellar door. A wall of water rushed in, knocking them back. The water quickly filled the cellar and the Keeneys were able to save only one of their four children.

Western Officials Await Return of GIs

TOKYO—Western officials anxiously awaited the return here Sunday of these three American soldiers, who once said they wanted to stay in Red China forever. All were captured in the Korean fighting. Left to right they are William A. Cowart, Dalton, Ga.; Lewis Griggs, Jacksonville, Tex.; and Otho G. Bell, Olympia, Wash. (AP Wirephoto.) (Story on page one.)

Russia Said Pressing for Declaration

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Russia was reported early Monday to be pressing for a declaration of some sort, possibly on peace, by the 10th anniversary meeting of the U.N. opening Monday afternoon.
President Eisenhower flew in from Washington Sunday night to inaugurate the U.N. birthday party. Informed sources said he was planning an important policy declaration in his address, set for 3 p.m.
V.M. Molotov, Soviet foreign minister, had his first direct high-level contact with Western delegates Sunday night at a dinner given by Ambassador Eduardo Zuleta Angel of Colombia.
Next to Lodge
Molotov was seated next to U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., and was reported to have chatted on pleasant social matters with Lodge. It was said they discussed nothing of a political nature.
On the other side of Lodge at the elaborately decorated table was Kuzma Kiselev, foreign minister of the White Russian Republic.
Diplomatic sources said they gained the impression from persons at the dinner that Molotov wanted the anniversary meeting to end with a declaration.
This would be contrary to the decision of the last General Assembly which voted for the birthday celebration and decided it would adopt no resolutions of any nature.
It would be in line, however, with the Soviet policy of plugging for peace—Moscow style—at every opportunity.
No Immediate Reaction
There was no immediate reaction from other delegates but it was said in informed quarters that the majority likely would hold to the original plan and oppose adoption of a declaration of any sort.
Secretary of State Dulles did not attend the dinner given by the Colombian ambassador. He went to meet President Eisenhower.
British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay were present, along with a number of diplomats from European and Latin American countries.
The Big Four foreign ministers will hold their first business discussions Tuesday night after a dinner arranged by Dulles.

Soviet Navy Plans Japan Celebration

MAIZURU, Japan (AP)—The Russian navy will come back to Maizuru July 4 with flags flying in honor of the day, the Soviet navy commander here said Monday.
The Reds, just completing the return of 10 World War II landing craft, will return then with another convoy.
Since the American navy will receive them on the American national holiday, the Red navy officers said they will "dress ship"—fly all flags in accordance with international custom.
The American ships probably will fire the traditional 48-gun "salute to the union"—given only on the fourth.
Monday's transfer proceeded smoothly and, by noon, six of the 10 LCI's (landing craft, infantry) had been turned over to American officers. All 10 were to be transferred by nightfall.
The Soviet convoy commander, Capt. B.M. Vorontsov, said the next transfer will include five torpedo ships, eight motor torpedo boats, and four sub-chasers, the American commander, Capt. E.J. MacGregor, reported.

Politics Creeps Into Nebraska's I-Party System

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Partisan politics crept into Nebraska's non-partisan Legislature when Gov. J. Hugo Aronson of Montana appeared before the body.
In a brief address, Aronson noted he is only the third Republican to be elected governor of Montana. Silence greeted the comment. "Aren't there any Republicans in here?" asked Aronson. Applause followed.

Goodwill Wanted

WASHINGTON—The citizens of Washington don't have any vote but the Capitol architect still wants their goodwill.
He shut down a boiler in the Capitol power house, several blocks from the main Capitol building, when it showered the neighborhood with soot after a collecting device failed.
