Sectional Meet Opens Friday

Salem bridge players more than held their own at the monthly master point of the local unit of the American Contract Bridge League at the Elks club Sunday when they won all high places from a dozen out-of-town experts. Mrs. Elmer O. Berg and Mrs. Charles L. Newsom were high east-west, while Walter M. Cline and L. W. Miles won on other side of the boards. Those gaining points included three Corvallis players, Mrs. Jose Moritz, Mrs. D. M. Hutchinson and Mrs. Lucetta McCoskrie, while these local representatives also scored: Mrs. Paul F. Burris, Mrs. W. M. Cline, C. L. Newsom, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kimsey, Mrs. C. C. Gabriel, Mrs. Wolf von Osterstedt, Mrs. W. A. Barsch and Elmer O. Berg.

In the weekly tournament of the Elks Duplicate club Friday evening Mrs. Arthur L. Lewis and Elmer O. Berg were high with Mrs. Roy H. Tokerud and Ellis H. Jones second. Others awarded points were Mrs. E. O. Berg, Mrs. R. L. McKesson, Mrs. Ward Graham, Mrs. George Rein, W. M. Cline, Mrs. C. B. Benton and Mrs. C. L. Newsom.

Sectional Meet Slated Because of the coast-wide sectional meet to be held over the coming weekend at the Elks club here, only one weekly tournament for seniors is scheduled. With many new inquiries concerning the sectional event, a record attendance is expected by Chairman W. E. Kimsey of the Salem unit.

Four championships will be decided during the five sessions, and special one-session tournaments will be held for both seniors and juniors. Besides the men's pairs and women's pairs title affairs to be held the opening night Friday, the Salem Elks special trophies will be played for by other senior players. Open pairs will occupy both championships sessions Saturday, while the team-of-four title will be at stake Sunday afternoon and evening.

Enough Refrigeration for 109,000 homes helps make Oregon's own fine beer your better buy!

FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT BLITZ WEINHARD

The cold air in Blitz Weinhard's fermentation, storage and finishing cellars is the freshest, purest air possible. It has been run through a precipitron, an electrical device that removes all dust and other air-borne particles.

Blitz has just installed a new tile yeast room with 100 per cent stainless steel equipment. Here, the temperature is held to an even 32°F. and the air is thoroughly filtered—ideal conditions for the preservation of yeast.

The average temperature of most home and tavern refrigerators—about 42°F.—is the most generally-approved drinking temperature for beer. Keep your refrigerator well stocked with Blitz ... today's better beer buy!

And, like the "vegetable crisper" in a modern refrigerator, Blitz Weinhard's hop storage room is cooled and humidified to the exact point known to be best for holding the delicate flavors of choicest hops.

It's Dr. Max Zimmermann, Blitz brewmaster and world-renowned beer-making authority, who watches over the temperature in all parts of the brewery. He knows that carefully-controlled refrigeration is one of many factors behind the light, clean beer taste you prefer.

Here's another reason why, for beer that always tastes best ... to you and your guests ... Better Buy Blitz!
