From First Statesman. March 28, 1851

CHARLES A SPRAGUE, Editor and Publisher

Member Associated Press The Associated Press is entitled excrusively to the use for republication of all local news printed in

Travel as 'Natural Right'

The present incumbent is Frances G. Knight.

of appeals in Washington declared Americans have a "natural right" to travel abroad. It ly or without due process of law. It ruled that mere membership in an organization on the attorney general's list of subversive outfits was not sufficient ground for refusing a ions of the passport division are subject to

Steadily the federal courts are throwing shafts of constitutional sunlight to pierce the fog of fear which has developed in recent years. The emanation from the Alger Hiss case and related hearings, part of it authentic, part of it inflated, induced a popular hysteria which politicians seized on to bolster their own careers. When the roll finally is called we shall find that many individuals suffered grave injustices in consequence. The courts fortunately are able to view cases and proceedings with an air of detachment and to apply to them the principles of the constitu-

Other signs point to a return to sanity. A congressional committee has recommended a general review of the loyalty program. The recent decision in the Peters case points up such a need. The Statesman has never lost faith in the courts or in the good sense of the American people and has been confident that a medieval darkness would not be allowed to settle on the land. Recent events, among which are recent court decisions on passport cases, help to confirm that faith.

The AFL eggs and poultry workers' union has struck poultry plants in Oregon, forcing them to shut down. The union evidently wants the employers to "talk turkey." "Chicken-in-the-rough" eateries do not find such a strike anything to crow over.

If Russia has sincere intentions of doing its part toward advancing world peace it certainly has a poor way of revealing them. Events of the week point in the opposite direction. At San Francisco Foreign Minister Molotov's speech in the general debate at the U.N. General Assembly sounded like a stuck needle on an old record. And at about the time he was speaking, Soviet planes were shooting down a U. S. Navy bomber on a routine patrol of international waters in the vicinity of St. Lawrence island, American territory in the Bering sea.

When Secretary Dulles took the podium at San Francisco and replied to Molotov he did not know of the event in the Far North, but it would only have emphasized the points which he made namely, that Russia should stop using force and subversion against other countries. Even more direct was the rejoinder of Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay of France who said of Molotov's speech:

"I have heard the same speech at least ten times. It is always the same thing. We are the bad ones and they are the good ones. We want war and Russia wants peace."

At former sessions of U.N., the Russian spokesman would lead off with similar upbraiding of the USA and its western allies as imperialist warmongers and his speech would be parroted by succeeding spokesmen for the Red satellites. So the substance is old stuff to a U.N. veteran. Molotov really should have altered the tune a little.

Of course, Russia may be reserving its concessions toward international accord for the July meeting at Geneva. But the Molotov speech and the shooting down of a U.S. plane of the Aleutians are a poor prelude to the Big. Four conference whose success depends on mutual accommodation and compromise. They merely serve to underscore the counse' of President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles not to expect miracles at Geneva. It will be gravely disappointing, though, for the appeals to labor and bring forth only a peace-

Fish or Cut Bait!

The Friday Washington news report said that the Senate Interior Committee had postponed "for at least a week and possibly for the year" action on the bill authorizing a federal high dam in Hells Canyon. The reason is that proponents of the bill lack a majority, and they want to come out with a favorable report if at all possible. The party lineup is eight Democrats to seven Republicans. Seven Democrats are said to be for the bill, but Senator Murray of Montana is away until July. Senator Long of Louisiana is opposed to the bill. At least five of the seven Republicans are against the measure, so supporters of the bill must get one Republican vote to have a majority. The one they are working on is Senator Kuchel of

There were hopes that the senators from the upper Colorado states, Watkins of Utah and Millikin of Colorado, would support the Hells Canyon bill, but Watkins after some delay came out against it. Millikin has not been recorded to date. A worrisome angle lately brought up is over future use of Snake River waters for irrigation in Southern Idaho. Court decisions were cited as ground for fear they might be lost to a federal power project. One purpose of the reference may be to stall senate action Surely if the senate doesn't do anything for a year, after all the hearings and arguments, the Federal Power Commission will conclude that Congress isn't going to authorize a federal project, as Examiner Costello assumed, and go ahead with issuing a license to Idaho Power Co. Congress should fish or cut bait!

GRIN AND BEAR IT

"We wish to report the results of our own 2-week notion-wide survey

SEEMS

(Continued from page one.)

of what such properties are worth or likely to be worth in the conceivable future." Bill cited the case of a four-acre tract, "a stony, wind-swept cliff above a narrow cove." The highest appraisal for it was $1200. The jury awarded $12,000 "on the representation that some day the cove might be useful for shipping."

Another tract with highest appraisal at $8000 drew a figure of $22,000 from a jury; one at $5,100 was rolled up to $24,027.60.

There have been numerous attempts at gold mining in Southwest Oregon, but brother, property owners in Curry County struck pay dirt in jury boxes.

The Courier suggests a program of education to the effect that in making extravagant awards, jurors are really injuring themselves. (The same rule applies to excessive awards in damage cases on the theory that insurance companies will have to pay-that just forces companies to boost casualty rates).

Local defenders of the Curry County awards say that there is little level land in that countyonly a ribbon between the mountains and the sea, and some places not even that, so the prices should be high. But they know very well that Highway 101 is the very artery of their life. With no railroads, no water transportation to the outside world, no good roads to the interior, Highway 101 has to carry commercial and tourist traffic. The old route is hopelessly inadequate. A new one will help to open up that whole strip of lovely coastland, making it more accessible for tourists and for those who may want seaside homes there. Awards which delay the advent of reconstruction of Highway 101 ill serve the early and long-time needs of the section.

Figure 1 Satety

(Editor's Note: Letters for The Statesman's Safety Valve column are given prior consideration if they are informative and are not more are informative and are than 300 words in length. attacks and ridicule, as well as libel, are to be avoided, but anyone is entitled to air beliefs and opinions on any side of any question.)

Partnership To the Editor:

Some of your readers might be amused by a description of the partnership between the owl and the panther, found in the writings of Lewis Carroll, author of Alice in Wonderland. The following was read into the Congressional Record by Senator Richard L. Neuberger in a speech in which he discussed the so-called partnership between the Federal government and the private power companies proposed by the Administration and Republican members of the Oregon Congressional delegation:

I passed by his garden and marked, with one eye, How the owl and the panther were sharing a pie;

The panther took piecrust, and gravy, and meat, While the owl had the dish as his share of the treat. When the pie was finished the owl, as a boon, Was kindly permitted to pocket the spoon; While the panther received knife and fork with a growl,

And concluded the banquet By eating the owl.

Out of sympathy for the tender sensibilities of his readers. Mr. Carroll did not add the final words to the verse describing the fate of the owl. The final words have not been written as to the fate of our natural resources under the administration's partnership power program, but there are many who feel that the government "partner" would be doomed to a fate rather like that of the

THOMAS C. ENRIGHT

Of Cold War

By J. M. ROBERTS Associated Press News Analyst It didn't take long for the United Nations, in what was supposed to have been a 10th anniversary love feast, to revert to type.

around it.

The conflict between the United States and Russia cropped up just like it always has when Molotov headed the Russian delegation. Secretary Dulles boiled the whole thing down to one point Thursday. It was the point that has always been basic, no matter how many other arguments have revolved Russia can have peace, he said, any time she will drop her program of expansion by force and subversion.

an end bad situations which she Nelson, 2660 Greenwood herself had created.

He pointed out that everything Shurtleff, 1870 N. 23rd St.; best such as regional alliances and en- N. 20th St.; largest family, (kitcircling military bases, had been tens), Bobbie Pahl. created in reaction against her aggressive attitude.

He served notice the United States would not engage in any Linda Meier, 2445 Wooddle Ave.; at 1811 Chemeketa St.; Post Auto barter deals involving the rights of other peoples, but indeed would Evergreen Ave.; best dressed demand liberation of those Russia already has enslaved.

The secretary had been reported outraged at Molotov's revival of all the old cold war issues at the 34th St., and largest family lovefeast, just at a time when preparations were being made for a top level peace conference, and The senate at Washington, he sounded like it. It was one of D. C., paid James F. Byrnes the the bluntest speeches he had ever

His emphasis on the need for a complete change in Russia's attitude toward the rest of the world served to point up the futility of trying to settle East-West tensions widely known physician and by mere paper agreements.

What he is asking of Russia's gon and Pennsylvania before religion and cut their own throats. pies), Sandra McGilchrist, 2575 in satisfactory working condition. Those who ride the bicycle of communism must go from one totali-Dr. Harry K. Newburn took tarian control to another. If they Mike and Jim Willis, 2035 War- ber truck nine miles south of Redover as president of the Uni- stop, they will topple off. They ner St.; smallest dog, Richard ding about 4 a. m. Thursday on versity of Oregon, and announced cannot obtain submission of their Overman, 1255 Third St.; larghe would first tackle problems peoples to their outmoded econom- est cat, Karen Townsend, 350 of faculty reorganization, housing ic theories unless they can divert Rosemont St.; smallest cat, Cindy attention to threats from the out- Scott, 190 Rosemont St.; best

ure. They are like some animal (turtle), Robert Cummings, 1149 injuries. packs which will turn upon and Ruge St.; best trained, Mickey eat a wounded member. Stalin & Schiller, 1525 Plaza St., and larg-Co. barely escaped the mobs by est family (puppies), Carol Crabpersonality and singing made halting the German advance on tree, 173 Stewart St. him as tremendous a favorite in Moscow at the last moment. If Olinger—Largest dog, Darlene the present regime were forced to give up international communism dog, Larry Hills, 3130 N. Liberty injuries. was signed to a new long-term give up international communism it could not survive the reaction. St.; best dressed (dog), Larry for it would have confessed itself too weak to continue. It must fight

State Eagles Elect Seavy

ROSEBURG A - Harry Seavy, Albany, was elected president at the annual state convention of the Eagles aerie Friday.

Clem Roskoski, Portland, was elected vice president, and L.A. Hamilton, Salem, was reelected secretary. Trustees named were: Harold Allen, Gold Beach; Paul Richae, The Dalles, and John W. Weber, Med-Those offices were uncontested. Elections for contested offices will be held Saturday, when the convention ends The auxiliary elected Edna dog, Sandra Handley; largest cat, Pierce, Tillamook, president; Bea- Roger Cook, 920 Ford St.; smalltrice Cure, Newport, secretary; est cat, Nancy Lee Morris, 230 conductor.

Bank Opens

EUGENE (A) - A new bank wil open for business here Saturday. later in the summer, according It is the independent Citizens Bank, to present plans. It is to be chartered by the state at a $500,-000 capitalization.

The president is H. Sanford Saari. The vice president is Roy S. Jensen and the cashier, N. S. Penrose. All come from Washington cities. The board chairman is L.H. Williams of Eugene.

save

new "Careful Driver Rating Plan" and "Step-Down Plan" Call me INSURANCE

J. EARL COOK

By Lichty U. N. Session | Pet Day Brings Variety of Revives Issues Animals to City Playgrounds

Turtles, ducks, rabbits, insects, cats, chickens and, of course, dogs were among the hundreds of pets paraded by Salem youngsters Friday at city playgrounds.

Coons, 455 Jefferson St.; small-bara Barton, 715 Locust St.;

smallest cat, Nancy Jean Fisher.

1005 Highland Ave.; best dressed pet (rabbit), Donald Coons, 455

Jefferson St.; most unusual pet

(turtle), Bob Gruchalla, 2240

Laurel Ave.; best trained pet

(dog), Gail and Doreen Murray

(dog), 3155 Evergreen Ave.: most unusual (snake), Tommy Zyp,

3174 Beacon St.; best trained

(dog), Larry Davidson, 2223 N.

(cats), Carol Spenst, 3080 Lans-

McKinley - Largest dog,

Cynthia Beard, 2655 E. Nob Hill;

smallest dog, Ronnie Spindle, 685

Wildwind Dr.; largest cat, Lee

Hammend, 660 Waldo St.; smallest cat, Marjorie Bradley, 639

Hoyt St.; best dressed (dog), Patty Cutler, 290 W. McGilchrist St.;

unusual (dove), David Peterson,

951 Red Hill Dr.; best trained

(dog), Dick Stingley, 1590 Cor-

dressed (dog), Nancy Deacon,

est cat and best dressed pet,

usual (bantam), Tonya Feddern,

Mary Ann Gale, 1511 N. Summer

Garfield-Largest cat, Anne

Derthick, 955 Marion St.; smallest cat, Dean Derthick, 955 Marion St.; best dressed and most unusual pet, Linda Turney, 585

N. Winter St.; best trained, Dean

Derthick, and largest family of pets, James Morrison, 535 N.

Richmond-Largest dog, Cheryl

Cole, 215 S. 23rd St.; smallest

St.; most unusual, Dianna Cole,

215 S. 23rd St.; best trained,

Mike Mehling, 528 S. 24th St.

and largest family, Nancy Kay

Nebraskan Heads

Junior Chamber

ATLANTA, Ga. (P) - Thirty-

three-year-old Hugh McKenna, Lincoln. Neb., insurance executive won a one-year term as president of the U.S. Junior Chamber of Losers included Jack Lively,

Commerce Thursday night.

Springfield, Ore.

Ankeny, 645 S. 25th St.

Winter St.

N. 4th St.

ing Ave.

E. Nob Hill.

The occasion was Pet Day, the first of the annual weekly series of "Days" sponsored by the city playgrounds staff. First place winners in various divisions at nine school playgrounds included: Highland-Largest dog, Breta

est dog, Linda Aplington, 2115 N. Liberty St.; largest cat, Bar-Lausanne Hall Kitchen Slated

(dog), Sandy Barnes, 1925 Hazel Ave., and largest family of pets Willamette University Friday (ducks), Lynn Schweigert, 2375 obtained a city building permit to do $3.00 in remodeling on the Englewood-Largest dog, Gail Lausanne Hall kitchen.

Morse, 1235 N. 25th St.; smallest Business Manager Richard P. He pointed out that everything dog, Barbara Murren, 1250 Ever- Petrie said the work to be done Molotov bragged about in Russia's green St.; largest cat, Joanne by Viesko & Post, will increase sweetness and light campaign had Harrison, 2245 Center St.; small- the kitchen's capacity to take been done under growing Allied est cat, Bobbie Pahl, 2245 care of the some 78 girls who pressure, and merely brought to Ladd St.; best dressed, Vicki will live in nearby Doney Hall to be completed this fall. St.: unusual (bantam), Leloss

Other building permits were issued to Robert Lawless to wreck of which Molotov had complained, trained (dog), Mary Perdu, 1045 a house at 105 W. Miller St., Barham Bros. to do $500 in alterations on an office building at 515 S. Church St.: Moses Angular, Washington-Largest dog, Mike $150 in alterations on a house at Logan, 2955 Larson St.; smallest 1370 Leslie St.; D. B. and Helen dog, Sherrill Logan; largest cat, Kleihege to erect a $200 garage smallest cat, Joan Miles, 2549 Sales, $500 washroom at 1105 S. 12th St.: David B. Hall, erect a $10,000 house and garage at 690 Hillcrest Dr.

Salem Woman Among 15 Hurt in Crash

REDDING, Calif. IP - An investigating officer said Friday he had not been able to determine the cause of a bus-lumber truck crash which injured 15 persons.

Howard A. Steinbach of the California Highway Patrol said lights leaders is that they renounce their ina Dr., and largest family (gup- on both vehicles apparently were

The Seattle-bound Trailways bus West Salem - Largest dog, rammed into the rear of the lum-Highway 99. Two soldiers from Fort Lewis,

Wash., were among the injured. Jimmy Tedder of the 2nd Infantry Division suffered a back injury The Russians cannot stand fail- 760 Wallace Rd.; unusual and Guy Sanderson received minor

Homer York of Grants Pass, Ore. was unconscious for hours after the crash, but was reported in good condition Friday, with injuries less serious than feared at first. Alice Siewert, 61, of 364 Cliff, Ore., escaped with mino

Hills; unusual (chipmunk), Kathy Osburn, 1545 Jefferson St., and Osburn, 1545 Jefferson St., and best trained (dog), Carlene Carol. Prof. Derthick Grant - Largest dog, Robin Gale, 1485 N. Summer St.:/smallest dog, Sandra and Darlene Plans Lecture Blischke, 2084 Warner St.; small-

First public event of Willamette Cheryl Kessel, 1160 Hood St.; un-University's summer session will take place Wednesday at 8 p.m. in music hall when Prof. Charles 1435 N. Summer St.; best trained Derthick, associate professor of (dog), Nancy and Patti Waite, psychology, lectures on "Why We 2020 Warner St.; largest family Behave as We Do. (rabbits), Caroline Claggett and

This lecture will be free and open to the public, the first in a series of summer lectures and recitals. At the summer session, 100 persons had registered by Friday. Of these 27 are taking graduate work in either liberal arts or music. Registration will close Monday.

oregon Safatesman

Phone 4-6811 Subscription Rates By carrier in cities: Daily and Sunday $ 1.45 per mo Daily only _____ By mail Sunday only:

(in advance) Anywhere in U S. $ .50 per mo. 2.75 six mo 5.00 year By mail, Daily and Sunday:

(in advance) In Oregon

in U. S. outside

Member Audit Bureau of Circulation Bureau of Advertising ANPA Oregon Newspaper Publishers Association

Advertising Representatives: Ward-Griffith Co., West Holliday Co.,

New York Chicago San Francisco Detrott

Title Stories about Great Fynns Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah Guide me, O Thou great Jehovah Pilgrim through this barren land, I am weak, but Thou art mighty,

Hold me with Thy powerful hand.

The composer, William Williams, was inspired to a dynamic practice of his Christian faith thru an open-air sermon by the famous Welsh preacher, Howell Harris. Williams too became a powerful speaker and singer. His first hymn book appeared in 1744 when he was only 27 years old, and contained this well-loved hymn of faith and crust in the Lord.

> Attend the Church of Your Choice

Church at Ferry Streets

- www. ordi39 2

calist. attired in a ballet costume. There was no uncultured staring by the Russians, but there

Statesman Publishing Company Published every morning, Business office 280 North Church St., Salem, Ore. Telephone 4-6811 Entered at the postoffice at Salem, Ore. as second class matter under act of Congress Maren 3, 1879.

The Statesman is pleased to see the federal courts clipping the wings of the passport division of the Department of State. This has been operated pretty much as a law unto itseif. A passport might be denied an American citizen on the grounds that its issuance was not in the best interest of the United States." That would be "it" as far as the applicant was concerned. The person denied a passport could also be denied a hearing, refused any statement of reasons, and not given a chance to face any who accused him. Lately the courts have been moving in on this arbitrary exercise of power, and a recent ruling of the circuit court of appeals sets definite limits to State's authority. As a matter of fact, the authority reposed in practice in the chief of the passport division, an office long filled by Mrs. Ruth Shipley whom secretaries of state did not undertake to "boss."

In the most recent case, the circuit court said passports should not be denied arbitraripassport. And the court held that the decisjudicial review.

GAW doesn't seem to scare GMC. President Curtice has announced a new expan-

write the truth about my country." The same suspicious hope that has been repeatedly expressed since. Alas,

after fully four days in Russia,

this reporter still does not know

sion program to cost half a billion dollars. Professions of Peace in Russia Heartening

By STEWART ALSOP MOSCOW-"I hope," said the first English - speaking Russian encountered by this reporter, "that you will ewart Alsop the truth about this strange country. Instead of telling the truth about Russia, it may be worth describing a couple of incidents which occurred on my first day in Moscow. The incidents had no importance at all but they stick in the mind like burrs, and they may have, at least, the simple, photographic value first impressions sometimes have.

The first episode was really hardly anything at all. After wandering vaguely around what I wrongly thought to be Red Square, I had gone down a side street, when suddenly it started to rain. I took shelter under a wooden awning. There were already a few Russians under the awning, and very soon we were packed shoulder to shoulder.

Our little crowd was cheerful enough. There was an old Russian peasant woman in a shawl, looking so much like an old Russian peasant woman in a shawl that you had to pinch yourself to believe she was true. There were two or three soldiers, in the dashing Russian uniform, one a very handsome fellow who was holding hands with a dumpy girl with whom he was obviously very much in love. There were several civilians, dressed in dark suits with square shoulders and sailor-wide trousers.

This reporter, in a light tan gabardine suit, could hardly have been more conspicuous if were a good many nudges and side glances at the peculiar animal from the other side of the

Then somebody addressed a polite, incomprehensible question to me. I shook my head and said "Americanski." There were murmurings in the crowd. A man in a dark suit said "peace," and smiled and I said "peace" and smiled too. Then we all smiled and nodded our heads reassuringly at each other and then the rain stopped and we all went our ways. The great Russian scientist Pavlov would no doubt have explained this episode in terms of the conditioned reflex, and certainly it does not encompass the truth about Russia. Nor did the second incident.

That same evening I crashed a reception given by the Section of Heavy Athletics of the Committee of Sport and Physical Culture of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics in honor of a team of American weight lifters. The most conspicuous American weight lifter was a prophet without honor in his own country-Paul Anderson, of Georgia, an amiable Gargantua, whose arms are so enormous that he carries them at a sharp angle from his vast chest.

In the United States, weight lifting is largely concentrated in the area of York, Pa. In the Soviet Union, weight lifting is highly popular, and the competition had drawn standing-roomonly crowds. The Russians had won, but Mr. Anderson had sayed the national face by breaking all known records.

The Section of Heavy Athletics of the Committee of Sport and Physical Culture put on quite a show. There was a singer, who looked as though she could have lifted a few weights herself (she was actually very good, according to a competent judge of such matters) and a sleight-of-hand artist, and a wonderful Uzbekistan peoples dancer and an enthusiastic male vo-

The big-muscled weight lifters listened politely, although one had a feeling that the Am-ericans, at least, might have tre-

But Hardly Conclusive, Reporter Finds ferred Marilyn Monroe. But the really memorable moment was the conversation between the Russians and American weight lifters.

> Except for their muscles, they might have been a different species, the Russians in their square-shouldered suits, the Americans tough, casual and oddly innocent in their sport shirts and openwork shoes. At first, they seemed shy of each other. Then, through random interpreters, they began to talk about weight lifting and suddenly they were all weight lifters together. A small attentive group of weight lifters gravitated to Mr. Anderson, the man who had lifted a greater weight than any weight lifter had ever lifted before. The talk was professional, and a little hard to follow. Asked by a Russian about a well known American lifter, Mr. Anderson remarked sadly that he was still pretty good but that he had lost his speed. When this was translated, there was on every face a hint of that ancient tragedy-the tragedy of the passage of time and the loss of speed it brings to all men. For that moment, it seemed, all the weight lifters together were of the same race of

After the concert, a high official of the Section of Heavy

Athletics recited a somewhat lengthy address, with emphasis on the comradeship of peoples, and then there was a buffet with vodka and caviar. But the golden moment was never recaptured. Walking afterward in Red Square (the right one, this time) it was tempting to believe that peace was assured because everybody under a wooden awning wanted peace or because weight lifters share a common humanity and a com-mon interest in weight lifting. alas, there are also such

(Copyright, 1955, New York Herald Tribune Inc.)

dreary matters as the world balance of power and the frighten-systems. The difference is nowhere more obvious than here.

... The nation is 3000 miles wide! ...

Time Flies FROM STATESMAN FILES 10 Years Ago June 25, 1945

tribute of confirmation as secretary of state without hearings, without debate and without dissent. Byrnes succeeded Edward R. Stettinious.

Queen Liliuokalani, Honolulu, died. He had practiced in Oregoing to the islands.

Dr. J. Christopher O'Day, 78, author and former surgeon to and campus buildings. 25 Years Ago

June 25, 1930 Maurice Chevalier, whose America as he was in France, contract by Paramount Famous

By killing 20 cougars during on or face dissolution. the 12 months ending June 1, Bud Kintzley of Fall Creek Lane county, won $175 in cash offered by the State Game Commission and won for himself the title of "champion cougar hunter of Oregon."

While gratifying progress has been made in the Chamber of Commerce drive for new members, the push was kept going until each team had secured 10 new members. Douglas McKay is chairman of the drive.

40 Years Ago

June 25, 1915

Miss Anna Yantis was elected queen for the Cherry Fair. Miss Yantis lived most of her life in Salem and is the sister of Dave Yantis. Other contestants were Barbara Steiner, Carey Howard and Priscilla Fleming.

Several pioneer friends of Mrs. Marjorie Hendricks of Mc- Lillie Moore, Milwaukie, treasur- S. 25th St.; best dressed (dog) Minnville, went from Salem to er; and Juanita Walter, Prineville, Billy Mathews, 585 Richmond attend her funeral. Mrs. Hendricks was a pioneer of 1842 and her husband was a member of the first Oregon provisional legwhich he crossed the plains is in Portland, property of the Oregon Historical Society. The municipal bandstand for Willson Park is to be completed erected between the Waite #### fountain and the statehouse. Better English

By D. C. Williams 1. What is wrong with this sentence? "Our work is nowhere near done, and it looks like we will get home late."

nunciation of "nucleus"? 3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Halcyon, halelujah, halitosis, halibut. 4. What does the word "requi-

5. What is a word beginning with ins that means "without taste or savor"? Answers 1. Say, "Our work is not near-site" (adjective) mean?

ly finished, and it seems we shall get home late." 2. Pronounce nu-kle-us, first u as in cute, e as in me, accent first syllable. 3. Hallelujah. 4. Required by the nature of things; necessary. "This type of work contains all that is requisite to his happiness." 5. Insipid.

Adding Machines Rented LOWEST RATES KAY TYPEWRITER CO. 223 N. High St. — PHONE 38095 —

money 2. What is the correct proon auto insurance with State Farm Mutual's ......

Phone 42215