Pickled Nuts, Nasturtium Cocktail Those present from their imme- Add Surprises to Season's Menus

By MAXINE BUREN Statesman Woman's Editor

Now is the time for preparing that exotic, that unusual, that gastonomic surprise, pickled walnuts. And you'd better be

The nuts are picked while still in the hull, before the shells have hardened inside. The whole fruit is put into brine and processed, they turn black and after they ripen to the correct degree, they are used in salads or as relishes.

We've prepared them in the past, and intend to repeat this year, for they are very nice to use where something unusual is desired in the way of tart and crunchy appetizer material. This is a pretty big recipe so unless you know you'll like them, cut it down. And from one who knows: wear gloves everytime you touch the walnuts, they really stain! PICKLED WALNUTS

Select about 100 walnuts before the hard shells have developed, prick with a needle, to be sure the shell inside is not woody or hard. Prepare a strong brine, so that a fresh egg will float in it (about 31/2 pounds salt per gallon of water.) Cover walnuts with the brine and leave them for 10 days, changing brine every 3 days and keeping walnuts completely covered. On the tenth day drain the walnuts thoroughly and wipe each dry. Pierce each nut several times with a needle.

Combine 6 tablespoons ginger root, 4 tablespoons black peppercorns, 4 tablespoons whole allspice, 2 tablespoons each cloves and mustard seed, 1 tablespoon grated nutmeg, 2 or 3

Pack walnuts in layers alternately with the mixed spices in cold, sterilized jars. Fill up with cider vinegar (takes about a gallon) that has been boiled for 3 to 4 minutes. Seal and store for 6 weeks before using.

If preferred, you might use a package of mixed pickling spices, which would be approximately the same amount of

And while we are looking at unusual recipes, let's consider this one that came from a reader in Lyons. Try beginning the meal sometime with this.

NASTURTIUM COCKTAIL 1 doz. nasturtiums and stems

1 cup boiling water 1/4 cup lemon juice

1/2 cup sugar Crush blossoms and stems of nasturtiums and add sugar and pour the boiling water over it. Add lemon juice and put in refrigerator for an hour to chill and ripen. Strain over crushed ice and serve. Makes four cocktails. And here is another unusual recipe for making nasturtiums

3 dozen nasturtium leaves 1 egg white, unbeaten Powdered sugar Select small, tender nasturtium leaves; remove the stems, wash and dry the leaves by patting gently with a towel.

Dip each leaf in the egg white, then place on a board sprinkled generously with the powdered sugar. Turn the leaf so that both sides are covered with sugar and place on a cake cooler. Place the rack of leaves in a cold place and allow the leaves to stiffen. Serve as an accompaniment to fruit salad.

Church Rites Unite Couple In Marriage Miss SharRon Maguren and Donald S. Walker exchanged their marriage vows at a 7:30 o'clock ceremony Friday night at the Court Street Christian Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Maguren and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. Stuart Walker.

The Rev. Harold Lyman performed the ceremony. G. Phillip Hurd was the vocalist and Miss Patricia Fagg the organist.

The bridal gown was of lace with a four tiered waltz length skirt and a bolero jacket with long sleeves. A headdress of sequins and seed pearls held in place her fingertip illusion veil. She carried a white Bible marked with a lavender or-

Mrs. Alfred F. Chivers Jr. was the bride's honor attendant and she wore a yellow nylon net waltz gown and carried a bouquet of blue carnations. Linda Lee Hendershot was the flower girl. Attend the Groom Alfred F. Chivers Jr. stood with Mr. Walker as best man and ushers were Robert Gatke and Floyd R. Anderson.

Mrs. Maguren wore a light blue brocade and lace gown with white accessories and white carnation corsage for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother chose a slate blue nylon gown with pink accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

A reception was held in the church parlors. Pouring were Mrs. A. A. Carper and Miss JoAnn Robinson. Cutting the cake were Mrs. Kenneth Maguren and Mrs. Carl Herigstead. Assisting were Miss Patricia Halseth, Miss Joan Traviss and Mrs. E. G. Hakanson. The newlyweds left for California on their honeymoon and for traveling the bride changed to a beige suit with brown accessories. They will return to Salem to make their home and will reside at 2420 Lau-
