Bridal Couple Now at Home in Woodburn

By PEG DOERFLER
WOODBURN — Mr. and Mrs. Floyd H. Paradis, who returned during the week from a short wedding trip to coastal points, are now making their home in Woodburn. Mrs. Paradis, the former Miss Jean Marie Stach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stach, was a bride of Mr. Paradis, son of Mrs. Leona Paradis, Woodburn, on Saturday, June 18, at St. Luke's Catholic Church.

Mrs. E. S. Donnelly played the wedding music and Bernard Smith was soloist.

The bride's white floor-length gown was designed with a fitted yoke of rose-embroidered lace over satin, and Peter Pan collar. Panels of the same rose design accented the front of the skirt. Seed pearls and white sequins formed the tiara which held the fingertip veil of illusion. A cascade bouquet of stephanotis with a purple orchid was the bride's bouquet.

Miss Janice Stach, a sister, was maid of honor and wore dotted Swiss nylon over orchid taffeta. Miss Harriet Weigel and Miss Sharon Melsness, the latter a niece of the bride were bridesmaids. Theresa Paradis, niece of the bridegroom, was also in the wedding party.

Richard Paradis was best man for his brother, and Adam Mohr, uncle of the bride, and Lawrence Paradis, another brother, were ushers.

Mrs. Stach chose a pink afternoon dress for her daughter's wedding and wore a green cymbidium orchid. The grey suit of Mrs. Paradis was also accented by an orchid of yellow.

At the reception in American Legion hall, Miss Dolores Toepfer presided at the punch bowl and Miss Mildred Parton at the coffee urn. Mrs. Adam Mohr served the wedding cake, with Miss Patricia Bundeide and Miss Wilma Parton assisting.

Mrs. Paradis, a graduate of Woodburn High School, was a student at Oregon State College at Corvallis. Mr. Paradis, who spent some time in Germany, was until recently a member of the U. S. armed forces, and is now farming near Woodburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Farley Mogan and daughter Martha were guests Sunday at a birthday party in honor of Mrs. Mogan at the Alameda residence of Mrs. Wesley Lamer.
