Miss Norma Hamilton Reveals Engagement to Dr. Martin

Taking the romantic spotlight this morning is Miss Norma Hamilton, whose engagement to Dr. Raymond G. Martin is being announced. The bride-elect is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Ralph S. Hamilton and the late Mr. Hamilton and her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Martin of Walla Walla, Wash. No date has been set for the wedding.

The news was first told at a beautifully appointed tea for which Mrs. Hamilton was hostess Friday afternoon at her Fairmount Hill residence. Guests called between 3 and 5:30 o'clock.

The bride-elect and her mother received informally by the fireplace. On the large mirror above the mantel was a white ring with a cluster of blue and white flowers at the side to resemble the diamond and the names of the engaged duo, "Norma and Pat".

Presiding at Tea Uras was Mrs. Therese Snyder Crockett, Mrs. William G. Stacy, Mrs. C. Kenneth Bell and Mrs. Karl G. Becke. Inviting guests into the dining room were Mrs. E. A. Erickson and Mrs. Velma Farmer. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. Ronald E. Jones, Mrs. F. W. Poorman, Mrs. Edgar T. Pierce, Mrs. Harold G. Maison, Mrs. Brazier Small, Mrs. Walter Kirk, Miss Ada Bewley and Miss Judy Erickson.

Miss Hamilton, one of the popular members of the young set in the capital, attended the University of Oregon and is now a senior at the University of Oregon Medical School of Nursing. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi and the Salem Spinners.

Dr. Martin is a graduate of Washington State College and the University of Oregon Medical School. He is a member of Sigma Chi and Phi Beta Pi fraternities. He interned at Madigan Army Hospital in Tacoma and took special training in anesthesia at the University of Oregon Medical School. He is now associated with Dr. Charles E. Gray in Salem.

Miss Giese Honored at Shower

Miss Marian Giese, August bride-elect of Clayton Wenger, was honored at a bridal shower Thursday night at the Lawrence Wenger home on Pringle Road. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. John Wenger and Mrs. Lawrence Wenger. A late dessert supper was served by the hostesses following the shower.

Honoring Miss Giese were Mrs. Elizabeth Giese, mother of the bride-to-be, Miss Ruth and Miss Caroline Giese, sisters of the bride-elect, Mrs. Ed Lucas, Mrs. Joseph Boatwright, Mrs. Earl Strode, Mrs. Frederick A. Muller, Mrs. Grover Welby, Mrs. Homer Welby, Mrs. Sarah Welby, Mrs. Laura Hofstetter, Miss Alma Wenger, Miss Glenda Strode and the hostesses.

Sojourners Luncheon

The Sojourners welcomed three new members, Mrs. Ross Miller, Mrs. Virgil Caroland and Mrs. E. R. Blazier, at the group's Thursday dessert luncheon held at the Salem Woman's Club. Bridge was in play following the luncheon hour. Guests attending were Mrs. B. F. Crisler, Mrs. C. R. Elliott, Mrs. Victor Thirkell, Mrs. Joe S. Bonawitz Jr., Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin and Mrs. A. E. Wahle. Mrs. Glenn Roberts was chairman for the day.

Utah, Nevada Contrast to Oregon In Vacation Trip; Rain Welcomes

By MAXINE BUREN
Statesman Women's Editor

The last two days of our trip to Denver and way points were through sagebrush country, which made even more welcome the rich greens of Oregon. And of course, as in most every other locality, we were greeted in our home state by a generous torrent of rain.

Next to the last day, in the early morning, we skirted the now receding Great Salt Lake and headed west. The lake, which once was an important resort for hot city residents, now offers only salty sand and a bleak shore. A few resort spots are located on the city side and send wooden walks out to the water, but to Oregonians who know the delights of a good clean salty ocean, this seemed a second-rate spot to find relaxation.

The salt flats we came across "three hours drive from Salt Lake City" as our Utah brochure said we would. Unprepared for their size, we drove for 10 miles or more across this desert of salt and stepped out to try it for hardness. It's rock salt for sure and reflects the light like snow. The previous night's rain had made pools of crystal clear water at the roadside.

On then into Nevada, the state of one armed bandits and vast wastes that discourage even sagebrush. Yielding to the roadside signs promises of a wonderful Nevada steers at the Stockmen's Hotel in Elko, we dined amid the clanking of pinball machines, and a happy voice of the girl on the loud speaker joyously announcing the jackpots as they generously returned nickles, dimes and quarters to lucky gamblers. Our beef tenderness was tender but might as well have been hamburger, as we couldn't taste the meat for the highly seasoned sauce.

In Reno it's Harold's, a small town with many motels, we found that one must dine always in close proximity to the clanking pinball machines accompanied by very loud jukeboxes in Nevada.

In Reno, it's Harold's. So we went to Harold's, and the fact that it was only about 9 a.m. made little difference to the early morning gamblers there. The lower floor and those two escalators up were of course attracting nowhere the number of gamblers who would be there later in the day and evening, but evidently many like to start their day early. We watched the croupiers rake in the big silver dollars, and the young girls playing blackjack with the (usually) women customers, we heard again the clank of the busy pinball machines of which there must be hundreds in the building.

We saw the signs that informed how many scholarships to University of Nevada are provided by customers of the establishment and read the suggestion that if you cannot afford to gamble, you shouldn't. We used their nice rest room and we walked out as we had seen Harold's, but Harold's was none the better for our visit.

We looked for a prominent would-be divorcee or two around the streets of Reno, but didn't see a single person wearing dark glasses and a look of anonymity.

Rain Welcomes Us Home
We hit Oregon near Klamath Falls and took the quick way east of the mountains, through lovely green pine forests to Bend, where we dined at Pine Tree Tavern, a dining spot that well deserves its good reputation. The food was fine, the place pleasant to be in, and the rain pattering down on the roof gave a familiar welcome.

On then through familiar Santiam Pass, past Detroit Dam and into the very green Willamette Valley, which no place can approach for beauty, neatness and obvious prosperity. And so into our own clean bed the welcome warmth of the electric blanket the familiar patter of rain on the roof and glad that if we must work for another year, it is right in this very spot on earth.

Oglevie-Field Rites Read

The First Christian Church was the scene of the marriage of Miss Carol Lucile Field, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton E. Field, and William Henry Oglevie, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Oglevie, on July 26. The Rev. Wayne Green performed the 7 o'clock nuptials.

For her wedding the bride selected a navy blue dress with pink velvet hat and a deep purple orchid corsage.

Mrs. Donald Bedard was the bride's only attendant and she wore a pink knit suit with corsage of pink carnations. Mr. Bedard stood with Mr. Oglevie as best man.

A reception followed at the home of the bridegroom's parents on North 20th Street. Mrs. Lloyd Johnson presided at the coffee tea. Mrs. Bedard, assisted by Mrs. Paul Specht, cut the cake.

Mr. Oglevie is stationed at Parks Air Force Base, Calif., and his bride will join him in the south later.

James Petrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Petrie, 2394 S. High St., Salem, has received honors in scholarships for the second semester at Lawrence College in Appleton, Wis. To receive honors, a student must maintain a 2.25 average or better on the basis of 3.8. Mr. Petrie will be a junior next fall.

Bean Canning Starts Today At Stayton

STAYTON—Bean processing will start Saturday on a limited scale at the Stayton Canning Company, a spokesman for the firm reported Friday.

Beans have been trickling into the cannery for several days with growers in this area, but canners workers were still busy with canner berries Friday.

The bean pack is not expected to hit full stride for another week or two. By then, approximately 1,000 persons will be employed on two shifts at the cannery.

Meanwhile, hundreds of migrant workers have been streaming into the North Santiam area to pick the beans.

'Old Time' Day Set at Dayton

DAYTON—The 21st annual get-together of the Dayton Old Timers Association will be held Sunday at the City park.

No formal program is planned, but longtime residents and former residents are expected to devote considerable time to discussions of the early history of this pioneer city.

The Chamber of Commerce will provide free coffee for picnics.

Looney Clan Holds Reunion

JEFFERSON — Twenty-eight descendants of Jesse and Ruby Bond Looney attended the annual family reunion in the city hall Sunday.

All officers were re-elected. They are Jesse Looney, Scio, president; Jed Looney, Albany, vice president; Mrs. Mildred Neuman, Salem, secretary; Gilbert Looney, Jefferson, treasurer.

The family voted to hold next year's reunion in the same place in July.

Liberty Picnic Scheduled Aug. 7

LIBERTY—The Liberty Old-Timers picnic will be held on Sunday, Aug. 7, at the Liberty Hall.

The doors will open at 10 a.m. and dinner will be served at 1 p.m. Everyone is to bring his own table service and a basket lunch.

Paul Rasmussen is president; Mrs. Clara Reese, secretary; Mrs. Ernest Free, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Mason Bishop, treasurer.

Elliott Prairie — Work has begun on the Elliott Prairie church ball building project. The hall has been moved to its new location at the south end of the church and is ready for the new foundation to be laid. A new kitchen will be added to the hall, also rest rooms and a fireplace. Members of the congregation are doing the work.

John Fawk, Oak Grove Farmer, Dies

RICKREALL—John Ray Fawk, 83 who farmed in the Oak Grove area most of his life, died Friday at a Salem hospital where he had been a patient for several months.

Fawk was a member of the Oak Grove Methodist Church. Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Frank Farmer of the Oak Grove district, and several nieces and nephews.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at Bollman Mortuary in Dallas. Interment will be at Salt Creek Cemetery.

Dallas MB Church Calls Rev. Wiens

DALLAS — A new pastor, the Rev. David J. Wiens, for the Menonite Brethren church has been chosen to take over duties on Aug. 21.

The Rev. Mr. Wiens comes here from Fairview, Okla., where he has preached for the past four years. He has also spent considerable time in evangelistic work and has been active as dean of men in youth retreats.

The Rev. and Mrs. Wiens are the parents of four children, a daughter Marjorie, 14, and son Gary, 5, living at home.

Dr. Lando Hiebert of Hillsboro, Kan., has served as interim pastor in the Dallas church for the past two months. He will return to Tabor College in Hillsboro, where he is an instructor, after Aug. 15.

Independence Lodge Leases New Quarters

INDEPENDENCE—The new Independence Elks Lodge will lease the Ross Nelson building, formerly occupied by the J. C. Penney Co., for a hall.

With adjacent space, the lodge will have a main floor space of 5,000 square feet. Members voted in favor of the Nelson property Tuesday night when three locations were considered.

The lodge has been meeting in the former Polk Equipment building.

Former Portland 'Mother of Year' Talks at Mt. Angel

MT. ANGEL—Featured speaker at Mt. Angel Women's College Tuesday was Helen Williams Myers, Portland, who was the "Portland Mother of 1949."

Mrs. Myers' subject was the "Needs of Children," a topic with which she is conversant by reason of the fact that she has given a home to over 30 children during the past 20 years.

She and her husband, H. V. Myers, have two children of their own, and an adopted son, and have had as many as 12 other children in their home at one time.

The children come from various types of homes and backgrounds and have provided a rich source of experience for their proxy mother. Her talk was addressed to the students and teachers of the psychology class.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE
Q. When attending a wedding reception, should a guest pause in the reception line to talk with the bride and bridegroom?
A. No; this would be inconsiderate of the other guests behind him in line. He should extend congratulations to the bridegroom, best wishes to the bride, make a cordial remark or two, and then leave them to the other guests.
Q. If a girl is invited for a week-end visit and she is not sure what kind of clothes to take, what should she do?
A. The best thing for her to do is to ask her hostess what clothes will be appropriate.
Q. When no entertainment follows a dinner in your hostess' home, how late should a guest feel privileged to remain?
A. Not later than about eleven o'clock.
