Squad to Close Out 1st Week of Drills

The New York Football Giants go back to work today at McCulloch Stadium after having a part of Friday off to pose for photographers and recover from the bumps and bruises picked up during contact work in midweek.

There will be but one drill today, at 3 p.m. A full scrimmage session will occupy most of the two-hour period.

No serious injuries have thus far appeared on the squad, although Halfbacks Wayne Berry, Ken Stout and Dick Nolan, Guard Russ Carroccio, Ends Ed Stowers, Barney Poole and Bill Hillen and Tackle Chuck Kubers are carrying assorted aches and pains.

Thus far the defense is well ahead of the offense. Among those singled out by Coach Jim Lee Howell in recent drills have been defensive end Jim Duncan and defensive tackle Ray Collins.

Duncan is the four-year veteran of the Giants who missed all of last season because of a knee injury. He is attempting a comeback this season. Collins, a former star with the 49'ers, is not nearly down to playing weight yet, but

Bantam Junior Has Swing in Local Meet

Wee Michael Shinn, smooth-swinging eight-year-old has a cut in Friday's City Junior Golf meet at the Salem Club, while other participants in the tourney look on. Kneeling (l-r) and awaiting their turns are Miles Schlessinger and Ricki Skopil. Standing (l-r) are Vicki Frank, Carol Beck and Mrs. Morris Crothers who kept score for the masculine trio. Michael finished third in his class and Miles was fourth. Carol was third in her class. Fifty-eight kids played in the tournament. (John Ericksen Photo.)

Chiefs Topple Broncos, 11-6

WENATCHEE (AP)—Pitcher Glenn Irsinghaus turned in a stellar relief job Friday night as Wenatchee drubbed Lewiston 11-6 in a Northwest League baseball game with a seven-run outburst in the eighth inning.

Irsinghaus entered the game with one out in the midst of a first inning Lewiston rally and gave up only four hits the rest of the route. To cap off his performance, he drove in the tying run in the big Wenatchee eighth.

Lewiston tallied four times in the first before Irsinghaus applied the cork. One of the hits he gave up was a solo homer by Mack Schmidt in the fifth stanza. For Wenatchee, Bob Duretto boomed a two-run homer in the sixth, his 16th of the season.

In another NWL game, the Spokan Indians chased across enough runs in one inning to quit for the night, but they went on to humble the Yakima Bears, 20-9.

The Indians scored 10 runs in the big fifth inning as 13 men went to the plate. Five singles, a double and home runs by Joe Porter and Dick Hogan accounted for the tallies. Spokane had trailed 9-4 going into their half of that inning.

John Bellone and Nap Gulley rapped two more homers during the game for the Indians.

Sactos Nudge Seattle 3 to 2 in 13 Innings

SEATTLE (AP)—Sacramento defeated Seattle, 3-2, in 13 innings of Pacific Coast League baseball overtime game this week by the Wednesday night.

In the other two PCL games, San Francisco defeated Hollywood, 6-3, collecting 12 hits off Ben Wade, George O'Donnell and Rocky King. The winner was Bill Bradford. George Metkovich belted a two-run homer that led to Oakland's 3-2, ten-inning victory over Los Angeles.

The game was a scoreless pitching duel between Sacramento's Chet Johnson and Seattle's Elmer Singleton for the first five innings, with Seattle breaking its goose eggs in the sixth.

The scoring started when Bob Balena was hit by a pitched ball and kept on going as Vern Stephens whacked a homer over the left field fence.

Sacramento got two first in the seventh — two runs and their first base runners of the game. Five consecutive singles did the double deed. Al Heist, Jerry Streeter and Richie Myers bunched the first three for a run.

Nippy Jones singled to right and Streeter moved to third as Myers was picked off at second on a long throw from right field. Harry Bright then singled to score Streeter and gain his seventh RBI in the current 5-game series.

The final run came as Ed Mierkowitz and Bud Sheely singled and Chet Johnson laid down a bunt that loaded the bases. Al Heist dropped a long fly to center and brought in Mierkowitz and the game.

Three Hold Lead As Tourney Opens

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—Three veterans of the tournament trail — Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn., and Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif. — grabbed the first round lead in the $5,000 Battle Creek Women's Open Golf Tournament Friday.

The trio had 74s, one under women's par for the 6,520 yard Battle Creek Country Club course.

One of the pre-tourney favorites, U. S. Open champion Fay Crocker from Montevideo, wound up four strokes off the pace when she skied to 40 on the front nine.

Juniors Hold Links Tourney

Future Sam Sneads and Babe Zaharias of the Salem area had their inning Friday morning at Salem Golf Club in the annual City Junior Golf Tournament. Fifty-eight boys and girls took part in the meet, the climax for Pro Bunny Mason's six-week course for the kids.

Twenty-two of the juniors, some of them surprisingly strong and accurate off the tees and on the fairways, came away from the tourney with trophies and golf ball prizes.

Winner in the older boys division (13-17 years of age) was Stan Sather. Runnerup was Tim Campbell. Both received trophies. In third place was Chuck Johnson, and fourth was Bill Schlitt Jr.

In the girls division (13-17 years of age) Lynn Herrall was the winner, with Peggy Hoffman second, Roxie Brown third and Barbara Henken fourth.

Gary Schafer won the trophy for boys 10-12 in age, with Rick Nelson second, Mike Lowry third and Mike Whitmore, Don Waller and Mike Kolk tied for fourth. For girls up to 12 Sue Bennett was first, Carrie Gustafson second, Carol Beck third and Ann Howarth fourth.

In the Pee Wee division, boys eight and nine years old, Casey Olinger was the first place winner, Alan Lightner was second, Mike Shinn third and Miles Schlessinger fourth.

All first and second placers won trophies. Third and fourth place winners received golf ball prizes.

Top Drivers Set for Hard Tops Battle Here Tonight

These four hard tops driving specialists will be the gents to watch tonight during the Hollywood Bowl meet. From left to right are Chuck Lightfoot of Walls Walls, "Wild Bill" Hyde of Portland,

Lightfoot-Hyde Challenge Race to Highlight Hard Tops Program at Hollywood Bowl; Large Field Set for Events

Chuck Lightfoot, the pride of eastern Oregon and Washington tracks, and "Wild Bill" Hyde, the 1954 Oregon hard tops driving king who is again leading the parade this season, will duel in their special 10-lap challenge race to night at Hollywood Bowl, the feature of the regular hard tops race program.

And it may be a 3-car sortie if "The Moose", the hard-driving heavyweight from Seattle, is allowed to enter. He wants to and has submitted his request. He's in if Lightfoot and Hyde will okay it. The regular card gets under way with time trials at 7:45 p.m. Two trophy dashes, six heat races and a Class B and A main event are scheduled, with the challenge race slated to go just before the "A" mainer. One of the largest fields of hard tops of the local season, numbering in the neighborhood of 30 altogether, is set for the action. The Lightfoot-Hyde duel was born just a week ago here when

Braves Top Senators 6-2 AL Leaders Win, Keep Race Tight

Workout Calls Hurlers Today

Second Mix of Series Slated for Tonight

By AL LIGHTNER
Statesman Sports Editor
The Salem Senators pitching staff, a harassed group too much of the time lately, will be out galloping during a morning workout today. Which is a very strong indication that Generalissimo Hugh Luby isn't at all satisfied with the way things have been going.

The base on balls, an item with which the Solon flingers have been far too friendly most of the season, reared its ugly self again last night in the Northwest League series opener with the Tri-City Braves at Waters Field, a game that was won by the Tri-City outfit 6-2. Four of the six Braves runs were direct results of free tickets to first base.

Plagued by it
Senator flingers practically walked themselves to the 15-13 setback at Wenatchee Thursday night. They brought the formula home with them.

It was Big Bill Walsh who suffered last night's bitter experience. Two walks and a base hit cost him a run in the second inning, and another pair of walks, sandwiched in between two more bingles, made it 4-0 for the Braves in the third. Walsh left in this inning.

Long John Wortham, his successor, gave up two additional tallies during his relief stint, one of which hit the scoreboard after an opening walk and a balk in the fourth heat.

Running, running and more running is supposed to be the baseball remedy for pitching wildness. Luby aims to find out if it applies to his errant moundsmen, starting at 11 a.m. today.

Vern Kindsfater, the ex-Seattle vet with the sliding fast ball was last night's winner even though he had a stormy time of it. The Salems ruffled the chunky righthander in six of the nine innings they looked at him, but in only two could they score. Kindsfater hurled the first Solon run across himself, with a bases-loaded wild pitch in the fourth inning.

Long Scoreless String
This tally broke quite a goose-egg streak for Kindsfater, as he had hurled a shutout ball for 20 straight frames beforehand.

Singles by Mel Krause, Tommy Agosta and Bill Shields netted Salem's second run in the fifth. The Senators picked up 13 hits off Kindsfater, but only on the one occasion in the fourth inning could they collect one that did some good. They left 13 runners stranded.

Tri-City had 10 bingles off Walsh, Wortham and Marion Cowdell, the latter pitching the ninth inning after Wortham had stepped down for a pinch-hitter.

Walsh Knocked Out
Second-baseman Rich Bergen singled in Tri-City's first run after the two aforementioned passes. Kindsfater started the three-run rally with a double, got to third as both Mgr. Don Pries and Danny Holden walked, and scored on Dwayne Helbig's single to right. So did both Pries and Holden as the ball bounded through Don Frailey. This was the blow that knocked Walsh out and eventually amounted to his fifth defeat of the campaign.

Wortham came on to retire the side in fine style but then walked. Bergen to start the fourth inning, balked him to second and saw him score on Gene Kingler's single after two were out. Mill Martin's single, Kindsfater's sacrifice and Kingler's single netted the final Tri-City run in the sixth.

Many Hits, Few Runs
Salem had three singles, a walk and a wild pitch to go on in the fourth, but got but one run out of it. Then the Solons picked up four singles in the fifth, and still only one run here. Three more hits were registered in the eighth, but nary a run this time, as one was wiped out by a double play before the other two came about.

Bill Dials (11-9) will try it for the Senators in tonight's second game, starting at eight o'clock. His opponent likely will be Dick Green, Braves righthander with a 3-8 record . . . Sunday's doubleheader will start at 2 p.m., ending the series. Eugene comes in for a four-game stand Monday night, which will be "Shrine Night" . . . Catcher Harv Koepf was back in harness last night, after missing almost a week of action because of a torn finger nail on his right hand . . . Fralley was passing out the cigars before the game, as Mgr. Fralley gave birth to 6-pound, 6-ounce Kathy Lynne Fralley early Thursday night in a local hospital.

Diringer, Lesser Gain Western Amateur Final

CHICAGO (AP)—Co-medalist Carol Diringer of Tiffin, Ohio, and Pat Lesser of Seattle, both veterans of this meet without any title success, will meet Saturday for the championship of the Women's Western Amateur Golf Meet.

Miss Diringer beat Mary Janssen of Charlottesville, N. C., 4 and 3. In an all-Washington State semifinal, 21-year-old Miss Lesser crushed Anne Quast, 17, of Everett, 5 and 4. Miss Diringer, who is making her 10th Western Amateur appearance, and Miss Lesser, playing her sixth Western Amateur, will meet over 36 holes for the title at Olympia Fields.

Once in Finals
Miss Diringer, a secretary at Mid Pines, N. C., Golf Club, had her best previous luck in the Western Amateur when she lost to Louise Suggs 9 and 8 in the 1947 final.

Miss Lesser, a senior at Seattle University and a former Curtis Copper, did her best in the 1932 Western Amateur when she lost in the semi-finals to Mary Anne Downey, 1 up.

Miss Lesser shot the best golf of the semi-final round played in over-90 degree weather when she finished one under women's par for the 15 holes needed to conquer Miss Quast.

Game Quickly Wits
Miss Lesser jumped to a 4-hole lead on the first 9 with a 38 to match men's par and on the final 5 holes was over women's par only once when she halved the 10th with a 6.

Miss Quast's game quickly wilted after Miss Lesser sank a 12-footer on the 1st hole and a 25-footer on the 4th for a pair of birdie 4s. Miss Quast wandered into the rough on the 6th and 8th holes to go 4-down at the turn.

The match was decided on the 12th when Miss Lesser knocked her second shot to within three feet of the pin for a 3 while Miss Quast required a bogie for the 18-yard hole.

Turf Classic Set

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—One of the most unusual races is set for Atlantic City race track on Saturday, Sept. 17. It's the $50,000 Foreign Breed Stakes. Three nominations have been received from France for the mile and a furlong test to be run on turf.
