One casualty, but not a serious one, devolped from Saturday's scrimmage. George Kennard, yeteran guard, was hit hard and had the wind knocked from him and it was feared for a while that he might have some broken ribs. Dr. Francis Sweeny, the team physician, reported that there were no breaks and that the guard would probably be alright in a of the injury.

Big Crowd Present Several thousand spectators turned out Saturday for the preview for next weekend's scrimmage. It was announced that next Saturday's workout would not be an intra-squad game as had been earlier planned but instead would be similar to yesterday's session. Despite the injury to Kennard, the scrimmage was not nearly as costly as one at this time a year ago when veteran halfback Emler Tunnell broke his leg in a intra squad game before some 5000 fans who got their rttsrfie rsv tLl4 who got their first treat to pro-fessional football action.

Doubleheader Slated For This Afternoon

By AL LIGHTNER Statesman Sports Editor Looking quite similar to the K Street Kangaroos much of last night's Northwest League baseball performance at Waters Field, the resident Senators changed course, scored six runs in the eighth inning and nipped the unbelieving Tri-City Braves in the second game of their series by an 8-7

The Solons were down 7-2 as they went to bat in the eighth, and a sizeable portion of the 1,292 crowd had made the mistake of giving up and going home. Few could blame them even at that, for the Senators looked mighty feeble on more than one occasion during the early going.

A Rip-snorter Then came the roaring rally, one that has had few equals in the old ball yard.

Don Frailey both started it and put the finishing touches to it. He was first up and lofted a long and deep fly to center. Gene Klingler got to the ball after a long romp but couldn't hold it, Frailey winding up on second base.

Big Jack Steinagel as next up parked another long fly into leftcenter off Don Hopp, but there was little chance to get this one. It escaped the premises for Jack's ninth homer of the campaign. Then when Harv Koepf singled sharply to left, Mgr. Don Pries of the last pitching outing for the Sa-Braves figured that was sufficient for Hopp. He left with a 7-4 score on his side, and a ninth victory within expectedly easy grasp.

Stan Arthur took over and got Pinch-hitter Floyd Robinson on a fly to left. But Mel Krause then singled to left, Jack Dunn dumped a single into right and Tommy Agosta drilled a shot to center to score both Koepf and Krause.
