

Electric Co-op Rejects Offer On Franchise

The Salem Electric franchise voted last month by Salem City Council was turned down Tuesday by the cooperative electric service.

This was about as predicted by Salem Electric officials who had informed the city they wouldn't accept any terms more restrictive to their operations than previous franchises. The franchise as finally approved by the Council couldn't become effective unless Salem Electric agreed to it within 30 days.

Principal objection of the cooperative to the offered franchise was a provision that new service on the east side of the Willamette River could be extended only to areas adjacent to present Salem Electric service.

New service also would require petition by affected property owners, but this has been in effect and was not a target of Salem Electric criticism.

When West Salem became part of Salem, the cooperative was protected with a new 20-year franchise from West Salem Council. Most of its operation at that time was in West Salem. A city initiative measure in 1948 was approved by the voters to enfranchise Salem Electric in Salem proper, but since that time city officials have contended the provisions are too vague.

A still-later franchise drawn up by the City Council has been generally followed although it was not formally agreed to by Salem Electric, according to its officials.

Dr. O. A. Olson, president of the Salem Electric board, wrote in a letter to Mayor Robert F. White Tuesday, that "we shall continue under our two present unexpired franchises as we have in past years."

Olson's letter blamed "the complications of last-minute amendments" made by the Council to the franchise. He expressed the wish to have Salem Electric operate in harmony with the city.

Ivan W. Crum Succumbs, Funeral Set

Ivan W. Crum, 45, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lindbeck of Salem, died unexpectedly early Tuesday morning at his home in Roseburg.

Born at Medford in 1910, Crum had been employed by the U.S. forest service for almost 20 years. He attended high school at Medford and was graduated from the Oregon State College School of Forestry in 1938.

Crum for the past three years had been at Roseburg as supervisor of scaling for four federal forests. Prior to that he had forest service assignments at West Fir, Oak Ridge and McKenzie Bridge.

He was married to Kathleen Lindbeck in Salem on Aug. 28, 1937, and she survives him.

Other survivors include three sons, James Ray Crum, Gary Lee Crum and Michael B. Crum, all of Roseburg; and his mother, Mrs. Mary Crum, Medford.

Funeral services will be held Thursday, 2 p.m., at the Virgil T. Golden Chapel, with Rev. Brooks Moore officiating.

Prep Leaders Set Workshop

Eleven student leaders from high schools in Marion County will go to Eugene Sunday for the opening of a week's Student Workshop on the University of Oregon campus.

Among about 125 high schools to be represented are several from Marion County. They are sending these workshop delegates:

Kathleen Deeney, South Salem High; Rex Herron, Gates; Judy Flicker and Arlene Schmitz, Mt. Angel Academy; Donna Welter and Judy Gescher, St. Boniface High of Stayton; James Tiger, Stayton Union High; Wendell McLin, North Marion Union High; Rosella Pelland, St. Paul Union High; Robert Kauf, Silverton Union High; Robert Smith, Cascade Union High.

The workshop, a new development in Oregon, is sponsored by the university, the Oregon Association of Student Councils, the Oregon Association of Secondary School Principals and the State Department of Education.

Auto Dealer Ruling Given By Thornton

Automobile dealers who contract to waive or make instalment payments for or on behalf of car purchasers who become unemployed are engaged in selling insurance, Attorney Y. Thornton ruled here Tuesday.

Insurance Commissioner Robert B. Taylor requested the opinion following a complaint that some automobile dealers are advertising unemployment benefits to all persons who buy cars in instalment contracts. The deals are not underwritten by any accredited insurance company and are backed solely by the dealer, Thornton said.

Thornton ruled that whether or not the contract is in writing and whether or not a charge is knowingly paid by the purchaser does not affect the validity of the agreement.

Such agreements are contracts substantially amounting to insurance, Thornton said, and automobile dealers offering to waive or make such payments for the purchaser if he becomes unemployed are required to comply with the general insurance law.

Five-Cent Charge For Rock Decided

A five-cent royalty charge per yard of rock taken from a Marion County pit near Aumsville was decided upon Tuesday by the county court.

About 30,000 yards of rock will be taken from the pit in the near future, much of it to be used on the Turner-Aumsville road now being improved. Both the county and state are taking gravel from the pit.

Accident Victim Awarded $1,000

A Marion County Circuit Court jury awarded $1,000 Tuesday to Elizabeth J. Johnson, plaintiff in a damage suit which resulted from a January traffic accident.

The case was heard before Circuit Judge Val D. Sloper.

The woman had requested $15,000 for alleged injuries when her car and one driven by Patricia Hughes collided.

Polio Clinics Slated Today

One of two anti-polio clinics scheduled for today will be held at Salem's Richmond School, the Marion County health department reminded parents Tuesday. Clinics begin at 9:30 a.m.

The second clinic is scheduled for Mill City where youngsters from Detroit and Gates will also receive inoculations. Richmond will also act as the center for Sunnyside School children.

Doctors inoculated 345 children Tuesday at clinics in Hubbard and at Cummings school in Keizer area. The health department said 256 received second shots at Cummings, 51 of which were boosters for children who were inoculated last year. Eighty-eight received vaccinations at Hubbard. Thirteen of the total were boosters, the department said.

Refugee Relief Support Asked

Strong support of the refugee relief program was asked Tuesday by Joseph D. Wilson, Salem, chairman of the Oregon committee on refugee relief.

Wilson, who returned last week from a conference in Washington, D. C., to step up the program, said:

"We are asking for wider support of the refugee program so that the United States can do its part in settling post-war problems. More citizens sponsors who will assure jobs for these refugees are needed at once if we are to meet the quotas set up by congress for the end of 1956."

Wm. A. Sipprell, Former Salem Man Dies in East

He was a lifetime member of Pacific Lodge 50, AF & AM, of Salem and had been active in Masonic affairs.
