Tunics Are Tops for Fall....

FINISHED PRODUCT... Black-and-gold plaid corduroy tunic over black corduroy sheath, new for fall.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Firstest with the mostest is a fine old American tradition, and women who sew have made it their own special motto.

Thanks to pattern companies which adapt the latest trends into tissue paper terms, women who stitch their own often can beat their store-bought sisters in the fashion race.

The tunic is fall's biggest fashion news, adaptable to all sorts of fabrics and designs. A bold and bright suggestion is a tunic in gold and black corduroy over a versatile sheath dress in black corduroy.

Local sewing center experts give you a few tips on stitching this sort of outfit, with suggestions on adapting the tunic line to your own figure requirements.

An easy printed pattern solves such problems as directional stitching, grain lines and types of stitching and gives you a marked alteration line for pre-cutting, adjustments. In an ensemble of this sort, perfect fit is essential, for the waistline must be exactly at your natural waistline to make the most of the flaring tunic skirt, and the sleeves must be shorter than wrist length for good proportion.

Best for Tall Girl
The tunic silhouette is best for a tall girl. However, even if you are short, the tunic can be becoming if you remember your rules of proportion. For the tall or average figure, the tunic line is exactly half-way between the shoulder and the floor.

Modern Etiquette By ROBERTA LEE

Q. Would it be all right for a hostess to cancel an evening of bridge if she finds out an hour or so beforehand that one of her guests cannot come?

A. No, this would be inconsiderate of the other guests who have already made arrangements to attend. She should try her best to find a substitute, and if she fails in this, suggest a game of hearts, poker, canasta, or some other entertainment.

Q. Would it be all right to write a note of condolence to the parents of a friend who has died, even when one does not know the parents?

A. This most certainly would be a thoughtful act on your part.

Q. Even if the wedding is to be a very small, informal one, would it be all right for the bride to wear a white bridal veil?

A. Yes, provided it is not her second marriage.

Q. What is the meaning of "cafe au lait," and how is it pronounced?

A. "Coffee with hot milk," pronounced "Kaff-ay-oh-lay."
